 "So far as can be learned the robbers secured no money, although a large sum was in the safe. There were two heavy explosions which awakened people living nearby.
 "A citizen opened fire on the robbers, some four or five in number, and they fled, all escaping without injury so far as known."

MRS. A. H. PROBST DEAD.
 In Prime of Life Leaves Husband and Three Children—Was Devoted to the Church.
 Death entered the home of Mr. A. H. Propst at 8:30 o'clock today (Thursday) and took from him his companion and helpmeet in life. Mrs. Propst and all about her knew that the end must come ere long as she was afflicted with fatal disease. She bade adieu to a husband and three children—Hugh, Roy and Lizzie. One child preceded her to the spirit world.
 Mrs. Propst was the daughter of Mr. Willis Elkins. She leaves no full sister or brother but has several half brothers and sisters of whom Mrs. W. F. Goodman of this place is one.
 She was stricken down in the prime of life being but 42 years and four months old.
 Mrs. Propst was a zealous member of Central M. E. church and up to the time of her ill health was most active and helpful in all the enterprises of the church. She wielded a wholesome influence over those about her by her christian spirit and consistent life.

Mrs. Joseph Lee Dead.
 The remains of Mrs. Lee, the wife of Mr. Joseph Lee, of Spencer, were brought here today (Thursday). Mrs. Lee was taken sick with typhoid fever and then pneumonia. She leaves behind a husband and two children. One child preceded its mother to the grave. Only about three months ago did Mr. Lee and family leave the Poplar Tent neighborhood of this county and go to Spencer. Mr. Lee is a fireman on the Western road.

Mrs. W. J. Hargett Dead.
 Before Wednesday night had scarcely ended death robbed Mr. W. J. Hargett, of Forest Hill, of his wife, who for some time has been stricken with disease. The loss of a loving mother and wife falls heavily upon Mr. Hargett and his two children. Death has theretofore robbed Mr. Hargett's home of one child. The remains will be interred Friday after the preaching of the funeral at Howell's church in No. 10 township.

To Hunt Birds in Our Fields.
 The time has arrived now for the Northern bird hunters to visit our county to enjoy themselves in our quail fields. These gentlemen always come prepared to pay for courtesies extended them and furnish means to some of our farmers who otherwise would not realize any advantage of their partridges. Messrs. Richard Deeves, Thomas J. Dunn and James Brule, of New York, are here now at the St. Cloud hotel, going out each morning to hunt.

They Exchanged Positions.
 Mr. A. J. Rose, who for some time has had charge of the curdling and spinning in the Cannon mills, is now superintendent of the Bala mill, which place has heretofore been filled by Mr. Paul Parks. An exchange has been made in these two places, and Mr. Parks now has charge of Mr. Rose's former work here at the Cannon mills.

Capt. Hollis Dies in Manila.
 A Washington dispatch of the 15th, to the Atlanta Journal says: "A dispatch from Manila announces the death of Captain Magnus O. Hollis, Fourth Infantry, who died of dysentery in the hospital. He was appointed to West Point from Newman, Ga."
 Capt. Hollis is related to citizens of our town, being a nephew of Mrs. Rev. J. B. Anthony, dec'd.
 The writer knew him personally when a young man developing the military characteristics before his appointment to West Point. Prior to our recent wars his services were rendered among the Indians of the West.

THE BEETHOVEN CLUB.
 The Music Lovers Spend the Afternoon With Mrs. Morrison Caldwell—Paderewski, the Pianist and Composer, Studied.
 Written for The Standard.
 The Beethoven Club held its regular meeting Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 15, with Mrs. M. H. Caldwell at her beautiful suburban home. The pleasant afternoon and the popularity of the hostess insured a full attendance.
 The subject for study was Paderewski, the greatest of living pianists, a gifted composer, and a man of fascinating personality.
 Mrs. Cook gave us a taste of the good things to come in her introductory number, "Evening," which she executed feelingly.
 Miss Leslie followed with a well-prepared and interesting sketch on the life and works of the composer under discussion.
 "In the Purple Lovelight," by Eugene Cowles, gave Miss Van Wagner a chance to display her rich, contralto voice, which she did to good effect.
 The well-known "Musette A L'Antique" and the graceful "Chants du Voyageur," were performed by Mrs. W. R. Harris in a charming manner.
 Misses Craven and Sims closed the program with an artistic rendition of "The Passage Bird's Farewell," by Mendelssohn.
 The hostess then served dainty and delicious refreshments. After they were thoroughly enjoyed the Club adjourned to meet with Mrs. James P. Cook, Nov. 29th.

