Genius Results of Industry. There is probably such a thing as genius, although ninety-nine hundredths of it is doubtless the name which lazy people give to results which others have earned by hard work in those hours when the lazy people themselves were either sleeping or wishing they could gain it without toiling for it.—Selected.

A Life and Death Fight. Mr. W. A. Hines of Manchester, Ia., writes of his almost adroit escape from death, says: "Exposure after measles induced serious lung trouble, which ended in consumption. I had frequent hemorrhages and coughed night and day. All my doctors said I must die. Then I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, which completely cured me. Veterans at Wrightsville.

A Wilmington special of the 14th to the Charlotte Observer says: Every train arriving in the city today has brought scores of veterans of the Lost Cause to attend the reunion of Confederate veterans of North Carolina at Camp Aycock, on Wrightsville Sound. Many of the veterans brought their rations, and not a few wore the old caissons and haversacks they carried in their campaigns with the Army of Northern Virginia in 1861-65. Gen. Julian S. Carr is in camp with the veterans and is doing much to add to the comfort and pleasure of his old comrades. Gen. M. W. Ransom will be there in the morning and in the afternoon will address the veterans from the stand, where, ten years ago, he spoke to a similar gathering of veterans. Earthquake in Tennessee. Saeedville, Tenn., Aug. 13.—A heavy earthquake was felt two miles southeast of this place, along Clinch River. Much damage was done, but nobody was hurt. The phenomenon was felt in three decided shocks, the first and second about five minutes apart. The third shock, twelve minutes later, resulted in huge stones being torn up, and gigantic limestone cliff was split from top to bottom. Farmers' houses for two miles around were shaken up, and several were torn from their foundations. The first pronouncement of the earthquake came with one of the worst thunderstorms that has raged over this section.

NET WITH THE SCHOOL BOARD.

Citizens Take Lively Interest in Graded School Building—Shall It be One-Cent or Two or More—Committee of Six Appointed. In response to a call by the school board of the town a goodly number of the citizens came together Thursday night in the Mayor's hall to compare opinions and offer suggestions for the judicious appropriation of the proceeds of the bonds recently sold.

Mr. J. L. Crowell, while not unfavorable to one central school building, suggested the building of another house about the grove this side of Buffalo mill.

Mr. D. W. H. Lilly, stungly endorsed the idea of a second building. Mr. J. W. Cannon was equally strong in his preference to one central building. This idea met with favor, but while it seemed the sense of all that the present site is well located the lack of room was embarrassing.

Mr. W. G. Means suggested a committee to ascertain the size of the lot at the graded school and whether it could be enlarged by purchase of land. He favored a central building if the lot is sufficient.

Mr. D. B. Coltrane, the chairman of the board, informed inquirers that the present building could not in all probability be utilized in erecting a central building, though an architect would be employed for expert opinion before action shall be taken.

Mr. C. D. Robbins believed that factory children would attend school better if houses were built that would not necessitate their mingling with children of different styles of home life.

Mr. W. G. Means vigorously rebuffed the suggestion and by disparaging the idea that there is any difference to be recognized between one child and another.

Mr. Cannon endorsed the idea and said he insisted upon one central building on this very idea that there be no distinction between children.

In explanation of his building school houses at the mills at Albemarle he said it was not necessary and not from choice. The graded school building there is not capacious enough for the number of children.

VETERANS MEETING.

Re-Elected Old Officers—Listen to Speeches from Gen. Carr and Gen. Ransom—Break Camp. Wrightsville, N. C., Aug. 15.—The Confederate veterans of North Carolina had a great time today at Camp Aycock. Hundreds of people visited the camp and it was the principal day of the reunion. Nearly all the veterans left the camp tonight, and tomorrow will turn their faces homeward.

The encampment proved a great pleasure and happiness to the men who wore the grey, and every man of them enjoyed life around the camp fires once more, for each year calls many to the last roll-call. The annual meeting was held this morning and the old officers were re-elected, as follows:

Gen. Julian S. Carr, of Durham, Commander. Brigadier General Jno G. Hall, of Hickory, First Brigade. W. L. London, of Pittboro, Second Brigade.

James M. Ray, of Asheville, Third Brigade. P. M. Parker, of Enfield, Fourth Brigade.

The next annual meeting will be held in Greensboro August 20, 1902. General Carr delivered his annual address today. It was a complete synopsis of the deeds of North Carolina troops during the war. It was a fine historical sketch and will be published in pamphlet form.

A Charlotte special of the 14th to the News and Observer tells the following story: Jackson Christian, son of Mr. W. E. Christian, and grandson of Stonewall Jackson, proved yesterday again his soldier courage and spirit.

He was looking down a small rifle with which he had been target shooting, when the rifle went off. The ball struck the point of the nose and ploughed its way to a point just under the left eye, where it lodged.

The little fellow made no outcry. Mrs. Jackson, who was asleep in an adjoining room, knew nothing of the accident until a physician had extracted the ball and bandaged the wound. Young Christian telephoned for his grandmother but she was not allowed to get her afternoon nap.

GULF COAST STORM.

Almost a Repetition of 1898—Tidal Wave—Wires Down—People are Drowned and Shipping Injured. Our abundant rains here Thursday night were but the exhausted force of a storm along the Gulf coast that were close akin to the great storm of 1893 which destroyed so many thousands of lives.

Aberdeen Telegram: There have been some of the finest peaches shipped from this section this season that were ever grown in any part of the United States, and when we say this we do so advisedly, having seen very fine Georgia, Maryland, Delaware, New Jersey and California peaches, but in size, coloring and fine flavor, we have never seen the peaches grown in these sand hills of Moore county this year excelled.

One day last week Bart Beam drove into Muddy Fork Creek, not thinking it too full to cross. The creek is small but swift. When he reached the middle of the stream the carriage turned over and Mr. Beam could not drive out. His wife and four children were in the carriage. He grabbed his two year old child and hurried to the bank with him. Mrs. Beam was excited and saw no means of escape from drowning and screamed for Mr. Beam to bring the child back and all go down together. Mr. Beam got back to the carriage, parted the cover and took out Mrs. Beam and struggled to the bank with her, the other three children holding fast to her clothing.—Gastonia News.
