

HOW IS THIS?

There are many, many Democrats in the South who did not want Mr. Cleveland nominated. There are others that did not want Mr. Hill nominated. The objection to the nomination of Cleveland was not from the lack of confidence in his honor, integrity and ability, but rather to the fact that many of the masses preferred a candidate from a State other than New York—especially, you understand. But the great Democracy, by its representatives assembled in Chicago, declared the popular will for Mr. Cleveland.

The die is cast: It will be Cleveland or it will be Harrison—there is no earthly chance for the success of any other candidate. While the delegates from this State did not support Mr. Cleveland in the Convention, it was done purely to represent as far as possible the sentiment of the State.

But North Carolina, now that Mr. Cleveland, pure, honest and able is the standard bearer, can and will acquiesce in the will of the majority.

And in doing this the citizens will best serve themselves and the country.

If for no other reason, Grover Cleveland deserves the hearty and enthusiastic support of all Southern sons, in that he's the first President of the people—the first to recognize Southern honor, Southern ability and Southern rights.

His administration was clean, like his own political life. He was the staunch friend of the South in his radical opposition to the two systems that have robbed the South and made the ills that hurt us most—it was he, who sounded with power the cry for tariff reform, and he did it in face of the fact that many declared it would defeat him—it was he who vetoed more pension bills than all put together before; bills pensioning men many of whom never smelt powder in the decade between 1860 and 1870. In Grover Cleveland, the South has a genuine and honest friend. Nowhere in his public utterances can be found a slander or vilification he uttered against the South—this can not be said of other candidates.

Will you take Cleveland, the first to recognize us; or will you help the election of Harrison, the champion of high tariff, of pensions and the believer in the Force Bill?

HE IS FOR BIDWELL.

The Standard had a chat with Commissioner Jesse H. Earnhardt, on Monday. When asked about his position at the mass meeting, he explained: "I have been studying political matters, parties and platforms; and I have studied the men on these platforms. I have even prayed over the subject. I endorse the Omaha platform and while I vote for principle I also have a regard for the kind of man I vote for. I can not therefore vote for Mr. Weaver, but I have decided to vote for Bidwell the Prohibitionist."

Mr. Earnhardt is an honest, conscientious man. He means to do right, and he has a right to vote for whom he pleases, just as much as any of us. But Mr. Earnhardt probably has not studied the question far enough. He casts his vote for a purpose—it is to have its proportionate effect. It is not only to satisfy his own desires in the matter, but it's to help others in deciding who shall govern this country.

We take it for granted that Mr. Earnhardt nor anyone else do not suppose for a moment that Mr. Bidwell can be elected. He knows, too, that either Cleveland or Harrison, owing to actual facts, will be elected. And now from his own standpoint Mr. Earnhardt should choose between the two. He, like other men, are needed to decide the contest. Having affiliated with the Democratic party heretofore he casts a vote for Harrison, even though he votes for Mr. Bidwell.

The Standard believes that Mr. Earnhardt would far prefer Mr. Cleveland to Mr. Harrison, and will, when the time comes, cast his vote in no way encouraging to Mr. Harrison.

WE APPRECIATE IT.

Correspondent, "H. T. B.," of Clear Creek, writes a communication which the Standard appreciates no little.

It is sensible, kind, generous and partakes of the spirit of the Golden Rule. It is an appeal for the according of individual rights, without impugning motives. In addition to this, it makes kind references to this writer—were it not for the appearance of vanity on our part the Standard would publish it. The royal friend, though he differs politically with us, has our sincerest thanks and assurances of continued friendship.

REGARDING MR. WHITE.

At an adjourned meeting of Cabarrus County Alliance, held at Concord, N. C., July 28, 1892, the following resolutions were adopted: WHEREAS, There appeared in the Daily Standard of July 22nd, ult., and republished in the Weekly Standard, July 28th, an editorial reflecting on the character of James B. White, and attention called to the fact that he had been reelected President of the County Alliance, and

WHEREAS, We consider the said editorial malicious and false, and

WHEREAS, We do not consider the said article as worthy of notice, except that it is published in one of the county papers that pretends to be friendly to our cause, therefore,

BE IT RESOLVED, That we, the Cabarrus County Alliance, in convention assembled, do hereby renew our confidence in the christian character of Bro. White.

RESOLVED, That the county papers be requested to publish these resolutions. JNO. A. SIMS, Sec'y, Cabarrus County Alliance.

