

C.C. Rates High As Junior College

By JEAN STRATHDEE

Charlotte College was rated high as a junior college by four out of five students interviewed recently.

In hopes of getting the student's viewpoint of ways to improve Charlotte College, 15 questions were asked scholars of various curriculum. The class hours of those polled range from 8:30 a. m. to 10 p. m.

After serious and careful thought the majority ruled that, for the amount of money supporting the school, Charlotte College is well operated.

There were complaints, of course, with the greatest number directed toward the faculty, fellow students, and the limited curriculum.

Most of the teachers were considered fair in their grading system and doing a good job of instructing their students.

An analysis of the poll gave English teachers top listing as instructors. Almost everyone agreed that they were extremely good—in fact—the best.

Students of Charlotte College need more school spirit, was the unanimous verdict of the four students. The students should show more interest in the school and its activities, and, as a group, the C. C. family should know one another better and enjoy a friendlier relationship.

Although most day students apply themselves to their studies, some were considered less mature than night students. Instead of being serious about their studies, some go to C. C. for the social life, or just to be able to say they go to college.

The night students were believed to be more serious. Distinction between the two groups was blamed on age and employment. The G. I. out-rates all groups for seriousness.

Day and night students want more subjects offered.

Although students took time to offer constructive criticism, none want Miss Bonnie Cone's job as director of Charlotte College. They only know enough about her job to know that they do not want the responsibilities which go with it. The students feel that she is doing a fine job.

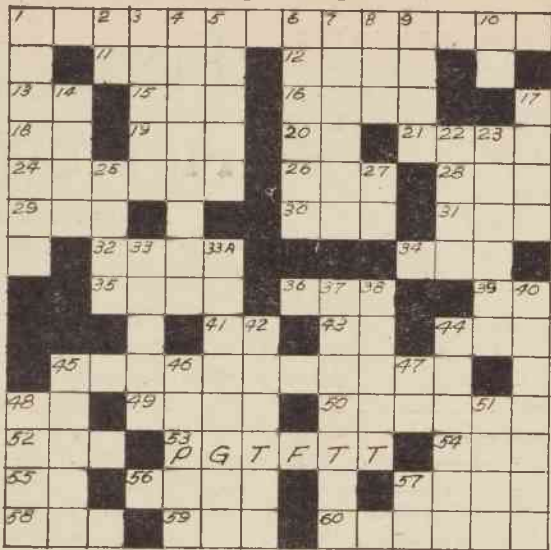

Reasons for attending Charlotte College did not vary much. All wanted to further their education in order to better themselves and society. They picked Charlotte College because it is known throughout the state as a good school, because it is less expensive than most, and because part time employment opportunities are very good in this area.

All were enthusiastic about the idea of Charlotte College becoming a four-year university. They think it should be in effect now. "A university has great possibilities in Charlotte. It would give many people a chance to continue their education and would open the way for continued expansion of a much needed link in the state's educational system."

When asked what he would remember most about Charlotte College four years from now, one student said, "Everything. I don't want to forget a moment. I will always be proud to say that I received my A. A. degree from Charlotte College."

Crossword Puzzle

Campus Quips

By JERE THOMAS

ACROSS

1. Scene of THE ball
11. You may need it to get thru CC
12. Over again
13. Redactor (abbr)
15. Old Wives Inc. (abbr)
16. SI SI editor
18. Not you
19. Standing room too (abbr)
20. Nickle (symbol)
21. Annual
24. Couch for sipping tea
26. Trinitrotoluene
28. Put in the clink
29. Poem
30. Let's leave (in a hurry)
31. Different
32. Geometrists & electricians speak of these
34. 'Natural Arcadian'
35. _____enas (Patron of Horace & Vergil)
36. Ordinal number suffix
39. Type measure
41. Home team (abbr)
43. Not she
44. What 19 across should be
45. Eng. 3 gentleman
48. Part of 'to be'
49. Unusual
50. Betel palms
52. Honorary title
53. Pogo's gone too far this time (abbr)
54. Narrow islet
55. The thing
56. Man's uncles

57. Famous queen

58. Caught in the act!

59. I am, but you _____

60. Click beetle

DOWN

1. The 'Jungaleers' home
2. Et _____
3. Students's perch
4. Mathematical lady
5. Queen of Valentine Dance
6. Contaminates
7. The outcome
8. Her Excellency's Order (abbr)
9. CC's stars
10. Half an em
14. Act
17. Locate
22. Idol
23. Future vp
25. CC's Owls
27. Be or not be
33. Detecting device
- 33A. Lady in volumes
37. Stage house
38. Muscular organ (Anat)
40. Ogre
42. Dr. Heck's class might bisect this
44. r over x
45. PRINCIPALLY mathematical
46. Phi Theta _____
47. Regarding
48. Continent
51. Masculine elder (Fr)
57. Nobody at CC qualifies for this fraternity (abbr)

Alumni Review

By DICK BUCKEY

Gailford Earl Furr recently visited the Charlotte College office. Majoring in liberal arts, Mr. Furr graduated from Charlotte College with an A. A. degree in 1956.

