

A BATCH OF LOCAL NEWS.

Put in Shape By Our Hustling Fencil Pusher.
 ...begins Wednesday.
 The rate of taxation will remain at 22 cents.
 ...fruits, at Sims' & Alexander's.
 Lots of grip in Raleigh. Due, it is said, to bad air.
 This is the weather that makes the heart of man feel good.
 Tar Heel Minstrels Friday night. Lots of fun. Laugh and grow fat.
 Some snow is yet left, although we have had more than a week's sunshine.
 California peaches and apples dried, and choice canned goods, at Sims & Alexander's.
 A little child by the name of Layton in No. 9 was burned to death on Sunday.
 Do you want to buy any books, if we can save you 50 per cent. on publisher's prices. The Racket, f21 1/2t.
 The Charlotte skating rink is closed up. The sheriff wanted $40 and this is more than the fun justified.
 The Standard was the first paper in North Carolina to publish an account of the unfortunate shooting in Lexington.
 Why did you borrow your neighbor's paper? Don't you feel good since you have saved the small price of even one paper?
 Remnants of printed ducking, only 7 1/2c per yard. Percal 6 1/2c per yard. Red and black calico at 10c per yard.—The Racket. f30 4t.
 Dilworth, the place to which Charlotte is hanged, has had its first fire. The house of Mr. D M Rigler was burned Monday night.
 Mrs. J F McConnell, who for several years has lived on Spring street, has moved into the house of Mr. F V Barrier, on East Depot street.
 Printed Ducking remnants at 7 1/2 cents per yard. Percal remnants 6 1/2 cents. Shorter lengths 20 cts per pound. The Racket. f21 6t.
 A wagon passed through the streets this morning, the body of which was on six wheels and the bed contained nine other wheels that were not running.
 Tar Heel Minstrels Friday night. Benefit Brass Band. Tickets 25 and 50 cents. On sale at Gibson's Drug store. Don't fail to see the great negro specialties. f26 4t.
 Mr. Monroe Dove got to town today (Tuesday), the first time in three weeks. He's one of those men that makes this work pleasant. We like all such friends as is Mr. Dove.
 John Goodman is carrying his working hand tied up in a rag. This is the fun he had at the skating rink Monday night. That's alright; you can't down our typographical artist.
LOST—Lady's gold watch charm, between Corl's stable, the St. Cloud and R W Bigger's residence on South Main street. Finder will be rewarded by delivering same to Mr. J E Burton, at Corl's stables.
 Work has begun on the new Parochial School building for Grace colored Lutheran church on Corbin street. Mr. H C McAllister, of Mt. Pleasant, is now doing the brick work. Mr. G R P Miller has the contract.
 Plum Levi, a well known barber, died at Asheville on Monday of paralysis. He was 63 years old, a native of Virginia, and was given almost a national reputation by Billings, who frequently referred to him in his syndicate letters.

THE RUSH OF HUMANITY.

People Who Travel, As Seen by Our Reporter.
 —Mr. Jno. Correll, of Albemarle, is in the city.
 —Mr. S P Holloway, of Richmond, is again in the city.
 —Mr. T J Rowland, of Statesville, spent Tuesday in the city.
 —Mr. Geo. Baker, one of the pleasantest little drummers on the road, is in the city.
 —Miss Ella Ridenhour, of St. John's, is visiting her brother, Mr. R E Ridenhour.
 —Mr. R M White, of Charlotte, is spending several days in the city at his son-in-law's, Mr. Elam King.
Tar Heel Minstrels Friday night. Watch for street parade. f26 4t.
 Quite a number of people were in town today.
 Four pound feather pillows, 50c each.—The Racket. f20 6t.
 Lent will put a stop to some of the pleasures. It lasts forty days and forty nights.
 The prettiest line of Hamburg ever shown at The Racket. f21 6t.
 Hyacinths are in bloom, and those in the window at York's Jewelry Store are pretty.
 If you expect to buy any embroidery this season you should see our line of new patterns and new prices. The Racket. f21 4t.
 The Standard saw with pleasure its good friend, Mr. George Shinn, of Georgeville. He spent a day in town and was as busy as a bee.
 You should see our beautiful line of Hamburg Embroidery before buying or you will regret it. The Racket. f21 6t.
 Those large maple butts hauled through the streets by the Odell teams were for the purpose of making the large rollers used at the bleachery.
 Mr. C F Ritchie made just what the Standard said he would—a hustling assignee. It didn't take him long to wind up the Lowe affair and put it on its feet and satisfy all parties.
 Mr. A B Kelly, one of the two machinists who put in the spinning frames at the Cabarrus Mills, has gone to Wilmington, where he will be engaged for some time before returning to Lowell, Mass., his home.
 Many people in Concord will sympathize with her in her grief over the unfortunate affair in which her husband has placed himself. The wife of Mr. Shemwell is a daughter of Rev. Chas. Bernheim, once a citizen of Concord.
 The Standard has been highly complimented by a number of subscribers for the manner in which it got up on its hind legs Monday and published the news when news was news. We have had no compliments from borrowers and deadbeats. No, No!

The road from the rise of the hill beyond Little Cold Water creek, on the Mt. Pleasant road, is simply a Douglasite of the worse kind. It is not only fusion, but confusion. The mud is axle deep for two hundred yards. When there is a complete thaw, it can not be measured.
 Yesterday while a little son of Senator Moody was sliding down the banisters of the capitol he had a fall that may result seriously. He lost his hold and fell about 15 feet, striking on his head and arms, crushing his forehead, nearly knocking out an eye, breaking one arm and injuring a finger. There is great sympathy with Senator Moody and the unfortunate boy.
