but on reflections can't see how one of them can vote the Republican ticket nor how a Republican can vote their ticket. Men may change but principles never. I had no office, want none, am a private citizen and have a right by the constitution to pursue my own individual happiness and my business is not that of the public. I want no personal crimination nor my course further assailed. I don't pose as a man of courage, but I propose to defend myself personally and politically against the crowd of Republicans that will cause Lincoln and Grant to turn over in their graves and weep for the desertion of principles purchased by blood and treasure. I believe in my heart there are very few Republicans in this county who do not share my opinions. Republicans stand firm. Times' Slicker Marriage.

On last evening, Wednesday, Oct. 31st, at half past six o'clock an immense audience assembled at St. James Evangelical Lutheran church to witness the marriage of Mr. J Ed Clive to Miss Sallie O Striker, both well known and highly esteemed residents of the city of Concord. When the hour arrived the organ pealed forth the sweet strains of Mendelsshons Wedding March, and the fairy like forms of two little girls, Fay Brown and Louise Means preceded the bridal party down the aisle. Next came twelve young men with stately tread, who acted as ushers and then the groom appeared with the bride leaning on his arm. According to the beautiful and impressive service of the Lutheran church, the Rev. M G G Spherer officiating, they were made man and wif. After the ceremony the happy couple took the train for Asheville, followed by the best wishes of their numerous friends whence they will return to Concord where they expect to make their future home. The church was beautifully and tastefully decorated with evergreens and potal flowers. The bride was the recipient of many handsome and costly presents.

their anarchy doctrine as they did at the beginning of the present campaign. It seems they don't mind speaking to and teaching their few followers, but when they want to be heard by the Democrats, their meeting don't materialize.

Some one of the Populists had an appointment, we were informed, at Cannonville Saturday night, but owing to the fact that so many of our citizens were present, the speaker failed to put in his appearance.

Shortly after dark on Monday night about 150 Democrats left town for Cannonville, where, it was rumored, the great mogul, Ambrose Hileman, was to deliver a speech. He failed to show up, as did all the other speakers of the Populist party.

Jake Newell Did Not Lecture.

I see that scurrilous and disgraceful sheet called the Vestibule says of me, this week:

"Jake Newell lectured at Harrisburg last week. What Lems were there have now turned Pops."

I wish to say that the publication is a lie, a whole lie, and a lie which the blatant editor of the Vestibule and hired representative of that hybrid and principleless combination known as fusion knew to be a lie when he penned it. To the best of my knowledge I was not at Harrisburg last week, and never lectured there in my life. I may have passed through the place, but was not there on any political errand. The greed for office and the smallness of his moral stamina have borne the editor of the Vestibule to a point where he would rather tell a lie on time than tell the truth for cash. The demagogic principles and bold, unvarnished falsehoods which he publishes in his paper with the hope of carrying into effect his unholy purposes will be openly rebuked by the decency of the community; and the methods which he has employed and is now employing in the accomplishment of the same end stink of political decay and moral death.

From now until election day I can be found at my home in No. 10 township, Cabarrus county, North Carolina, where Mr. Egg Keistler can call on me, if he so desires. And after election day I won't be to hunt. Respectfully, JAKE NEWELL. Flows, N. C., Oct. 26, 1894.

separate the sexes, &c. Now sir, when I bring these things before the populists, they are as dumb as beasts, some of them have told me that a negro could not live in a respectable house, meaning not fit, of course, that he would tare it down, I say, cherg him for it, and they brings up another excuse, I might mention several things that are vital interest to the negro that our populist friends can't swallow. Now sir, one of your most popular pops told me the other day, that it would be a blessing to the populist party if some of its members would leave it. I will just say here too if you will repudiate that man, Amos Malchor that tryd to reply to me in the Vestibule the 18, inst., and all such dead niggers to society, they would get another blessing, I shall not reply to them all, but I just say here that I can furnish him or any of his kind, from one to a hundred pounds of literature that will give all the information they need in reference to the National, State, or county government. I also have been a subscriber of the following leading newspapers from five to fifteen years: New York Tribune, Charlott Observer, Indianapolis Freeman, Winston Republican, Africo-American Presbyterian, and others equally as good, and while I am able to read eight and ten difrent new papers a week. I shall not go to the Pops for information as to the county government.

J. A. ALEXANDER, Harrisburg, N. C.

P. S. I wish to make an apology for the mistake in my article the 11 inst. I meant to say that the Republican party the true blues advocate a national election law, instead of the Australian ballot system.

That Fatal Hill.

