WILL PAY YOU FOR YOUR WORK.

Ever since the present management of THE STANDARD has had charge, it has been busy trying to do the very best to have a paper worthy of perusal in every home in the county but has not pressed its claims.

If feels that it offers in THE WEEKLY STANDARD much more than the value of the price demanded for its fifty-two visits per year. We do not propose to reduce the price of THE STANDARD as that would mean to soon not issue it at all, but wishing to increase its circulation and recognizing that every worker is worthy of his hire, we offer to any one who will secure for us one or more new subscribers, twenty cents on each dollar paid. Payment may be later in the fall if so desired by parties known to be reliable. The premium must invariable come from the collections.

LAW AND ORDER AT DARIEN.

We suppose the end has come of the race troubles at Darien, Ga. The affair, it seems to us, should go a good way to redeeming the Georgians from the Sam Hose stigma. In this case Henry Delegal was charged with foul crime on a white lady. When officers went to arrest him his son, John Delegal, killed one of the officers. The negroes huddled together and refused to let the officers arrest the culprits.

Forty of the rioters were arrested. Twenty eight only were convicted and sentenced to various terms in the penitentiary. Henry Delegal was acquitted of assault on the woman and John Delegal, who killed the officer, was found guilty of murder but was recommended to the mercy of the court. He was sentenced to life imprisonment. The same sentence was given Edward Delegal as an accomplice.

These negroes were at the mercy of the white people, who could have made it a bloody time, but it is evident that there was no disposition to do them injustice. The course pursued by the negroes was provoking enough but the straight forward course followed shows them that they must be law-abiding and that being so they shall enjoy all the protection of the law.

BRYAN RINGS CLEAR ON TRUSTS.

In the conference on the Uses and Abuses of Trusts held last week in Chicago Hon. Wm. J. Bryan and Burke Cochrane were the central figures. Mr. Bryan seemed the lion of the occasion by a good lead. He has very strong convictions on the trust issue and stoutly maintains that they can be reached. He harmonizes with the Cleveland idea that they should and could be grappled with best by the individual states. A charter granted by a state should not extend privileges beyond that state except by a license from the national government which should lay the burden on the applicant to prove that it has none of the features of a monopoly or trust.

He declared that a monopoly in private hands is indefensible from any standpoint and is intolerable, nor are there exceptions to the rule.

Mr. Bryan made a masterly effort and fully sustained himself. Mr. Cochrane himself admitted that he agreed with very much that the Nebraska said. It all points to Bryan for our Democratic national leader in 1900.

Now Charlotte is fixing to bury us. She is figuring on a coffin factory. But we advocate home patronage and domestic consumption.

GREAT WEALTH AND THE FUTURE.

It is but natural and not altogether unprofitable that a good degree of notice is given to the life and character of the late Cornelius Vanderbilt with a thought of his future. It seems he was a member of the church, in good standing and manifested a living faith by many good works. The getting of immense wealth is chiefly against him in the eyes of the world. "It is easier for a camel to go through the eye of a needle than for a rich man to enter into the kingdom of heaven" was clearly intended to apply to those who trusted in riches, those not included in the beatitude of "The Poor in Spirit." There was nothing in the man's great wealth to close the doors of paradise against him but doubtless he would have walked the road leading thereto with a quicker and more sprightly step with a less burden of wealth and wealth getting weighing him down.

His father, we believe, advised that his children disperse more of their wealth than to had done and avoid immense accumulations. It leads us to fresh admiration of our own Vanderbilt, who, instead of constant hoarding and gathering more, is spreading much on the face of the earth, making beauty and productiveness where formerly there was little to give joy or comfort to man.

It is a great problem to solve to get wealth; it is little less a problem to learn how to use it when gotten.

DEMOCRATS GETTING READY.

A meeting of the national Democratic executive committee was held in Chicago, Ill., on last Monday, the 18th. Preliminary work was begun by making Mr. G. M. Johnson, of Kansas, the executive head and fixing upon Chicago as the headquarters. The following address was sent out:

"The national committee of the Democratic party, in session at Chicago, to consider the work of party organization preparatory to the campaign of 1900, sends greeting to the Democracy of the nation with the assurance that the prospect of Democratic success next year grows brighter every day, and we have every reason for confidence as to the outcome. The great need now is party unity and thorough organization. The committee appeals, therefore, to our party friends in all the States, and especially States where elections are to be held this year, to put aside all local differences wherever they exist, and support the regular party tickets earnestly and enthusiastically keeping always in view the great struggle of next year, and remembering that in unity there is strength and in division weakness. Especially do we appeal to the Kentucky Democracy to give loyal support to the regular ticket in that State, headed by Mr. Goebel, and thereby make sure of a Democratic victory in the State and the return of Senator Blackburn to the Senate of the United States."