Remember the Orphans.
 When the gratitude of your heart prompts you to make a thank-offering to God on Thanksgiving Day, don't lose sight of the work being done in our orphans' homes throughout the State. Don't overlook the claims upon you of these little, destitute, fatherless or motherless ones.
 Send them a contribution or help to get up a box of provisions or clothing for them. The work appeals to all of us. No offering will be more acceptable and pleasing to God.
Changes at the Depot.
 Mr. Billy Weddington, who for some months has been working the chief clerk's desk at the depot, has severed his connection with that place.
 Mr. Chas. Kimball, who until some months ago, had this position here, but has recently been night operator at China Grove, has returned and will fill the position of chief clerk. Mr. Kimball will not move here until later.

A Negro Row at a Festival.
 Sheriff Peck and Deputy Townsend went out in the country this afternoon in search of some negroes wanted for bad conduct at a festival last night. It's the same old story that always results from these occasions. Pistol shots and rocks were thrown through the air, and a beautiful amount of cursing, of course. The affair occurred over beyond White Hall.
To Minnesota to Marry.
 Mrs. Elmira Goodnight and child, and mother, Mrs. Black-welder, left Tuesday night for Buena Vista, Minnesota, where Mrs. Goodnight goes to marry Mr. M. L. Thorn.
 The two never met but have been corresponding for a while.—Salisbury Sun.

The Meteors Capricious.
 It seems we have had a passage over by the shooting stars that gleefully may have played a rubber-neck game on us. In Russia, however, they were in all their glory Thursday morning, and scared many of the natives, who thought the judgment had come.
 The display was fine in Berlin. In Crescent City, Ill., one failed to burn out in its descent and the aerolite struck the corner of a dwelling on its angling course and knocked off part of the upper story and buried itself in the ground near the foundation. The things seem rather capricious.

Mr. Emmitt Fisher Married.
 On Thursday afternoon, the 16th, in the Methodist church at Hickory, Mr. Emmitt Fisher, who lives near Salisbury, was married to Miss Ethel Harris, of that place. After the ceremony the couple boarded the train for the groom's home.

slated as Senator Hanna's successor.
 The members of the diplomatic corps have had a busy week, especially the representatives of those nations interested in the Chinese question. There is little doubt that all these embassies are armed with instructions from their respective governments. From the numerous visits of the staff of the Chinese minister, an out-sider would think that the State Department was about to open a laundry.
 Admiral Schley has had swords thrust upon him, and even a home looms up as a not far distant prospect, but probably the honor that he will most appreciate is that of having been made a Knight Templar in the short space of three weeks. By special arrangement this week, as the Admiral is about to go on sea duty, three degrees were conferred in one evening. This is the most rapid rise in the degrees of Masonry that has ever occurred during the history of the order in this city. The Schley Home fund, by the way, is increasing nicely, now that good business men have taken the matter in charge.
 It will interest those who are seeking positions in that work to learn that the Census force has not enough business just now to keep it going. The number of applications, as might be expected, is enormous. Director Merriam states positively that there will be no more appointments made until after the new year begins.
 Washington ladies are suffering at the hands of a mysterious being popularly known as "Jack, the Cutter." This miscreant makes a point of mingling in crowds, and ruining valuable wraps and dresses.
 There can be no possible objection further than the venting of malice. As the individual has never been caught at work, it is not certain whether it is "Jack," or "Jill." Whoever it is has so far been too foxxy to attempt to rip up the uniforms of the police.
 Assistant Postmaster General Heath, in his annual report, recommends extending the personal delivery of the mails in the rural districts. The free delivery system has proved a great success and the department is in favor of putting it in operation in as many parts of the country as may be possible.