Furr acquired an interest in political science, was active in the C. C. U. N., while at Charlotte College, and served as its district representative.

Furr continued his education at the University of Georgia, where he majored in political science. He received his A. B. degree from that institution on March 14th of this year.

Daniel Webster McCaskill, a Bill Mitchel award winner, graduated from Charlotte College with an A. A. degree in 1956.

McCaskill's major field at CC was in liberal arts, with special emphasis on history in preparation for the ministry.

Mr. McCaskill continued his education at Davidson College, where his major was in history. He graduated from Davidson with an A. B. degree in 1959.

He is now studying at the General Theological Seminary in New York City.

Demetrios F. Nixon transferred from Charlotte College to the University of North Carolina in 1951.

Nixon majored in political science at the University and received his A. B. degree in 1954, and a Master's in 1958.

While at Charlotte College, Nixon served as vice president of the Executive Council. At Chapel Hill, he was a member of the National

Sam Dunlap

Most Valuable Player Chosen

By PAUL A. SHINN

Sam Dunlap, the Owls' 5' 9" guard, has been selected unanimously by the basketball team as the Most Valuable Player of the 1959-60 season.

"He was the main cog of the team all year," Coach Gene Todd said of the captain of this year's team. "I certainly would have elected him as most valuable player."

Sam started all games for the Owls during the season, and there were only two games during the entire campaign in which he was relieved.

Sam's high point totals for the year were 25 and 24 points, and he averaged around 10 points a game during the whole season.

While being the sparkplug of the team, Sam held a part time job and also managed to maintain good grades.

Sam is a 24 year old bachelor, and a service veteran who hails from Laurens, South Carolina. He played basketball at Laurensburg High School and also in the service.

Not only is Sam an outstanding basketball performer, but he also enjoys tennis. "He probably plays tennis even better than he does basketball," opined Coach Todd.

Sam hasn't decided exactly where he will go to school after he finished at Charlotte College. He will probably major in some field of teaching and physical education.

Next year, though, Sam will be back in an Owls uniform doing what comes naturally for the '60-'61 basketball squad.

Political Science Honor Society.

Nixon is now a member of the faculty of Georgia Military College in Milledgeville, Georgia.

New Activities Suggested

By MARTHA MOORE

A survey of student opinion resulted in suggestions for improving or adding extra-curricular activities at Charlotte College. Here are some of the suggestions:

Jere Thomas:

"Why doesn't Charlotte College have a dance combo?"

With as much musical talent as there is here, we see no reason why a really good combo shouldn't be formed.

Several persons who would like to play in a combo have expressed interest in joining such a group. Those who can lend only their ears and their dancing feet are also very much in favor of it.

Then what is the holdup?

We need an organizer. Someone must come forward and "band a band." This person need not necessarily have musical talent. The only requirement is the ability to call people together and to count to three.

There are limitless possibilities for a combo here. We see one starting out by playing for coffee hours, then special assemblies, then the Spring Dance, then local club dates, and then . . .

Les Brown took a "Sentimental Journey" from Duke. Why shouldn't you follow the same trail?

So where are you, Mr. Organizer and musicians?

Step forward!

Why doesn't Charlotte College have a physical education class?

Since the majority of our students work and attend classes too, they have very little time for recreation. A physical training program is needed to balance the curriculum.

As it is no longer necessary to share the gym with Central High School, perhaps we could use it two days a week for classes. The other three days we could have lessons in golf, tennis, bowling, swimming horse-back riding . . or a combination.

Perhaps arrangements could also be made to use park or public facilities for these activities.

The summer session would be a good time to initiate such a program. The weather is favorable and the days longer, making outside activities appropriate.

Many students are interested in this proposal.

Jean Strathdee:

Why can't Charlotte College have a barn theatre?

We have the talent and the barn. All we need is a Dramatics Club.

With volunteer help, a school sponsored club could cast a play every quarter in the Charlotte College barn. The proceeds would go for the upkeep of the club.

A Dramatics Club would bring out student talent that may otherwise stay hidden, and it would help those who have trouble with public speaking.

The Charlotte Collegian

THE CHARLOTTE COLLEGIAN is the official student newspaper publication of Charlotte College. THE COLLEGIAN is financed by the Student Government Association, supplemented by the sale of advertising.

Editor	Russell E. Chappell
Executive Editor	Richard Buckey
Social Editor	Ann Hilton
Sports Editor	Paul A. Shinn
News Editor	Jerry Merritt
Assistant News Editor	Mildred J. Lloyd
Copy Editor	Jerry Rich
Art Editor	Wade Ramsey
Assistant Copy Editor	Edward J. Silber
Business Manager	Maxwell Eugene Petty
Circulation Manager	Martha L. Moore
Staff Photographer	Bill Barley
Staff Writers	Gail Deanna Merrell, Dr. Harbans Singh, James L. Parnell, Jere M. Thomas, Jr., Jean Grier Strathdee, Mary A. Herrera, Gwendolyn Esteridge, Gary E. Idol
Professional Advisor	DeWitt H. Scott
Faculty Advisor	Miss L. Evelyn Baker

Printed By Standard Printing Co., Charlotte, N. C.