

A good and noble North Carolinian has passed away.

The news of the sudden death of Dr. R. L. Abernethy, president of Rutherford College, flashed over the State Thanksgiving day—carrying sadness to those, (and they are many) who have been blessed by his having lived and to those who admire a really self-made man that has devoted his entire life unselfishly and untiringly to the betterment of the people.

Such a life deserves more than a passing notice.

Through him and by his efforts and sacrifices thousands have been enabled to secure an education. Scarcely a county does not contain one or more of those whom, without money, Dr. Abernethy has caught by the hand and pulled up. To them his death must be peculiarly sad. To the state it is a loss.

During the latter years he has been hounded by debt, incurred by rebuilding his college which was burnt down. But fail was not him nor his nature; and had life been spared him, he would have surmounted this difficulty.

For inferior men, in ability and virtue, have been lauded by newspapers and other agencies. Dr. Abernethy's name will live through hundreds of lives he has blessed.

IT IS THANKSGIVING.

Thursday November, 29, is Thanksgiving Day. It is not intended to be more so than any other day, but it is so arranged and intended that some extra Thanksgiving be made end made in a public way.

It is a day in which all engage, in festivities, recreation and fun. The poor man, the rich man, the pious man and the openly wicked man, all, observe the day as he thinks best for Thanksgiving.

Some observe it in hunting; some in big dinners; some in going to church; some in idleness; some in real thankfulness; some in drunkenness; and some in getting killed.

Just where the idea originated—this general Thanksgiving day—is not agreed upon. Some say it originated way back yonder in England.

One thing we do know. This particular Thanksgiving Day is announced by one of America's greatest men, but one of the most hated in the annals of this country.

We all, who live, have reasons to be thankful. There have been bountiful crops. Prices are low, and politics split up—but let us be thankful that we are here yet to tell the story and that all's well that ends well.

THREE NEW SENATORS.

The coming of three new Republican Senators is being heralded far and near, because they represent, in concrete form, the ideas and purposes and record of their party. They are, Sewall, of New Jersey, who is the pliant tool and seryant of corporation generally, and of the Pennsylvania railroad in particular; Elkins, of West Virginia, who made his money out in New Mexico in disreputable ways and was driven out of the territory, and added to Delaware, who has acquired a fortune by the dishonest manipulation of gas stocks, and who boasts that he has bought a sufficient number of members of the Delaware legislature to insure his election, and who has within the last week been sued for divorce by his wife on statutory grounds.

Truly this is a sweet scented array of statesmen.—Raleigh News.

DEATH OF HON. J. E. BROWN.

One of the most distinguished of Georgians vanished from earthly view yesterday when Hon. Joseph E. Brown passed within the veil. He had a public career of unusual duration, and every honor which it was possible for his people to bestow upon him had been his. He was a native of South Carolina, but when a child went with his parents to Georgia. He was a lawyer by profession, and was elected to the State Senate in 1849, this being his first public service. In 1852 he was a presidential elector; in 1855 was elected judge of the Superior Court; in 1857 he was elected Governor and re-elected in 1860.

Mr. Brown don't have to make fun of me. I won't have it from the bumpkin.—Local Editor of the Raleigh News.

Annual meeting North Carolina Christian Association, Raleigh, N. C. Tickets on sale October 3, 4, 5 and 6th. Limit December 10th, '94. For round trip, $5 70.

Gordon, was elected for the unexpired term and then for the full term ending March 4th, 1891. At that time he retired from the Senate and from public life and has since been calmly awaiting the final summons.

Governor Brown was a very able man and a very rich one. His long chin beard, clean upper face and bald head gave him a peculiar appearance and he was known in Washington as "the Mormon elder." He was a member of the Baptist church and high in its councils.—Charlotte Observer.

LITTLE SNAPS.

The bears had turkey and the bulls had crow on Thanksgiving, says the Constitution.

About this time four years ago the Standard was having the delightful task of reporting the Annual Conference. The nice things Bishop Keener said still ring in our ears. That alone repaid us.

A great many people had no dinner on Thanksgiving at all. Six or a dozen tramped through Concord. They don't deserve any.

LaGrange Graphic: It was a sad day for Democracy when it found a man "bigger than his party." Mr. Cleveland ought to try and maintain the "parity" between the two.

There are nearly 2,000 women practicing medicine in the United States. Don't you know they have much to talk about.

The State Treasurer reports to the Pension Board that the amount realized this year from the pension tax is $101,000. The increase in the pension tax rate is one half of 1 per cent. The increase in first-class pensions is $4; second class, $3; third class, $2; fourth class, $1. The tax last year realized $95,000. There are ten more pensioners than there were last year.

Our neighbor, Harrisburg, is putting on city airs—a robbery, if you please.

A Colloquy With Mr. Pearson. Two days ago, I met Mr. Richmond Pearson in company with Mr. Vance Walzer and Mr. John Nichols. I happened to ask Mr. Pearson was he not trying to troll Mr. Walzer off from the speakership in favor of Mr. Lusk.