CHANGE OF SUPERINTENDENTS.
 Mr. Frank Robbins To Superintend the Kestler Cotton Mill in Salisbury—Mr. Davis To Go To Goldsboro.
 For some time there has been a trade on foot by several parties for the Kestler cotton mill in Salisbury. The trade has been closed and Mr. Frank Robbins, from that place, who some time ago went to Goldsboro, will be the superintendent of the mill. Mr. Robbins also has some stock in the mill. Of Mr. Robbins' administration at the mill in Goldsboro, it says that his has been the most satisfactory in its history, and his resignation is reluctantly received.
 Mr. K. J. Davis, who has been superintendent of the Wiscasset mill at Albemarle, will take Mr. Robbins' position at Goldsboro.
Millions Given Away.
 It is certainly gratifying to the public to know of one cancer in the land who are not afraid to be generous to the needy and suffering. The proprietors of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, have given away over ten million trial bottles of this great medicine; and have the satisfaction of knowing it has absolutely cured thousands of hopeless cases. Asthma, Bronchitis, Hoarseness and all diseases of the Throat, Chest and Lungs are surely cured by it. Call at Fetter's Drug store and get a free trial bottle. Regular size 50c and $1. Every bottle guaranteed or price refunded.

THE NEWS IN WASHINGTON.
 The Dewey-Hazen Wedding Devoted of Display—A Big Effort Being Made to Unseat Roberts.
 From our Regular Correspondent.
 Married. Dewey-Hazen: On Thursday morning, November 9, 1899, at ten o'clock at the rectory of St. Paul's Catholic church, by Rev. James F. Maclean, George Dewey and Mildred M. Hazen, both of this city. No cards.
 At least the newspaper men didn't get any. As usual, Cousin George took time by the forelock, and the abruptness of the affair was a surprise to everybody. The only witnesses were the mother and sister of the bride, and Lieut. Caldwell, the Admiral's secretary.
 As Dewey is not a Catholic, a special dispensation was required for the performance of the ceremony, and this was procured from Bishop Curtis, vicar general of the diocese of Baltimore. After the ceremony, which did not take more than ten minutes, a wedding breakfast was served at the home of Mrs. Washington McLean, the bride's mother.
 The bride and groom then left quietly for New York, traveling as merely private citizens, and avoiding all display.
 For the benefit of the ladies it may be well to say that the bride was gowned in a pearl gray silk, over which she wore a black wrap, trimmed with silver fox and lined with lavender silk. The Admiral wore the regulation frock coat, light trousers, and silk hat.
 After all, Cousin George has only followed the example of an other illustrious George, in neglecting Weller's advice to "beware of vidvers."
 Many entertainments are being planned by society for the happy couple, and unless they so wish, they need never partake of another meal at home.
 Now that the elections are over, members of Congress are flocking into town. The main topics under discussion are the gold standard crusade, and the Roberts case. Those Congressmen already here are simply being deluged with petitions against Roberts. The wife of Congressman Joy, of Missouri, has sent a letter dated from Washington to the wife of every member of the next house, asking each of them to use her influence with her husband to prevent the seating of Roberts. It is needless to say that the several Mrs. R's were omitted on this mailing list. Documents, resolutions, and petitions adverse to Roberts have been showered in until the pigeon-holes in the committee rooms of the Capitol are filled to bursting. One Congressman alone claims to have received over five thousand of these papers from individuals and organized bodies.
 When Congress meets, the fight is expected to wax very lively, and it looks just now as if Mr. Roberts will have to work to retain his seat.
 Early in the week President McKinley went to Canton, as is his usual custom; to vote. Following his return comes a strong report that Senator Hanna will have no hand in the campaign of 1900. Since the latter's recent talk about the harmless nature of trusts, the President has received many letters advising that his henchman had committed a grave blunder and had better be thrown over.
 Politicians on the inside say that the President will accept the inevitable. There are many things to give color to this report.
 Senator Hanna was backing Judge Paxson, of Pennsylvania, as Interstate Commerce Commissioner to succeed Mr. Callahan. Senator Cullom, however, secured the appointment of ex-Governor Fifer, of Illinois.
 This is claimed to be the first time that any of Senator Hanna's friends have been turned down. The President has also taken occasion to speak warmly of Senator Foraker, who, as everybody knows, was frozen out by Hanna. The large labor vote, too, that went to Mr. Jones in the late election might be expected to have some effect.
 Altogether, the report seems to be more than mere rumor. In case it is true, Chairman Dick, who managed Nash's campaign against McLean, is said to be

