

College Union Book Store Will Buy Used Text Books From Students

The College Union Book Store has initiated a new program as a service to students. According to Larry Lynn, manager, the book store will buy used text books whether they were used on this campus or another one.

"It's for all types of text books whether they were used here or not," explained Larry. "The only requirement is that they be listed in Follette's shopping guide."

Follette Book Company in Chicago has agreed to buy the books. "They buy all surplus books that we buy from the students. The price is set by Follette. We don't have a thing to do with the price."

"We are not trying to compete with the Circle K (book exchange), but just trying to help the students," explained Larry.

The book store is also selling many best sellers in good condition that were given to the library in the recent book drive. Proceeds from these sales will go to the library for the purchase of new books. Prices for such books as Boon Island and The Parasites are not over a dollar and most are only 50 cents.

In regard to the buying of used textbooks, Larry Lynn said he hoped to establish the program permanently to run throughout the whole semester and not just at semester ends.

Charlotte College Has New Engineer's Club

Interested in engineering. Then join the newly organized Charlotte College Engineers Club.

The club met for the second time last Wednesday and elected officers. Doug Miller was elected president and Pat Kerns vice president with approximately 25 students attending the meeting. Other new officers are Wally Overton, secretary, and Ron Sides, treasurer.

President Doug Miller explained that though the club was new, it would follow the constitution of the old one. Dr. Burton Wayne is the new faculty advisor.

Pat Kerns, the club's new vice-president, said that anyone interested in joining should come to today's meeting or contact Doug Miller.

Bomb Threat Makes January 7 Eventful Day For Business Office

By BETTYE TRAPPS

Wednesday was a routine day for most of the people on campus. Students nodded as usual in classes; the pool room regulars were found behind the eight-ball; and the usual bridge players set through their daily twenty straight hands. Meanwhile, at 12:05 back in the Business Office, receptionist Betty Adkins answered a call on the switchboard with her usual greeting. "Good Afternoon, Charlotte College".

"I thought you'd like to know, there's a bomb under one of your buildings," replied the female sounding voice on the other end of the line.

On hearing this threat, Mrs. Adkins, tried to hold the person on the line until the call could be switched to the business office. Unfortunately, the caller hung up after talking only a few seconds. After contacting Mr. Yarborough, Mrs. Adkins immediately called the county police. Six men answered the call and checked the buildings where they found no bomb. Meanwhile, back on the campus again, George Freeman stretched after six hands of bridge and no one but the people in the Business Office will remember January 7 as an eventful day.

Honor Code Questionnaire

The following are the questions on a questionnaire concerning an honor code which was passed out at the class meetings Wednesday, Jan. 4. If you were unable to attend your class meeting or did not get a questionnaire you may get one at the College Union desk. The purpose of the questionnaire is to give the honor committee suggestions in constructing an honor code. What specific areas do you feel an honor code should cover?

Should the accused be permitted to face his accuser?

Should the student court judge academic honor violations?

Should there be a court of higher appeal?

Should the accused have the right of counsel?