The committee resolved to meet once every 60 days.

MR. ALLISON'S PLAN.

We hope our cotton raisers and dealers will give careful study to the article copied from the Raleigh Post from the pen of our townsman, Mr. J. P. Allison. Whether or not the plan is feasible it is not ours to say and it can better be determined after an effort is made. We do not understand what the plan in detail would have that would free it from the idea of a trust for controlling prices but that would be one of the tasks for the organization and further developments of the plan. It is evident that the price of cotton is depressing to most raisers. Our hope for relief has been in the manufacture of our cotton crop largely in the South. This, however, is very problematical. It is easy to see that relief is needed but not so easy to see how it is to be effected.

If a genius of manipulation can make it to the interest of those planters or sellers who enter into the plan without extending equal benefits to those who stand aloof, a mountain of difficulties will have been removed. It will be well enough to give the plan due consideration and Mr. Allison's more definite ideas as to detail will be anxiously looked for.

FRANCE DEALING GENTLY.

Court has opened in the French Capitol for the trial of twenty-two citizens on the charge of conspiracy against the present form of government. The utmost gentleness and suavity is extended to the accused. Ever since August 12th M. Guerin has refused to be arrested and is shut up and barricaded in the headquarters of the Anti-Semite League. The government has not forced an entrance and arrest evidently to soothe and heal the distracted condition of the nation. This seems very much in contrast with the court-martial proceedings and indicates either that that nation means reform or that it realizes the danger of further straining the national compact.

Senator Wellington, Governor Lowndes, Mayor Maister, of Baltimore, and Gen. Felix Agnus, a Maryland team, have waited on President McKinley with a protest that the assignment of the South Atlantic Squadron is not commensurate with the dignity of Admiral Schley and that he is not getting fair treatment from the administration, also that Maryland will be lost to the Republican party if amendments are not made by giving him some higher station. It seems these Marylanders are quite jealous of their heroic son. It would be a pity if their over-zealousness were to become disparaging to this worthy hero.

The examination by the penitentiary committee at Wadesboro on Monday corroborates what has already been said about the man Sumner's inhumanity to convicts and yet this man is retained by the Russell-Day combination. It's a pity that the Democrats could not have the complete control of penitentiary affairs, as under such rule the penitentiary was a creditable institution but has ever since been a shame and a burden to the State.

The Morning Post contains a glowing article favoring a soap factory for that city. It looks surprising that the business of the City of Oaks has not been lubricated with a soap factory long ago from the reckoning of the material to be had and the great need of the soap.

A Winston-Salem dispatch of the 19th says a second effort has been made to establish the Danville tobacco warehouse combine and has signally failed. It is now considered dead. They say corporations have no souls so we can gloat over its death without serious reflections.

Greensboro has a town tax of $3.00 on boot-blacks. This will reduce the number and shut off some of the nuisance, "Shine," "Shine Sir." The imps, too, have formed a combine and now charge 10 cents.

If France Doesn't want Dreyfus there are plenty of dross open to him beside a great big one in America.

The Losses of the Eastern Storm. The horrors of our recent eastern storm grew in magnitude with their repetition and doubtless the reports went beyond the reality. The following seems a summing up since facts have been gathered: Twenty-five lives were lost. The greater part of these were fishermen drowned at Swan Island. The wind blew at the rate of 140 miles an hour, but only in spurts. While many of the marsh ponies were drowned a great many escaped, and the same was the case as to cattle. The greatest loss of all was to the crops on the mainland. It is said this amounted to half a million dollars. The rainfall was greatest at Hateras, 8 inches in 48 hours.

Seven Ride on One Ticket.

A family comprising seven persons left Scranton, Penn., the other day, the whole party traveling on one full fare railroad ticket. There were the mother and her three pairs of twins, none of the children being up to the half-fare age of five years.—Anderson Intelligencer.

The University Opens Well.

The State University has opened with 417 students, a gain of 82 over last years opening and includes 197 new students. This is the largest opening the institution has had since the Civil War.

The Supply Lacking This Year.

It looks as if we will not have the amount of cotton on our streets each day as the previous years. At this time heretofore our streets for a few hours would be crowded with the wagons, but such has not been the case this year. On last Friday our score did reach 101, and on Saturday 100 bales were weighed, but one year ago from last Saturday 245 bales were sold. Besides the big decrease in the crop this year numbers of farmers are holding back their supply hoping that a better price will be paid later.

Called to Raleigh to a Meeting.