[The Editor of the Standard, on account of sickness, was off of duty and out of town, at the time of the publication of the article complained of. He was not the author of the article, which is considered of such a character as to call for the above resolutions. But, as editor of this paper, we are responsible indirectly if not directly for the publication of the article.]

We have reasons to believe that the gentleman, who indicted the article, meant no reflection on the Alliance, nor upon the christian character of Mr. White.

Personally, the editor regrets that a meaning was attributed to the article, which certainly was not intended. While the Standard cannot agree with Mr. White in his present political inclinations, it must not be adjudged unfriendly and enmities to the Alliance, nor will it deny him (Mr. White) the right to act politically as his conscience dictates.

We have always considered Mr. White a moral gentleman, and have seen no reasons to change that opinion.

STANDARDISMS.

A Massachusetts man is making 3,000 campaign roosters a day. We trust he will see the signs of the times and put drooping feathers on the Harrison cocks.—Winston Sentinel.

The Winston Sentinel is as neat and clean as a peeled onion, under the new management—Mr. Burbanks seems to handle the throttle well.

And now they have Alice Mitchell inane. That's a good way to conceal a devil-ess.

Ex-Gov. St. John, of Kansas, stumbled upon a good thing: "Under this system capital takes $16 net income from a ton of steel, while the gross receipts of labor is but $1.57, and in face of these facts the laborer's wages is reduced twenty-five per cent."

Greensboro Workman: "The importance of having a good almanac is clearly seen in the dating of the Concord Standard of last Saturday. Somebody has lost a day." Saturday was a stormy day, and had we gotten in some other month or in some other place, there would be no room for surprise."

Col. Peter DeGraff, Winston's Jesse James, moves in and about the city at will. He carries a shooting iron in his hip pocket and that makes the authorities afraid. The Sentinel has immortalized DeGraff so far as this mundane sphere is concerned.

A WOMAN IN WHITE.

Who Makes Gostly Signals to the Stalled Engineer. Waycross, Ga., July 31.—A little over a year ago an engineer on the old Brunswick and Western road was frightened by an apparition of a woman in white that frequently appeared at a lonely station at night and made ghostly signals to the engineer.

Recently another woman in white has appeared, and on several occasions has attempted to waver the train down. One engineer reports that the woman was seen standing on the track, just in front of the engine, which seemed to pass over her; and she was seen running towards the woods as the train dashed by.

Evidently some crazy woman must be at large in that vicinity.

Progress in the Far West.

A San Leandro paper mentions as a long needed public improvement that has been made that a hotel-keeper there has provided his bar-room with a new deck of cards.

CHUNKS OF WINDOW.

A Staunch Friend Writes Us a Letter From Clear Creek.

WHAT IS BEST.

Not to speak what I think under all circumstances.

2nd. Not to believe all I hear, especially bad reports.

3rd. Not to meddle with my neighbor's business.

4th. Not to look upon a man as dishonest because he differs from me religiously or politically.

5th. Not to allow the jargon of politicians and political newspapers to destroy my determination to read the Bible and other good books.

6th. Not to get excited, even in a Presidential campaign.

7th. Not to look upon big street parades with floating banners, brass horns and yelling cranks as a sure sign they will "get there."

8th. Not to entertain the thought or affect to believe that a person is bad in any sense when I have every reason to believe him to be a good deserving citizen.

9th. Not to suffer my respect for a neighbor to diminish because he turns prohibition and wants to tell the boys what a bad thing whisky is.

10th. Not to go around telling what a rascal a fellow is, simply because he wants office.

11th. Not to call every fellow a fop that can afford to dress better than I can.

12th. Not to join in the wholesale abuse of preachers as a class, all because somebody says they are hypocrites; we ought accord to every one the privilege of "proving himself," the preachers not excepted.

13th. Not to look upon the world as a gloomy affair when I just know there is joy and gladness enough in it for all who will reach out for it.

14th. Not to take much stock in the young man that thinks he is smarter than his father; there are some boys that perchance could out-general "the old man" in some feats and in a general way exhibit a wonderful capacity of mind, but for them to ignore the wise teachings of a kind father is dangerous.

15th. Not to complain of my lot too much when I'm doing fairly well, might never do any better.

16th. Not to throw mud on a fellow when he is got enough on him already.

17th. Not to dispise a pious character, although he or she be ever so ignorant and void of much of the so-called refinement of the present day.

18th. Not to stop the plough to go to every political meeting.