Mr. Pearson impudently and audaciously replied that he, Mr. Walzer, had had better manners than to ask him that question.

I informed him that I had lost my manners since I had been in the newspaper business, when those manners came in the way of news, but that my lack of manners in the newspaper profession had sometimes rescued brainless men from obscurity.

Mr. Pearson replied that he owed "whole lots" to the newspaper profession, whereupon I told him that he should not take my remark as personal to him as he could not be put in the category of brainless men.

But I should not have said this for Richmond Pearson has made an ass of himself since he has been here and can always be depended upon to do so.

He went about the streets yesterday chuckling over the alleged stupidity of a News and Observer reporter who reported him as writing to Secretary Carlisle instead of to Calderon, his brother-in-law of darling society type, who fought out the Brockington case in connection with Jerry Wilson who got most of the money.

Now, Mr. Pearson don't take into consideration one fact: that without irreverence, it would take God Almighty with a microscope to find Calderon Carlisle, and a poor reporter may, therefore, be excused for mistaking his reference to the Secretary.

Why should Mr. Pearson tell me he was writing to Mr. Carlisle? It was bogus, and he knows it. What do I know about Mr. Calderon Carlisle, or anybody else, for that matter.

In another column Mr. Pearson will find a denial of the statement that Ewart's county will go for Pritchard.

All in all, Mr. Pearson is making a show of himself here, with his speckled suit and his banneret manners which all Raleighites recognize as only the semblance of greatness. For at heart, he makes a coward and in brain he is a fool. He has nothing but social standing and money to keep him on the level.

Mr. Pearson wants to reserve his funny business for Asheville and for Raleigh reporters.

Mr. Pearson don't have to make fun of me. I won't have it from the bumpkin.—Local Editor of the Raleigh News.

A BOILER BURETS

And Seriously if Not Fatally Scalding Milnes Misener.

That is a fatal mill. This morning (Saturday) about 11:30 o'clock news reached this city to the effect that the boiler at Misener's saw mill had blown up and scalded Mr. Milnes Misener, the engineer, near to death.

The water in the boiler got too low, causing the safety plug to melt, and the flues to blow out, resulting in the sad misfortune as above stated.

Drs. Young and Archey were summoned to go out and attend him and at the time of going to press the young man's life is gradually ebbing away and there is no hope for him.

Mr. Misener is a young man about 25 years of age, and is clever and popular with everybody. He is unmarried and a son of Mr. E. K. Misener, who lives near the mill in No. 5 township.

This is the third serious accident at this mill and in all probability will score the second fatal one. Only three years ago, Mr. Will Misener, brother to the present owner, Mr. Pink Misener, got sawed to pieces and instantly killed.

Besides the accident today and the one three years ago, another one happened at this fatal mill, but we could not learn the particulars.

This is indeed a sad bit of news, and the entire community is in sympathy with the unfortunate young man.

Shinned Alive. Friday afternoon an unusual sight was seen in rear of Sapperefield's grocery store. A Standard reporter was on the scene. A rabbit had been skinned, its throat cut and instantly taken out. After this had been done through with, it was put into a pan of water. The cold water, we suppose, caused it to kick and jump around at a lively rate until at last it got its fore paws on the rim of the pan when it made a sudden leap of several feet into the air and fell backward into the water, continuing to kick and breathe for fully fifteen minutes. This is an actual occurrence. There were probably twenty-five witnesses, and all say they have never seen anything to equal it in the way of dead game.

The most remarkable thing about the rabbit, was that its hide on the left side had a cross mark of white and brown hair, with a small piece of blue ribbon on its left hind leg.

We believe it was a grave yard rabbit, and a witch at that, as it was caught in a trap near Mr. R. A. Brown's plantation a short distance beyond the depot, where "Korner," our correspondent, said he heard that witches had a range and haunt.

It died after a desperate struggle.

A Strange People In the Caucasus.

A Danish traveller has discovered a strange people in the Caucasus mountains of whom very little has hitherto been known in Europe. "The Literary Digest" gives a translation of his description of them.

The Chevrurians, as these people are called, are about 6,000 in number and live in a basin between three mountains. They are pagans, and their miserable bits lighted only by means of pine torches. One peculiarity about this people is that the men never lay aside their heavy iron nor their weapons; even while plowing in the fields they carry them. In a strap on the back every man carries a whip heavy and strong enough to break an arm. On the thumb he wears a rough iron ring; an enemy would not care for the second blow with this.