Mr. A. B. Young was called to Raleigh Monday night by a telegram. He is chairman of the executive committee of the Directors of the State Prison and was wanted there to take part in the important matters before them. One thing to be transacted at the meeting is the purchasing of the Caledonia farms for working of convicts. Several other matters of importance are to be brought up.

A Beautiful Entrance to be Built.

Seven wagon loads of granite were brought from Rowan county Tuesday for the new entrance to be built at St. James Lutheran church, which place was changed very much when the street was cut down. It is at present very unhandy and dangerous and though a good amount of expense is attached, an entrance will soon be built there that will add much to the beauty of the place thereabout and give easy and convenient access to the church. The plans have been submitted by Architect Hook, of Charlotte.

To Make Concord Their Home.

As soon as suitable arrangements can be made about houses two of our farmers with their families will move to Concord. The one is Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Gillon and the other is Esq. S. R. Andrew and family, of the Popular Tent neighborhood. Such citizens as these are always welcome to our town with their families.

Some Negroes Gave a False Alarm.

Several persons along on Spring street plainly heard an alarm Tuesday night some time after 11 o'clock over at the colored Baptist church. The bell was rung and several persons were heard hollering "fire." It was a false alarm and seems to have been a crowd of colored people trying to get a little bit of pay.

The Twenty-Ninth Preparing to Leave.

The Twenty-Ninth Infantry, to which Lieutenant Edward Hill, and Messrs. Jay Sims and Fletcher Foll, of this place, belong, is making all preparations to leave Fort McPherson this week bound for San Francisco where they sail for the Philippines.

Mr. Smoot Dayvauld to Build.

Work will commence soon on a nice one-story residence for Mr. Smoot Dayvauld on Mill street. It will be built on his lot purchased some time ago between the homes of Mr. B. F. Rogers and Mr. W. G. Boshamer.

Simeon Hatley Dead.

On Tuesday afternoon Mr. Simeon Hatley, a blind man, who lived several miles east of Mt. Pleasant, died leaving a wife and several children. The remains were interred at Salem church graveyard.

Race Trouble in the North.

A dispatch of the 18th from Carterville, Ill., gives an account that shades the South for hatred and domineering over the negro. It says: "Carterville was the scene of a bloody riot about noon Sunday, in which six negroes were instantly killed and one fatally wounded, while two others received slight wounds.

Trouble has been brewing since the militia was recalled by Governor Tanner last Monday. The white miners of this place have refused to allow the negro miners to come into town, always meeting them and ordering them back. Yesterday, however, thirteen negroes, all armed, marched into town, going to the Illinois Central depot, where they exchanged a few words with the white miners there.

Then the negroes pulled their pistols and opened fire on the whites, who at once returned the fire. A running fight was kept up. The negroes scattered, some being closely followed by the whites up the main street, while the remainder fled down the railroad tracks. Here the execution was done, all who went through town escaping. After the fight was over four dead bodies were picked up, and another mortally wounded. They were taken to the City Hall, where the wounded man was attended to, and an inquest held over the dead ones.

Trouble has existed here off and on for over a year, but no fatalities occurred until June 30, when a passenger train on the Illinois Central Railroad was fired into, and one negro woman was killed. These negroes were on their way to the mines, having come from Pana. A short time afterwards a pitched battle ensued between the union and non-union forces, during which time the dwellings occupied by the non-union negroes were burned. Several arrests were made, and the accused are in jail at Marion awaiting trial on the charge of murder."

Should Be Held in Check.

Very few persons have any idea of the immensity of the Southern lumber trade. A tabulated statement of the sales of Southern mills, principally yellow pine, during the past fiscal year amounts to the almost inconceivable quantity of 1,331,000,000 feet, valued at more than twenty-five million dollars. Prices are advancing as the demand increases, and lumber easy of access becomes scarce. The extravagant destruction of our valuable timber land should be prevented by law.—Windsors Ledger.

Did the Molar Cause Paralysis.

A curious case is reported by a German dentist, Dr. Muhl Kuhner. One of his patients was a woman of 24, whose right arm and right side of the neck had been paralyzed for two years and a half as a result of a supposed fall and broken arm, and he filled several of her teeth and extracted the much-decayed third molar or wisdom tooth of the right side. The patient returned next day to state that her paralysis had disappeared.—Anderson Intelligencer.

Both Legs Cut Off.

Sherman Patty, a negro at Durham, in attempting to steal a ride from East Durham up town got both legs cut off and died within an hour.

A VOICE.

By special requests we publish the following unique poetical expression of admiration for a voice heard in our midst for ten days:

(To Herman A. Wadsworth.) He is the angel Israfil And his heartstrings a lute, I heard it; my heart and my soul and my will In a moment of exquisite joy stood still!

