

Talent Show, Dance Top May Day Week

A dance, an art exhibit, a poetry reading, a band concert, and a talent show were the highlights of the Charlotte College's first May Day Festival, held on the campus May 1-5.

Things got started Saturday night, May 1, in the gaily decorated Library Auditorium at the May Day dance. The Knights of Music were imported from Shelby for the affair.

Next on the week's agenda was a public tour of the campus and an art exhibit of Miss Maud Gatewood's handicraft in the library on Sunday, May 2.

Monday morning, May 3, North Carolina poet and actor Edward Field visited the campus and gave a reading of his poetry. His volume, "Stand Up, Friend, With Me," won for him the 1962 Lamont Poetry Award.

Mr. Field is North Carolina Poetry Circuit's spring "circuit rider."

This is a program which each year brings young poets to colleges and universities in the state of North Carolina. This is Charlotte College's first year as a participating college.

Monday evening, the concert band of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill performed for Charlotte College in the Library Auditorium.

The program, directed by Major John F. Yesuliat, included Creston's Celebration Overture, Jager's Symphony for Band, Stratford Suite by Cabe and selection from West Side Story, "Flower Drum Song," "Mary Poppins" and "The Sound of Music."

Wednesday night, May 5, brought on the Talent Show, College students picked, sang, danced, strummed, and laughed their way through an evening of student talent (?).

The talent show brought to an end the May Day Festivities which College Union chairman Gerald Broome decided was very successful.

But Once A Year. An Annual Comes WHEN?

About this time of year, everyone begins to ask, "When do we get our annuals this spring." The answer is not at all this spring. Sharron Hacker, SI SI editor announced last Friday that the yearbook would arrive in mid-August.

The annual staff and its advisor Dr. Blackman has decided to cover the graduation of the first and only four year class of Charlotte College. Since Charlotte College will become the University of North Carolina at Charlotte July 1 this year's senior class will be a rather special group. The staff thought they deserve the honor of being covered for their entire year.

Sharron assures that this year's edition will definitely be different. The spring as well as the fall activities will be covered, making it a complete chronicle.

Past annuals, which were distributed near the end of the spring semester, by necessity omitted many spring activities.

Sharron also added that many colleges and universities follow the regular practice of covering the entire year in the yearbook. Air Force Academy is a notable member of this group.

Speaking on the subject of whether this would become a tradition at Charlotte, Sharron said, "I hope that this practice will continue because it will produce in effect, a genuine yearbook."

New Journal In Library

Opportunities for teachers overseas and the new look of campus living are two of several articles featured in the first issue of AMERICAN EDUCATION, a new journal in the Charlotte College Library issued by the Office of Education, U. S. Department of Health, Education, & Welfare.

A successor to SCHOOL LIFE and HIGHER EDUCATION, the new journal is intended for laymen as well as professional educators. Published ten times each year, of AMERICAN EDUCATION is, in the view of its editor Theodora Carlson, "a symbol of the idea that education takes place in everyone at every age."

Other articles in the first issue of the journal are entitled: "Ten Years of Deliberate Speed," "Talk, Talk, Talk to Deaf Children," and "Musical Treasure Hunt." Contributors to the issue include Dr. Vittoria Giannini, director of the North Carolina School of the Arts in Winston-Salem; Mrs. Spencer Tracy, wife of the actor; and Robert C. Weaver, director of U. S. Housing and Home Finance Agency.

This journal is one of many new periodical titles which have recently been received in the library. All new journals are available either in the serials department or in the second floor of the library or in the cataloging area on the first floor.

At present the library subscribes to approximately 800 periodicals; this number will be increased to 1200 by the end of the 1965-66 academic year.

Last SGA Meeting Dull, Uneventful

By SAM SCOTT
Collegian Staff Writer

Gus Psomadakis called to order his last meeting as Speaker of the Legislature and Vice-President of the Student Government Association Monday, April 26, at the College Union.

The meeting was unusually uneventful in contrast with the bustling activity of a normal meeting. No major legislation was brought up.

Two constitutions, Alpha Phi Omega's and the University Party's, were granted temporary charters with a permanent charter given to the Project of the Americas Club. After the discussion on the constitutions was terminated, the remainder of the meeting was spent with the type of activities which are normal and fitting at the last meeting of a changing organization.

