

MONEY.

NO. 14. That the double standard has been a failure is seen in the history of coinage in our own country.

The double standard, it should be observed, did not serve the purpose that its advocates so zealously claimed for it.

But the reader may ask, if all the principal nations of the world were to combine, could not the double standard be made possible?

The answer is, that all the principal nations are hardly going to combine for that purpose.

The most conspicuous figures about the mill are Mr. W. J. Reed, a Georgian, as miller, Mr. J. C. Lippard as bookkeeper and Mr. John A. Kimmons as foreman.

It is gratifying, indeed, to see from reports all over the land that indications point to a still greater rise in the price of cotton.

subject under consideration. The double standard can be made to prevail only on the condition that it is favorable to the well being of all nations, a condition that possibly may happen, but probably will not.

ON ALL SIDES. A New Mill Makes a Start--The Whistle and the Grinding of Machinery is Heard.

The whistles and bells calling people to their respective places of labor is now heard on all four sides of town. The Lippard Bros. roller flour mill began operations Thursday evening at 5 o'clock.

And another one of Concord's boys has launched out upon the business world, about whom the Morganton Herald of this week has to say:

Mr. W. A. Leslie arrived here Monday from Charlotte. Mr. Leslie is the head of the new drug firm here, W. A. Leslie & Co. and will reside here in the future.

Before being taken to the penitentiary he admitted to the police that it was not his intention to kill Durrant, but that he had no opportunity to use his knife.

Cotton-pickers leave town every morning in great droves.

George Tillman presented an ordinance to the constitutional convention at Columbia, on Wednesday, providing for the re-establishment of the whipping post system of punishment for certain crimes.

Messrs W D Anthony and W E Castor, besides painting several houses and doing other work, have just finished putting in 11,000 window glass for the Odell Buffalo thread mill and the Cannon Manufacturing Company's new mill.

A business transaction is about to take place in which one of our leading firms is involved. We are not at liberty to say much concerning it, but will state that the deal will be a great improvement and addition to the business of the city.

Before going on a sea voyage or into the country, be sure to put a box of Ayer's Pills into your valise. You may have occasion to thank us for this hint.

Master John B. Alexander, who several weeks ago left for Meadville, Penn., to enter Alleghany College, arrived home Friday night. Johnny was pleased with his trip north, but was disappointed at school, where he pined for his penial associates and loved ones in the this, our beloved town.

One advantage of taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla to purify the blood is that you need not infringe upon your hours of labor nor deny yourself any food that agrees with you.

There is a lady now living in Monroe who was married away back in the forties or fifties. She still has a large gourd which she grew the first year of her married life.

The Statesville correspondent to the Charlotte Observer says: "Referring to the silver convention in Raleigh and to the fact that Iredell people will not attend, I find that the call for the convention was not signed by Iredell citizens."

Mr. D. A. Misenheimer has returned to Savannah, Ga., to resume his position as freight conductor on the Central Railroad of Georgia. He is a son of Mr. George Misenheimer, of No. 5 township, and several months ago was hurt in a wreck on his road near Savannah.

Prof. J. A. Holmes, State Geologist, who has the North Carolina exhibit in charge at the Atlanta exposition, telegraphs the following: "The North Carolina forestry and mineral exhibits were ready at the opening of the exposition, and were unsurpassed by those from any other State."

Nine marriage licenses were issued Wednesday by the Register of Deeds for Buncombe county. This rush in matrimonial circles is probably due to the fact that it is cooler in the mountains than in this section at present, and that snow and cold weather is expected during the coming winter.

A small colored child fell in a well on Vine street in Winston the other day, the well being 34 feet deep. It was rescued by its mother, who went down into the water and found the child floating. The well was walled with brick, and the mother stated, upon being asked how she descended, that she just "spread herself" and slipped down.

The Charlotte Observer composing force prints the following challenge to the "broken down sports" of that city for a game of baseball, the proceeds of which go to the Alexander Rescue Home. It reads: "We, the composers of the Obseryer, hereby challenge you to play a game of baseball at Latta Park, Tuesday, October 1st; said game to be called at 3:30 p. m., and continue as long as the police will allow. Everything goes, save the umpire's decision, which shall be a secondary consideration; catch-as-catch-can go as you please rules to govern said game; dog falls and bloomers barred."

WAS NOT DELIRIOUS,

But Saw a Specie of Snake in His Brandy Still.