FATAL MISTAKE.
 A Doctor Who Was Poisoned by His Own Medicine.
 The Eastbourne police have just received information of an extraordinary fatality, of which the victim was Dr. John Dick. Mrs. Eliza Jane Geer, of Eastbourne, consulted the deceased at his surgery. He prescribed for her and made up a bottle of medicine which Mrs. Geer carried home. The next morning Mrs. Geer took a dose of the medicine and became so very ill that Dr. C. H. H. Cameron, of Old Town, was sent for and attended her.
 At about 1 p. m. the same day Dr. Dick called and Mrs. Geer informed him that the medicine he gave her had made her ill and that she believed it had poisoned her. The suggestion angered the deceased, who exclaimed, "You could understand a man who drinks poisoning people, but not a man who is always sober. It is only iron and biters, and to show you it is not poison I will take some myself."
 Deceased then put the bottle to his lips and drank some of the contents and then said: "It is nasty, but you should not think it poison. I will take some more before I go." This Dr. Dick did after some further conversation, and then rode away on his bicycle.
 He apparently proceeded direct to his home, whereupon his sister, Miss Kate Dick, opening the door to let him in she found him foaming at the mouth and fell against the door. He asked for the stomach pump, which he used with some effect, and he was afterward attended by two other doctors. It was at one time hoped that his life might have been saved, but he expired on Sunday.
 The contents of the bottle stated to have been given by the deceased to Mrs. Geer have been analyzed, and it is reported that they contain a large quantity of strychnine.—London Globe.

Going to Judgment.
 Speaking about the stars falling tonight, an old citizen said this morning "I recollect distinctly 66 years ago last night when the stars fell."
 The chickens crowed, the negroes were wild and thousands thought judgment day had come. An amusing incident in this connection, he said, was that of an old woman who lived on the lot. His family were looking out of the window at the wonderful phenomena when they spied the old woman coming through the lot to the house. In answer, to an inquiry as to where she was going she replied: "I am coming to join the family to go to judgment." One of the most ludicrous features was the fact that the old woman had a blanket in one hand and held a frying pan in the other.—Times-Visitor.

American Fish in Paris.
 The Scientific American appraises Americans who attend the Paris Exposition next year. that restaurants and hotels will contain on the bills of fare the various choice varieties of American fish fresh caught, and that it will be no sham either. It comes about this way. The national fish commissioners have been exchanging stocks of fish to the great advantage of Europe, for American fish stick and thrive in the European waters, and surpass in toothsome quality the native fish. America, however, has gained nothing by the exchange.
Reflections of a Grass widow.
 A wedding fee is not wholly wasted. It helps to support the preacher.
 Never throw a pair of old shoes after a bride. Save them and give them to her. She will need them some day.
 If you are faithful in sewing the buttons on your husband's trousers he will think you ought to be able to make your own bonnets.
 If you humbly ask your husband for money you spoil him. If you demand it he raises a fuss and wants to know if you think, by George, he is one of the Rothschilds.
 If your husband turns out to be the man you thought he was when you married him, and never gives you a cross word, don't tell any other wife about it. She will not believe you.

NO CURE NO PAY.
 That is the way all druggists sell Grove's Tasteless Chili Tonic for chills and malaria. It is simply Iron and Quinine in a tasteless form. Children love it. Adults refer to it as bitter, nauseating Tonic. Price, 50c.

