Land Sale.

By virtue of a decree made in a special proceeding, in the Superior Court for Cabarrus county, May the 8th, 1897, entitled, "In the matter of the estate of S. P. Brainerd Kimmons, insane," by R. M. Starbuck, judge presiding, in the 8th judicial district, I as a commissioner of said court will, by public auction, at the door of the court house in Concord, on Monday, the 8th day of December, 1897, to the highest bidder, one tract of land containing one hundred and thirty-three (133) acres, in Crab Orchard township, in Mecklenburg county, being a part of what was formerly known as the Samuel Kimmons home place, on the dividing line between said counties and adjoining the lands of D. D. Alexander, Lafayette Stafford, D. H. Johnson and others. Terms of sale: One third (1/3) cash, and balance to be paid on the first day of November, 1898, secured by note of purchase with two good sureties and title reserved.

R. M. KIMMONS, Guardian, Commissioner. Nov. 2nd, 1897.

A GOOD ENTERTAINMENT.

Our Graded School Give Entertainment Recitations Show their Training and their Liberty-Cant be bowed on Singing. As announced in THE STANDARD the graded school, or rather a part of it gave an entertainment in the court house Wednesday afternoon. The exercises were opened with a chant—the Lord's Prayer—by the school. This was distinct and impressive.

Oliver Hoover read the President's Thanksgiving proclamation. The school then sang "God is Our Refuge."

Claudius Smith and Ola Brown each recited. America was next sung, and our national air lost nothing of its inspiring powers with that well trained band of singers.

Miss Grace Patterson rendered a recitation, and was followed by a song, "Row Brothers, Row."

This was unique. We recognized the song "Greenville" or "Go Tell Aunt Patsey," at first, with all mouth closed (hard as that is to do) then, while it was sung in regular way, about half the high-keyed voices were singing rapidly some piece we did not recognize but that did not spoil the original.

Miss Mamie Lentz recited a poem to make people give liberally and Mr. Harry Hendrix spoke a piece, dividing his time with the gobbler, whose deception would soon occur, and some other immanities being we could not catch. Miss Jennie Patterson then sang a solo with organ accompaniment by Miss Harris and piccolo by Prof. Keebler. This, for gentle sweetness, is rarely excelled and would, of itself, have made the entertainment a success.

"Carolina," the pride of all North Carolinians, was then rendered to the joy of all the natives. Miss Florence Pounds made the last recitation.

Then eight sweet little girls sang so nicely that they were encored, but could not be induced to repeat. Sixteen of the same quality presented themselves, however, and, as they sang, made such cute little antics, as to cause the smiles to run from ear to ear of that packed audience.

Prof. Lewis explained the two tables full of clothes and edibles as the gifts of the school to the poor as a thank offering, besides he said he had a pocket full of money about ten dollars, collections from the little girls.

The school then waited on the audience and received a free will supplement to their treasure. The closing piece of music was "Dixie." The audience was invited to join in and drown the voices of the school. It was refrained from for the best of reason.

The exercises reflected great credit on our graded school. The recitations indicated good training, though in the packed room the writer could not hear every word. The singing we regard as exceptionally fine and confirms the wisdom of the board in employing a vocal music teacher. The effect was complimentary enough to Prof. Keebler. As we have no hall large enough for the whole school Prof. Lewis promised the audience an entertainment by the other part of the school about Christmas.

Columbian Calendar for 1898.

For the thirteenth year the Columbia Pad Calendar makes its appearance promptly on time for 1898, and while its general style is of the same familiar character, the many bright thoughts it contains, contributed by its friends in many parts of the country, as well as abroad, are new, and will be appreciated by all who take an interest in bicycling, healthful exercise and good roads. It is neat in appearance, takes up but little room, and is both ornamental and useful for the desk, while its stand is of such character that it may be used either upon the desk or hung upon the wall. It can be obtained by mail prepaid for five two cent stamps by addressing the Calendar Department of the "One Manufacturing Company, Hartford, Conn.

On the Gridiron.

The football game between the Universities of North Carolina and Virginia on Thanksgiving day scored 12 to 0 in favor of the Virginia team.

The great contest between Greensboro and Charlotte made 0 to 0. The real contest was in the contention, as we understand it, the time was so far spent in disagreement that many withdrew their presence and admission fees. The game was called, however, at 4:45, and was said to be very fine. It was a sort of "dog fall" result.

A wicked editor down in Georgia gets of the following: "The editor sat in his office cold, whence all but him had fled, but he wished that every last dead beat was in his grave, stone dead. His mind then wandered far away to the time when he should die, and his loyal editorial soul got scooting to the sky; when he roams the fields of paradise and sail o'er jaspers seas, and all things glorious would combine, his every sense to please. He thought how, when he'd look across the great gulf and dream that yawned between his happy soul and those who swinded here; and he for water they should call and in agony they'd caper, he'd shout to them: 'Just moisten your tongue with the dew that's on your p—pe.'"—E. Outlining their Platform.