In conversation with a STANDARD reporter a good farmer of the county told a singular experience he had while distilling brandy last week. A dam had been built on the branch and a piece of piping put down to conduct the water in the still house, where it emptied into a barrel. From the barrel the water ran into a cooling tub, in which the hot brandy had been placed. The farmer, who doubtless had been tasting of his delicious make, saw to his intense horror a snake floating around in the water. He was not positive that his eyes did not fool him, and called in a friend to assist in examining his discovery and, upon investigation, found it to be an eel that had run down from the pond which measured about 18 inches.

Two New York Germans are walking around the world on a "wager."

Prof. Holland Thompson, principal of the Concord High School, is in receipt of an appointment as a marshal at the coming State Fair, by his friend, Mr. Rufus L. Patterson, the chief marshal. Concord will doubtless furnish several gallant marshals for this great event.

Miss Carter Dead. Miss Ada Carter, who has been a long and patient sufferer, died of consumption Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. She was about 35 years of age, and was a member of Forest Hill Methodist church, South. The funeral services were conducted from the house this (Thursday) afternoon by Rev. M. A. Smith, her pastor. The interment was at the cemetery.

That Concord is one of the best towns in the State and is today in a better condition than most of them. That there is more building going on than at any time in history of the city.

That you cannot at all times do everything to please everybody. That we are going to have a big fall trade and the merchants and laborer alike will profit thereby.

Max Weisner and Fritz Meyer, the two Germans who are making a tour around the world on foot for a wager offered by the New York News, the trip to be made in 780 days, struck town this (Thursday) morning at 11:55, having drilled in from Salisbury in five hours. They are healthy looking men and are native Germans, but have been citizens of America for the past two years.

One of the new laws passed by the last Legislature that is just now making a stir over the State, is to be found in section 20 of the machinery act. The dealers are required to make two returns per year to the register of deeds, the first from January 1 to June 30. So far, only a few have done so. The law in question says: On every commission merchant, broker or dealer buying or selling, one per centum on his commissions. On every dealer in cigars, cheroots, manufactured smoking or chewing tobacco and cigarettes, an annual tax, five cents per thousand for cigars and cheroots, one half cent per pound on manufactured smoking and chewing tobacco, and five cents per thousand for cigarettes, provided, however, that nothing in this section shall be construed to apply to manufacturers of tobacco, cigars, cheroots or cigarettes; and county, city or town shall be allowed to impose any tax, license or fee on such dealers.--Charlotte News.

Very Little Sickness--Raising Their Own Supplies--Come to Enter School. Mr. Pleasant, N. C., Sept. 18.--There has been very little sickness during the summer, in the town and surrounding country; and at the present time we know of no cases of sickness peculiar to hot weather. The doctors have not been rushed during the past summer.

There has not been shipped here this year a single box of western bacon. This looks like raising "your own supplies." It should be so every year, not only as regards meat, but also grain. When the south, as a whole, sees it is ready to be advanced to do this, it will be hard on the western and northwestern meat-houses and granaries. By the way, we wonder if this has not had something to do with the silver craze out there.

Wednesday night a white man by the name of James S. Williams, a bill poster for the State Fair, got on the Carolina Central train at Hamlet, intending to make different points on his advertising itinerary on that road. He was very much intoxicated and fell into a seat, and soon sank into a stupor, instead of getting off at Wadesboro as he should have done came on to Charlotte.

The police took him in charge here, and carried him to the Tombs. About 11:30 Officer Jetton was in the cell. The man asked first for water and then for whiskey. He was then very drunk. He was given water and then the officer left him.

At 2:30 Officers Farrington and Orr went in to see how he was getting on, and threw a blanket over him. He was asleep, and they could detect nothing wrong with him except being drunk. Yesterday morning at 8 o'clock Chief Orr went to the cell to tell the man to get ready for court. He did not answer when called, and fearing something was wrong the chief stepped inside the cell and laid the his hand on the man's head. He was cold, and stiff in death.

He was identified as James S. Williams, of Raleigh, an old bill poster. In his pocket was found a pass over the railroad, and $5.20 in money. A telegram was sent to Raleigh asking for instructions in regard to the body. The secretary of the fair association wanted to have the remains shipped to Raleigh, which was accordingly done last night, Officer Duke accompanying them.--Charlotte Observer.

LIFE SAVED

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"I was troubled for years with a sore on my knee, which several physicians, who treated me, called a cancer, assuring me that nothing could be done to save my life. As a last resort, I was induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and, after taking a number of bottles, the sore