B. F. LONG, JR. KILLED.
 The Chapel Hill Train Strikes Him While He Is Waiting for the Train Going to Raleigh—He Was Crushed Badly and Died From the Effects.
 A sad and horrible accident occurred at Chapel Hill station Thursday morning when Mr. B. F. Long, Jr., of Statesville, was struck by the Chapel Hill train while waiting for the train to arrive going to Raleigh.
 The train knocked him to the ground and dragged him some distance, but fortunately the wheels did not go over his body. When the cars were stopped he was fastened and could not be released for a considerable time. Before he could be released from under the car, suffering most intensely by the breaking of his right thigh, left arm, and collar bone, he begged most pitifully that he be killed rather than suffer such pain.
 All aid could not save his life and at 8 o'clock Thursday night he died at the Watts hospital at Durham. A gloom is cast over the body of students at the University by the loss of their mate, who was a bright and promising young man. His father reached his bedside before he died, but his mother did not reach there until about 2 o'clock that night.
 Brandon Means, who is attending school at Mebane, and the young man Long, had both been telegraphed by their fathers to come down to Raleigh, where Mr. Means and Mr. Long were attending supreme court. Brandon was present when the young man was taken from under the car. As a relief from his awful pains he begged Brandon to kill him.

Fire From Linseed Oil.
 The steamship, Patria, burned in the North Sea on Thursday. The remarkable part is that the fire was from the spontaneous combustion of linseed oil. We remember to have read a warning that a rag, with which linseed had been applied, dropped into shavings or other combustible matter is liable to ignite and produce a fire.
Seemed Like Prophecy.
 Major Logan said to a friend when he accepted his commission as major to serve in the Philippines, "If it is my fortune to lose my life in the war I hope it will be at the front, leading my troops." It was fulfilled as prophecy.
Missing Valise Sent to the Owner.
 About a week ago Mr. Wade Walter, of Concord, N. C., was at the Southern depot, passing through the city. He left his valise in the waiting room and when he went in to secure it prior to boarding his train, it was missing. He could not find it. Some one had carried it off through mistake. Officer Jackson, of the city police force, after Mr. Walter's departure found the valise, but had not ascertained his address until a few days ago, when he expressed the missing valise to Mr. Walter.—Spartanburg Herald.

Self Government by Degrees.
 It is but natural for the people of Cuba to want to govern themselves, and Congress stands pledged to grant them this privilege as soon as it can be done in justice to all interests involved. When the military shall be withdrawn cannot be now determined, for the good and sufficient reason that the Cubans themselves are not prepared to establish any form of native government. A census of the inhabitants is being taken, and this, when complete, will doubtless form the basis for the election of representatives to some sort of a constitutional assembly by which consideration of a form of government may be undertaken.
 While this subject is in attendance, however, the local municipal governments, organized under military supervision in Havana, Santiago and other Cuban cities, furnish safe experiments in self-government which may prove very useful in an educational sense. The Military Governors have established order and enforced sanitary regulations to a gratifying degree. Business is reviving, life and property are safe, the chief cities of Cuba are fast becoming as healthy places of residence as can be found anywhere within the tropics. Under these conditions, the gradual transfer of the duties of municipal civil government to intelligent officials of Cuban nativity is making satisfactory progress, and it ought not to be difficult in this way to extend in good time application of local self-government to the entire island.
 It will be well, however, to make haste slowly in this direction. Under a military protectorate the Cuban people are enjoying peace, safety and freedom from unjust exactions for the first time in many years. The maintenance of this condition will be conducive to a speedy restoration of industrial prosperity. The establishment of public schools in the centres of population will gradually decrease the illiteracy which, according to General Ludlow, includes 80 per cent. of the Cuban people. Until this cloud of ignorance is in some measure dispelled self-government in Cuba must be of a fragmentary nature, and there will be nothing lost to the Cubans themselves in the exercise of due patience in this important matter.—Philadelphia Times.