19th. Not to use the title "Prof." when speaking of or addressing every persimmon-headed school teacher.

20th. Not to worry myself too much because my children are noisy and bad, they are all that way.

21th. To acquire the habit of vilifying a public servant simply because I heard some other man of party pronounce him unworthy. The accused, in this case, is often better than the accuser. Hundreds of good men have to suffer unjust and malicious abuse, while undeserving men get to themselves unmerited and short lived praise. This is preeminently the case with men in a political sphere.

22th. Not to be too hasty to get my fingers into the boiling, seething political caldron, but to take conservative ground for a foundation and let cool and candid reason be the rudder that shall steer my bark through the bewildering freaks of the political world. H. T. B.

EARLY SOUTHERN STATES.

In Which Elections Came Off Before November. In Alabama the election for Governor and other State officers came off Monday.

Arkansas will elect Governor and State officers September 5th, and six representatives in Congress, November 8th.

Florida will elect Governor, State officers and a Legislature to choose a United States Senator, vice Pasco, Democrat, October 4th, and two Representatives in Congress, November 8th.

Georgia will elect Governor and State officers October 5th, and eleven Representatives in Congress, November 8th.

Sudden Death of a Winston Manufacturer. Winston, July 29.—W. S. Hay, aged about 35, junior member of the tobacco manufacturing firm of Bitts & Hay, died suddenly this afternoon.

The deceased took a pain in his head and summoned a physician who gave him a small dose of morphine. It is thought the patient increased the dose which caused his death.

For Political Union.

Ottawa, Aug. 2.—Minister Chapslain's organ comes out flat-footed for political union between Canada and the United States.

ORGAN ECHOES.

Mrs. W. R. Brown has gone to Virginia to spend the summer at her old home. Rev. Brown has also been granted a vacation, but he is so much interested in Sunday schools, he says he can't leave till after the Township Sunday School convention, which meets at Gold Hill, Aug. 13.

C. L. Brown has just returned from an extended trip through the mountains. He says he passed through five counties, and that the People's party sentiment is strong.

Wm. Beaver has wine that he made in 1870.

Mr. Lee Owens, who has been quite ill with typhoid fever for six weeks, at her brother-in-law's, C. E. Post, at her brother-in-law's, is convalescent.

Geo. A. Bost, last week, threshed two and one fourth bushels of wheat from one pound sown, or 135 from one sown.

Caleb Cruse threshed 280 bushels oats. He says he must get old "Sour Kraut" a set of new harness, as the old ones will be too small and weak.

David Beavers' crop of wheat made an average of over 25 bushels to one sown.

Mrs. F. W. Bost and daughter, Pearl, of China Grove, are visiting at L. W. Bost's.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Klutz are visiting Mrs. S. Colly, sister of Mrs. Klutz, who has been very low with fever.

Rev. J. J. Excell has moved into the parsonage, at Lower Stone Church. We congratulate that charge on securing the services of such an able man.

The school at Lower Stone church is progressing finely, with Mr. C. L. Miller in the chair. Over fifty students have been enrolled.

BLACK WHITE.

Ex-Gov. Jarvis and Hon. Elias Carr, Democratic candidate for Governor, will address the citizens of Concord on Friday 12th. Everybody urged to be present.

Report that Kansas Democrats Will Aid the Republicans.

Topinka Dispatch. From letters received by the Republican State central committee and from other sources it is claimed that fully 20,000 Democrats will not only refuse to vote the People's party State ticket, but will support the Republican ticket on the ground that it would materially retard the progress of the State to install the People's party in the State officers.

The kicking Democrats, however, will vote for the People's electors, with the hope that Kansas may be taken out of the Republican column. As the leading Republicans figure, with 20,000 Democrats supporting the Republican ticket, it will be elected by 25,000 majority.

To insure the electoral vote for Harrison the State Republican ticket will have to be elected by 25,000 majority. The fight in the seven congressional districts will be very close and hotly contested. Republicans claim that they will be able to elect five, and possibly seven members.

An Insurance Woman.

One of the big insurance companies of New York pays the manager of its woman's bureau for the Pacific coast and Hawaiian Island $10,000 Ohio—Mrs. Juana A. Noel.

An Innate Love.

"How do you account for woman's love of ribbons, Miss Petre?" he asked.

"I think it may due to the fact that no woman who has ribbons need be without a bow."

The Matter With the Lawn.

"Your gardener is a hustler," said Bink's visitor. He doesn't let any grass grow under his feet."