On the hill just beyond the depot, where so many horses become frightened, came near being a fatal accident by a runaway this (Tuesday) morning. Mrs. F L Misenheimer and daughter, who were coming to town, driving a spirited animal to a buggy, were thrown out, without serious damage, however. Neither of the ladies were hurt, but it was a very narrow escape. This hill, indeed, is a fatal one.

sentence. Yet he says that some one he knows not who, told him before he got there, that I had said so. I care not to what political party he belongs as to the correction of my statement. No names were called and I say now while I have repeatedly heard the assertion made as to laboring men, etc., that I never have heard any one's name mentioned. Mr. Odell, who was present, said that my statement was rather an insinuation, but that he had never interferred and called a friend to witness. Respectfully, JOHN A. SIMS.

[The above communication was for Tuesday's issue, but was crowded out by other matters. The Standard will not do Mr. Sims an injustice.

The item in question was written by our local reporter, who is very careful to secure reliable facts. He got his information from another source which he believed perfectly reliable. Neither the editor nor the local reporter heard the joint discussion.

Mr. Sims is exaggerating his imagination when he declares that the statement reported is "willfully and deliberately false." The boy that reported it reported it as he understood it and now insists on.

But be all this as it may, Mr. Sims talked in such a way about an absurd matter (one that he admits he has no faith in) that Mr. Odell, being present, felt called upon to make a statement to prevent any false impressions from going out.

Then what does Mr. Sims want to go around repeating rumors and reports, the authors of which are unknown, which he himself declares he does not believe?

If he does not believe in the rumors why does he take occasion to repeat such? But Mr. Sims is so magnanimous that, after repeating the rumor, he tells them if they are fearful of losing their jobs not to vote for him. Mr. Sims is a clever politician and spoke of this rumor merely to reap what benefit there is in it. He wants all the votes he can get; and he takes pains to tell them that "the day has not come, etc., etc." The people of Forest Hill are convinced of their duty to their country. These little rumors founded, unfounded, fathered and fatherless, will not stir them up so as to lose sight of their duty.

The Standard gives publication to the card of Mr. Sims for justice sake; and it takes some itself that the public may know that this paper publih only what it believes true, and should a mistake be made a correction then follows.

The public will very readily see that Mr. Sims spoke of a foolish rumor with no other purpose than to gain some political strength. Why else speak of it? He does not believe it.

for all this is that we buy the goods under value. We go to the market late after the rush is over. We find manufacturers trying to clean out all of this seasons goods and working on spring goods. 10 buyers who will close big lots, the price don't stand in the way. Of course if we wanted to pick up a dozen or a half dozen of a kind, we would have to pay something like regular prices, but when we sweep the floor of big lots running up into the hundreds, we make the price.

Twenty dozen boys knee pants made of the finest all wool, cassimere and worsted. They are sold at other places for $1.50 to $2.00. We make one price on them and that is less than half. We give you four choice for 75 - 20 dozen boys knee pants at 25, 25 and 50 cents.

200 Men's suits, and every one a grand bargain to the buyer. A heavy winter suit for $2.00. Not a KNIT or a SLOUCH but a well made winter suit. 100 mens black square cut cheviot suits $3.00, you never saw as good a one for less than 5.00. Fact, come and see. 100 best Ray Melton suits only $4.00. You never bought them for less than 6.00.

A magnificent line of Melton suits for 3.50. You never saw these for less than 5.00.

500 odd coats from 75c to $2.00. Every one of them PLUMS. 350 odd vests from 25c to 1.00. The price we name would not pay for the trimming and making of them.

Men's shirts 10 cents. Men's heavy drill drawers 20c. A cartload of trunks at prices 25 per cent less than you can get them anywhere.

MEN'S FINE CLOTHING

We are strictly in it. We give you the correct fit in fabric, pattern, style, and finish. We have the latest styles. The London, the specials, the Regent's, all the best. It is an open secret that we show lots of ready made suits that are superior in every way to goods made to order, and we save to the buyer from 5.00 to 15.00 a suit. We can fit any shape, slim, regular and stout. We can make any suit, from grave to gay, from quiet to severe.

When we say that we give you a good all wool suit of nice smooth Kersay, you won't believe it until you come and see it. Then when we tell you about our heavy all wool customers at 5.00 you will be surprised, and when you see it you will be astonished. The only trouble about that suit is that it will wear too long.

And so we go right along through the line at 7.50 you get what you have been accustomed to pay 10.00 and 12.50 for. And our line of 10.00 suits is made up almost entirely of suits you have bargained to seeing at 15.00. Now the

for all this is that we buy the goods under value. We go to the market late after the rush is over. We find manufacturers trying to clean out all of this seasons goods and working on spring goods. 10 buyers who will close big lots, the price don't stand in the way.
