Charlotte College To Request More Aid From General Assembly

Charlotte College has raised its sights on the new building phase by asking the North Carolina General Assembly for even more funds than were planned for.

Originally Charlotte College asked the North Carolina General Assembly to appropriate funds for the building of a 25,000 seat auditorium, a fine arts building, a 3500-seat gymnasium, and the completion of the Liberal Arts quadrangle. The price of this expansion was set at six million dollars.

However, in view of increased enrollment at Charlotte College, (5,000 students by 1970) appropriations have been requested for the addition of 50,000 sq. ft. of class room space, for the 1st unit of a central air conditioning building, for expansion of the gymnasium to 10-12,000 seats, and for $200,000 to buy extra land around the outskirts of the college. No prices has been set on these appropriations.

The General Assembly meets in January of 1965 and will probably discuss the Charlotte College appropriations sometime in May, 1965.

Reynolds Wrap-Up

By JIM REYNOLDS

The sports year at C. C. is all but over, the tennis team has only one game remaining and on the greens the golf team wound up it's season Tuesday May 12. Now all that remains is the wait until next year look in the eyes of the team members and the awards that are given to all members of the team that participated in at least one-half of the total games played.

Bobby Burns, Gerry Bliss, Jay Currin, Barry Grice, Russ Jones, David McArthur, And Art Meyer received gold medallions on small statues, for their play in tennis this year. In golf this year Butch Connell, Jimmy Helms, Bill O'Herron, Rush Shull, Skip Stanley, and Scotty Trotter also received awards.

Congratulations to these boys, and here's hoping that we can have all of them back next year.

ACROSS THE NETS

For a first-year team with a student coach and a lot of guts, the tennis team should be proud of their 2-3 conference record. In the DIAC Conference Tournament the team placed fourth. In division one Russel Jones lost 6-0, 6-0; Barry Grice lost 6-1, 6-3; in division two, Jay Currin won 7-5, 6-3; in the division three, Art Meyer lost 6-1, 6-1; in division four, in the fifth division singles Bobby Burns dropped his match 6-2, 6-1; and in the final division Dave McArthur lost 6-0, 6-1. In the doubles pretty much the same story was repeated with the 49'ers dropping all matches.

On the Greens

Pretty much the same story covers the golf team as did the tennis team although in a close match with Methodist, a conference rival, C. C. dropped a close one that could well have gone the other way. The first few players seemed to have the match sewed up for th 49'rs but a strong finish by the Methodist pulled the greens an even over all season from under them at the last minute. A win that match would have given them a 3 win 2 lost record in the conference. As it wound up the team was 2-3 in conference and 3-5 over all.

In tournament play the team placed fifth in the event. St. Andrews won the 36-hole event by placing three of their four players posted scores of; Rush Shull 162, Jimmy Helms, 169, Butch Connell a 174 and Scotty Trotter a 182 ever the 36 holes.

NOTES

In this little section of my column I become personel as I give my observations of the sports on campus. I am grateful to the editor for this privilege because it gives me a chance to say thanks to the many people who make my favorite pastime "sports", possible at Charlotte College. I would like to now say thanks to the members of the basketball team, the golf team, the bowling team and the tennis team. I only wish more people would take an interest in advancing the school's name like each person who played a sport did. Most people spent their time tearing other members of the student body down. Even the Student Council hasn't advanced the name of the school as much as these boys and girls have.

I have one last request to make at this time. Would anyone having any sports news of the past year or next year, please leave it at the C. U. information desk for Reynolds Wrap up or for newspaper sports.

What in the WORLD! by TED

Our "Quaking" Earth

Tragic as last month's Alaska earthquake was, its toll of dead stands miraculously low on the scale of history's great quakes.

Since 1900, temblors have killed an average of over 15,000 persons a year, says Dr. E. M. Fournier d'Albe, a specialist in seismology and geophysics for the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO).

China has been the hardest hit, he says in a report on quake devastation. History's highest toll was recorded on Jan. 24, 1556, when 830,000 persons died in a north China temblor.

Staggering death counts in the present century include 180,000 fatalities in a 1920 northwest China quake, 143,000 in Tokyo, Japan three years later and 75,000 at Messina, Italy, in 1908.

Over 300,000 quakes occur yearly, but relatively few are strong enough to cause casualties or damage. UNESCO is conducting worldwide studies aimed at devising forecasting methods and designing shock-proof buildings. Experts note that most quake deaths result from landslides and falling buildings — not from the earth shocks themselves.