April 26 sank into the official record and the 1964-1965 Student Legislature slipped quietly into the past.

Everyone (including Mr. Draper), was enthralled by Poet Edward Field.

College Chorus Presents Program

The Charlotte College Chorus, the Cleveland County Choral Society, and members of the Western North Carolina Choral Society, under the direction of Harvey L. Woodruff, presented Handel's Messiah, Sunday, May 2, at Myers Park Presbyterian Church.

Jo Ellen Carter provided organ music. Marie Teele of Shelby and Anita Bultman of Charlotte provided harpsichord music. Robert Maddox played the trumpet.

Soloists included Miriam Booth, soprano, Edwin Easter, tenor, Beverley McGee, contralto, and Joseph People, base.

The program was presented in conjunction with the College Union sponsored May Day Festival.

New Building Contracts Awarded

Stock up on mud tires, students. You're going to need them. We're getting ready to build again.

Contracts totaling $1,850,997 were awarded Tuesday, April 21, to F. N. Thompson, Inc., Embree-Reed, Inc., P. C. Godfrey, Inc., Austin Electric Co., and Southern Elevator Co. for the construction of two new buildings and an addition to the College Union building.

F. N. Thompson, Inc., is the general contractor; Embree-Reed, Inc., will install plumbing; P. C. Godfrey, Inc., will provide heating and air conditioning; Austin Electric Co., will take care of electrical work; and Southern Elevator Co. will install transportation from one floor to another.

The three projects are expected to be completed by this time next year.

The 30,000 square foot administration building will have offices for the chancellor, deans, and other administrators. Registration offices, testing rooms, and other business offices will be located here, also.

The engineering building will be the largest building on campus. It will have 75,000 square feet of floor space. Engineering labs, faculty offices, a computer center, math classrooms, and a statistical laboratory will be contained in it.

The College Union building, which now has 24,000 square feet of floor space, will add 36,000. A large dining room, a smaller dining room for meetings, and a 500-seat multi-purpose auditorium will be housed as well as space for student activities.

You can make $10. and up for three hours of your time morning, afternoon or evening. Write P. O. Box 9393, Charlotte, N. C. for an interview. Adv.

Hodges, Thomas, Smith To Lead Classes

Eighty-eight rising sophomores went to the polls and elected Bill Hodges and Sam Scott to the positions of president and vice-president respectively. Sophomores elected as representatives were Tim Britton, Donna Corbett, Jim Cunnning, Larry Gardner, and Wilma Happy.

President elect Mike Thomas and vice president Susan Osborne will lead the '65-'66 junior class. Mot Boney, Phyllis Henline, Salley Hilbert, and Ross Povey will serve as the representatives. One junior seat in the legislature was left vacant and will be filled at a later date.

Kearney Smith was elected without contest, as president of the first senior class of the University of North Carolina at Charlotte.

David Baucom won the vice-presidency by a tall vote margin over his opponent Robert England. All five of the candidates who filed for senior representatives were elected.

They are Lewis Barber, Nancy Barnes, Gerald Broome, George Elam, and Andrea Whisnant.

Five student judges who will form the judiciary branch of the SGA were also elected. These judges will hear and act on infractions of university and honor code laws. Court judges for the next school term are Dick Whitfield, Marilyn Bowers, Skip Stanley, Mary Case, and Gayle Gordon.

From a total vote of 216, the revised honor code passed by a count of 170 for and 46 against.

Y R Cers Plan W-S Convention

Its' convention time again for the Young Republicans of Charlotte College. This will be the second such convention this year for the group and will be held in Winston-Salem at the Robert E. Lee Hotel.

The Charlotte College Young Republican Club delegates are slated to play an important role in the workings of the Convention. Mr. Buddy Davis, local club president, is on the Credentials Committee; Sam Scott is on the State Membership Committee; and Rick Dancy is co-chairman of the Platform Committee of which George Morton is a member.

Mr. Richard Nixon will deliver the keynote address on Saturday night, May 8. The Convention officially begins Friday, May 7, but most of the business will be conducted on Saturday. Two testimonial banquets will be given and the Convention will end with a late evening combo party featuring the Vandels.