The National Organization Committee of the Populist party met in St. Louis on the 24th. It appointed a meeting of the same committee in the same place for January 11, 1898, and recommended a national nominating convention on the first Wednesday in April, 1898, and State conventions on the third Wednesday in March. It recommended holding Congressional conventions after the national convention.

The outlines of the platform were indicated as follows:

"1. Absolute paper money, based upon every commodity and resource of the nation, a full legal tender, and receivable for all dues of the United States.

"2. Free coinage of gold and silver at the present legal ratio; the coin debts of the United States payable in either at the option of the government.

"3. All money to be issued by the government and paid out direct to the people for services rendered, or to be loaned to them at a low rate of interest on safe security, and without the intervention of private banks, provided that the volume of currency shall not exceed $50 per capita.

"4. Government ownership and operation of railroads, telegraph and telephone lines.

"5. Opposition to alien ownership and holding of land for speculative purposes.

"6. Opposition to court-made laws.

"7. Opposition to trusts.

"8. We especially recommend the initiative and referendum and the imperative mandate."

Concord to Get an Improved Depot.

The following is the result of Concord's petition for better facilities for its growing freight business and means an early concession to our reasonable demands for better passenger accommodations. It is quite gratifying:

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26, 97. Hon. J. L. Crowell, Mayor, Concord, N. C.

DEAR SIR:—Referring further to yours of September 26th, would say our chief engineer has instructions to enlarge the freight station at Concord to the extent of 40 feet as soon as he can possibly get to it.

We have under consideration the question of better passenger facilities for you, and hope a definite conclusion will be arrived at before a great while. Yours truly, W. H. GREEN.

Saw Mrs. Luertger on May 24th. Kewanee, Ill., Nov. 23.—After a absence of several months, Mrs. Wm. Thompson, of this city told a story of having seen and talked with Mrs. Luertger on May 24th.

With her husband she was at Monmouth, Ill., in their private car, which was side-tracked, waiting for train connection. Mrs. Thompson happened to go into the depot and saw a woman whom she recognized, she says, as Mrs. Luertger. She asked her where she was going and Mrs. Luertger replied that she wanted to go west and had some quilts out of the way place.

In the evening, she says, Mrs. Luertger came to her bar, and after talking with Mrs. Thompson a short time said:

"My husband will wonder a long time before he sees me again, and when he does he will be more glad to see me than he ever was before in all of his life."

Mrs. Thompson did not want his wife to testify in the case on account of the notoriety, but she says now she will do so.

Shortage of $37.12.

The freight office of the A. & N. C. R. R., at this point, has been placed in temporary charge of Mr. W. L. Humphrey, owing to a shortage of $37.12 discovered in the accounts of Mr. Z. M. L. Jeffers, the regular agent, and whose position was declared "vacant" last Saturday in the consequence thereof.

Mr. Jeffers does not admit the charge and says that his accountant, after due investigation, will sustain him in his claim.—Goldensboro Herald.

Very Mysterious.

The Asheville Citizen says some one drew the spikes from one rail of the track between Marshall and Alexander and raised one end of the locomotive with a rock underneath.

As the freight train came along some one on the track held a danger signal light till the train came to a standstill, then extinguished the light and disappeared. A terrible calamity seems to have been averted. No clue to the intended wrecker or the delivery is known, it seems.

Dead Easy.

"That was a way as novel as it was brilliantly successful that the Henderson people took to raise a horse out of a well and it was dead easy too. They just put down a hose and turned on the water till they buoyed his horse up to the top.

Danger in Postage Stamps.

One of the newest diseases is the "postage stamp tongue." The credit of discovering it is due to a London physician. It appears that the postage itself is injurious, and that, further, it is an excellent cultivating medium for germs of the worst character. In the ailment called postage stamp tongue the latter becomes sore and covered with red spots. A bad sore throat is likely to follow, if great care is not taken.

Apart from the specific disease of the tongue, any contagious disease may be acquired through the medium of mucilage. Never lick a postage stamp with your tongue. It shows a great lack of cleanliness and hygienic knowledge.—Ex.

As It Was in the Days of Abraham.

Within full view of the streets of Morganton and not eight miles away as the crow flies is a country where some of the farming methods are identical with those in vogue in the time of Abraham. On the top of Kaylor's Knob, one of the highest peaks of the South Mountain, is a wheat field containing nearly a hundred acres, comparatively level and of remarkable fertility. In this field on the side next to Morganton is a great flat which has been used time out of mind as a threshing floor. Here the wheat and rye is brought and threshed with flails, and winnowed just as Boaz winnowed his barley at his threshing floor near Bethlehem centuries ago.—Morganton Herald.

A meeting of the directors of the North Carolina Railroad was held in Charlotte this week and the observer learned that the board has already paid out $4,000 for lawyers' fees and court costs on account of the litigation in regard to the lease of this road. As the State owns two-thirds of the road this means that the tax-payers are already out of pocket two-thirds of this amount on account of useless and foolish litigation instituted by Gov. Rossell, and what the end will be doth not appear.—Statesville Landmark.