"No, hang him!" said Binks. "That's what's the matter with my lawn."

Week and Explosion.

Springfield, Ohio, Aug. 2.—A train of a hundred and thirty loaded freight cars ran off the track last night and into a naphtha tank, which exploded and took fire, burning thirty-five men, four of them fatally.

Alabama's Election.

Montgomery, Ala., August 1.—In today's election everything from constable to governor is to be elected. The contest has been heated for months past between the Third Party, under the lead of Kolb and the regular democratic ticket represented by Jones, the present governor.

Bulletins from many parts of the State up to 12 o'clock, shows heavy voting and a large majority for the regular democrats. The negroes in large numbers have voted open Jones' tickets. The vote will be the largest ever cast in the State. Jones' majority in the State will be not less than 30,000, and today will witness the greatest, straightest democratic victory in Alabama's history.

DIDN'T BLOW THE SIGNAL.

And Jas. Deaton Has a Narrow Escape. At the railroad crossing on Beatles Ford road, the cuts are deep and an approaching train can not be seen or heard unless a signal is blown.

Monday evening as the heavy cloud was rapidly coming up, Mr. Deaton was driving at a brisk rate to get home before the rain. Just as he got within five feet of the railroad the lady with him said, I believe there's a train, and Deaton gave his horse such a sudden jerk that he fell on his hind legs, breaking the shafts. In a moment, the train dashed by at a fast speed.

Had the lady not accidentally heard the rumbling noise of the train, she, Mr. Deaton and the team would have been caught on the track. It is worst kind of negligence the engineers have in not blowing the signal at such places.

The Standard learns that several other parties have had narrow escapes at this very place recently.

It strikes us that it would be an easy matter to pull the whistle cord at that place.

Cool Off With a Conundrum.

When do you make a seat an insect? When you sit on a cricket.

When is a balloon like good bread? When it rises.

When is a rope like a school? When it is tant (taught).

To what city should dirty children be sent? To Bath.

When is a fur cape like a watch chain? When it is lynx (links).

What holly is not used at Christmas? Hollyhocks.

What poet might be called a pedestrian insect? Joaquin Miller (walkin' miller).

What moves swiftly over the ground, and yet always leaves tracks behind? A railway train.

If you should see a poisonous serpent crawling in a wall, what city might you name? Aspinwall (asp in wall).

His Horse Named "Damn It."

What is the name of your horse, Teddy?

"My horse? His name's Damn It, sir."

"What! Who ever heard of such a name for a horse. I fear you are a wicked little boy."

Well, that's the name of papa's horse anyway."

"How do you make that out?"

"Cause he took me out riding Sunday and said lots and lots of times, 'Hit up, Damn It!'"

A Clear Case.

Superintendent of Lunatic Asylum—That, ladies is a summer hotel clerk recently thrown out of employment.

The ladies—Why was he brought here?

Superintendent—He got to thinking he was no better than the guests of the hotel.

Rapid Acquaintance.

Mudge—Judge Billigus is a remarkably easy man to get acquainted with don't you think?

Yabsley—I never noticed it.

Mudge—He is, though. I hadn't known him for over an hour before I borrowed a dollar of him, and inside of the next hour we got so well acquainted that he refused to lend me another one.

Who Led With The Democrats.

Colonel T. M. Argo, late Republican Solicitor of this district, attended and participated in the Democratic primary of the first ward last night, and cast a vote for the ticket naming delegates to the county Democratic convention.

SENATOR VENT'S PLAN.

The able Missouri Senator, Mr. Vest, has a plan of his own that has merit, for dealing with the present high tariff tax of the Republican oppressors of the people. He proposes to deal with the tax and silver connection. His plan is to offer to Germany, France and England a reduction of 25 per cent on certain products of those countries now so heavily taxed by the Republican juggernaut. But this is to be done only on the condition that the countries named shall agree to a silver standard—free coinage—upon a ratio of fifteen and one-half or 16 ounces of silver to one ounce of gold. This might settle the much disturbing silver question, and for the good of all countries, and settle too in part the highway robbery perpetrated under the great, grinding tariff of the Republican party. The Philadelphia Record regards Mr. Vest's plan with favor, says it is ingenious, and adds:

"If the Republicans be sincere in their platform declaration in favor of duties on imports equal to the difference between wages abroad and at home, and no more, they cannot seriously object to the reductions in duties proposed by Senator Vest. After making these reductions the duties still remaining would cover twice over the difference between wages at home and abroad."