I seemed to float on a vast sea unknown, And the vastness was filled by that voice alone. The throbbing and thrilling went vibrating through The whole of my being; my soul onward flew With the soul of that voice, so sweet and so grand.

'Till I almost touched on Immanuel's land. Methinks of all things to mortals here given A voice of such power is likeliest to heaven.

—CLARK SHEPHERD.

Care of Horses Thrown Overboard.

The following distressing story for those fond of the equine family is told by the Philadelphia Record:

"Not long ago a large shipment of horses left New York for Europe on a large ship, which had a light cargo. The ship's company, fearing European legislation adverse to the importation of American live stock, were not disposed to incur much expense in the business, and the stalls to accommodate the horses were put in of extemporized sort. About mid-ocean the steering gear broke and the ship fell off in the trough of the sea. Being light she tossed about very violently, and the horses, being thrown against their poorly constructed stalls, broke them down faster than they could be repaired. In a few days all the stalls were demolished, and their splintered stanchions and sideboards, with projecting spikes, were mixed up into a moving mass of half dead, killed and mutilated bodies of the horses, all shifting with every toss of the ship. Finally the whole quivering and putrefying mass settled on one side and would have caused the ship to founder had not the crew by herculean efforts managed to throw the horses overboard, killing a few that gave trouble. All were lost."

A Teacher's Value to the Public.

"What the teacher is counts for much more than what she knows. A love of children, unlimited tact and infinite patience are the necessary endowments." "Of course, the ability to teach implies the possession of an education, though no amount of education alone can make a good teacher. While all teachers must know more than they teach, the power to impart to others is the important matter and the one in which tact or ingenuity is absolutely the prime requisite. Moreover, she should be personally a social, intellectual and moral force in the community. The physician and the clergyman have immense opportunities for this uplifting of humanity, yet their advantages are small when compared with those of the teacher, which are practically unlimited. Encouragement and satisfaction in this field of labor never can be dependent upon results, for it is seldom that the teacher is permitted to know what the years of maturity owe to faithful care of the youthful days. The teacher's time is always one of seed sowing, never of harvest." —Carolina B. Row.

His Estimate of the Local Paper.

Senator Davis, of Illinois, is reported as saying: "Each year every local newspaper gives from $500 to $5,000 in free lines for the benefit of the community in which it is printed. No other agency can nor will do this. The editor in proportion to his means does more for his town than any other man, and in all fairness he ought to be supported, not because you like or admire his writings, but because a local newspaper is the best advertisement a community can have. It may not be crowded with great thoughts, but financially it is more of a benefit than a teacher or a preacher."

Venezuelan Trouble.

Venezuela is in quite a perturbed condition. The government forces are preparing to give battle to the insurgents who are encamped at Tinaquillo. There is a lamentable dissatisfaction with the government. The United States government officials have asked that a gunboat be sent to Caracas for the protection of United States citizens.

War May Be On Hand.

War in the Transvaal seems now inevitable. The last reply from the Boers leaves little for England than to fight or back down. British troops have set sail for the place of operation. Should war break out at any time it will surprise no one.

Teachers Work Six Hours.

Superintendent of Public Instruction Mebane has sent a reply to Y. E. Smith of Durham, who wrote asking whether a "school day" of six hours included the "recesses."

In his reply the superintendent informs the enquirer that the law means that the teachers in public schools shall do six hours of work, by teaching. That if the six hours should be construed to include the recesses, then we might in some schools have four hours of school and work on part of teachers and two hours of recess, etc. There must be six hours of work put in by teachers in the public schools, the superintendent concludes.

Look for the Cat and Rat Mummies.

The Greensboro Telegram tells a pretty little story and puts you on the lookout for an interesting little exhibit at the coming State Fair.

There was a house at Hillsboro built before the Revolutionary war. Some time ago a Mr. Coley was employed to tear down the building. Near the comb of the roof he found the mummies of a cat and rat. Evidently the rat had retreated into a place so small that the cat could just reach it with one paw and one tooth. From this wedged condition the cat could not retreat and the rat was effectually shut in. They became mummified and the specimen may be more than a hundred years old.

Mr. Croly Proposes to Have the Exhibit at the Fair.

Eagle Grapples a 7-Year-Old Boy.

A Hartford, Conn., dispatch of the 12th says an eagle swooped down on a seven-year-old boy weighing about 45 pounds. It raised him off the ground but he had been playing driving the team with two sisters. He held on to the lines. The eagle could not raise the three and they all fought heroically till the bird relinquished his prey. The boy was somewhat torn by the talons. Hunters sought the monster but could not find him.