If a murder is committed among the Chevrurians all of the relations of the deceased go to the village of the murderer and burn his house. The murderer's relatives dare not show themselves for a year lest they be killed. At the end of one year the murderer in company of a brother arrives secretly at the altar of his victim to make an offer of atonement and ask protection. When the family of the dead one hear of this they all come rushing and crying "Blood for blood," but enter upon peace negotiation. The slayer agrees to pay 416 sheep, the regular price for homicide. Every year thereafter he must sacrifice a sheep to the slain one. Sometimes if one of the family of the deceased is dangerously ill the peace-maker announces that the sick one will die unless the murderer is forgiven. This is done and the slayer pays a small penalty. The Chevrurians have no money. The standards of value are the ox, the cow, the sheep, and the horse. A stallion is equal to four cows, a mare to six, a cow to four sheep. A wound in the head that exposes the brain, or an injury to a leg or an arm is worth 16 cows. Five cows are paid for the loss of a thumb, four for the

IMMIGRATION TO THIS STATE

Eighty Pittsburgers and Other Pennsylvania to Settle in Craven County.

Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 30.—One of the largest colonization schemes that has been projected in this vicinity has been organized by an Allegheny firm, with Tom, Johnston & Company in charge. With the financial backing they now have, the new colony is said to prove a success. In this event, within the next 30 days, more than 80 residents of this city and surrounding towns will leave to take up permanent residence in North Carolina. Farming lands to the extent of 50,000 acres have been leased and purchased in Craven county, at the junction of the Neuse and Trent rivers. The members of the colony are farmers, and gardeners and mechanics.

NOTES FROM CONFERENCE.

Some of the Things Done Yesterday in Statesville.

The Daily Landmark this morning says: Rev. Dr. Wood, of the Presbyterian church, Dr. Smith, president of Randolph-Macon College, Va., Prof. M. H. Arnold, of Greensboro Female College, Dr. Weaver and Rev. Dr. Cressy, of Charlotte, were the invited guests who dined with Bishop Wilson yesterday at Major Robbins'.

At the Presbyterian church Rev. Dr. Cressy preached to a large congregation. His text was taken from the 103d Psalm, 2d verse: "Bless the Lord, O my soul, and forget not all His benefits." The sermon was an able one and the doctor's hearers were delighted with him. A collection amounting to $33.37 was taken for the Orphans' Home at Barium.

IN CONFERENCE.

The following local preachers were elected to deacons' orders: J. A. Honk, Boone circuit; J. K. Lee, B street, Charlotte; W. K. Honk, Morganton circuit; T. A. Parker, Randolph circuit.

The following local preachers were elected to elders' orders: Miles H. Long, Yadkin circuit; E. E. Smith, Yadkin circuit, and G. A. Page, Church street, Charlotte.

Rev. S. P. Tarrentine, chairman of the Epworth League committee, reported that there were 45 Leagues in the Conference with 2,300 members, and recommended the following:

An Epworth League standing committee for four years, Epworth League anniversaries to be held at District Conferences, and on Thursday night of the Annual Conference; a State League Conference at Trinity College, next summer if the North Carolina Conference will unite; a committee to confer with like committee of North Carolina Conference to consider the establishing of a summer school at Trinity College; the organization of Epworth Leagues by the pastors instead of societies outside of the church; the payment of ten cent assessments; the endorsement of the Epworth Era; the endorsement of the International League Conference to be held at Chattanooga, Tenn., June, 1895; and fuller and separate blanks for Epworth League reports for annual Conference.

This report was unanimously adopted and the following were asked to prepare reports: Revs. S. B. Tarrentine, Ira J. Erwin, C. W. Sherrill, and Messrs. C. H. Ireland, D. Matt Thompson, and G. L. Hackney.

MR. YARBOROUGH LOCATED.

A special to the News this afternoon says: Rev. Mr. Yarborough, of Brevard street chapel, was located today, thus settling the late trouble. This dispatch is brief, but it is of considerable interest to the people of Charlotte, in view of recent events.

Suit Against Our New Sheriff.

Our newly elected sheriff, M. A. White, is already in trouble. Just after White was elected he went to John T. Shephard, Esq., and said he wanted him to manage and run the sheriff's office for him, this Mr. Shephard consented to do as he was well acquainted with the duties of the office and liked open air exercise. But later White came to Mr. Shephard and told him he must be his jailor, which Mr. Shephard refused, but finally taking it under consideration told White he would let him know in a few days. In the meantime White pressed the proposition until Shephard consented and the whole matter agreed upon between them. Shephard went to his home at Elmwood, Chambersburg township, sold out his effects, consisting of corn, wheat, cows, hogs, etc., and moved to town and into the jail preparatory to taking full control December 1st, on the express understanding between himself and White. While this was going on the Populists over the county were making strong demands for the place, and so pressing they become White went to Shephard Monday last and told him he would have to make other arrangements. Whereupon Shephard told him it was his own proposition to give him the jail and he did not understand why he could change his mind so suddenly. White admitted that he did tender him the place, but that the Pops were pressing for it so vigorously that he would have to make the change. Shephard immediately brought suit against White for breach of contract. Summons has been issued and served. Damages will probably be set at $5,000. The amount will be regulated by the fees received for keeping the jail during the two years. Messrs. L. C. Caldwell, B. B. McLaughlin, B. B. Long and H. P. Greer, are attorneys for Shephard.—Statesville Mail.
