DUKE CIGARETTES

Clear Creek Items
Crops want just a "leettle" more rain.

A few farmers have threshed wheat around here and we learn that the yield is just tolerable.

Wherry Alexander was thrown from a mule a few days ago and almost killed, but we are glad to know that he is rapidly recovering from his injuries and will soon be himself again. Wherry is a remarkably good boy and deserves better treatment, even though it be from the heels of a mule.

On Saturday Mr. Thomas Mchachan's wife fell suddenly to the floor and lay for some time apparently dead; two physicians were summoned with all possible haste and up to this writing she is still lingering between life and death with little or no hopes of recovery.

Bethel church is having a series of Bible readings—this is quite a departure from the usual custom of country churches and was instituted by Rev. Mr. Bryant, the pastor. Bethel people have every reason to be proud of their pastor as he is an affable, scholarly, devout, and extremely intellectual man.

Rev. A C Davis passed through on his way to Cold Water Baptist church last Saturday where he preaches once a month. He lives at Unionville which place is twenty five miles from this appointment—surely it is a strong man that can endure such a hardship as going by private conveyance this long and rough distance every month to preach.

Bill Tally has a renter, Bill Taylor, whom he furnished a horse and feed to make a crop. Tally has accused Taylor of misappropriating the feed that he sends to Taylor to feed the horse upon and has entered suit against him. We learn that the trial will be Wednesday the 10th inst. at Clay's school house. The case will come up before Justices Cook, Black, McEachern, Newell and Klantz. The case being a rather novel one with so many of the legal fraternity connected with it seems to have awakened a great interest in the community.

The State Has Been Offering Rebuttal Testimony—The Trial Moving on Slowly.

Special to The Standard.
Lexington, N. C., July 10, 1895.—The defense rested its case about 3 o'clock yesterday, and since then the State continues to offer rebuttal testimony, much of which has already been given.

At the slow rate now going on, the trial cannot be finished this week, as has all the time been expected.

Prize School Composition.

"The horse has 4 legs—one on each corner," was the composition of a schoolboy. But a Pennsylvania boy has capped the climax with the following on "The Mule."

"The mule has four legs—two in front, and two behind; but if a mule ever kicks you, you'll think he had forty, though in most cases you ain't well enough to think after he let's his legs fly."—Atlanta Constitution.

New Tickets on the Southern.

A Concord lady having a ticket for ice cream at a recent lawn party in Concord and not being able to use it dropped it in her purse. In going to Charlotte, she handed instead of the railroad ticket the ice cream ticket to the conductor, which he punched and stuck down in his blue coat pocket. The mistake, however, was discovered in time to prevent the conductor from calling for his ice cream.

The Newspaper Composer.

The newspaper compositor has been a more important and influential factor in our life than most people are aware of, says the Boston Transcript.

Always an alert and generally an intelligent person, always in a way to see and observe what is going on in the thinking, talking and writing world, commonly an omniverous reader and in a considerable degree a person behind the scenes on the world's stage of intellectual activity, the newspaper compositor is, when combined with his fellows, the knowing sort of man who has to be counted with.

He is generally a liberal, independent fellow, too. His employment conduces to an acquirement of the talking gift, and thus and the wide information that he is able to pick up make him a power among organized workmen.

Further than that, editors and writers generally, keep up a sort of communication with the typesetters and get a good many ideas from them. Generally you can hear more shary and really clever things in a newspaper composing room in a moment of relaxation than you can in a social club, especially if it is a club of high degree.

The ranks of newspaper writers are still recruited in a considerable degree from the composing room. Editors are well aware how valuable a good printer's habits of readiness, close scrutiny and accuracy in small things are in a reporter or desk editor; other things being equal, it is always a recommendation to an applicant for a newspaper position to be a practical printer. Everybody knows that a great lot of journalists and authors have begun their career at the printer's case. All these things have helped the prestige of the compositor's art.

Quite a large number of our citizens will go up as far as Lexington

DUCKS ON THE LAWN.

Miss Beach Entertained Tuesday Night—A Delightful Affair.

The beautiful lawn at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E C Beach, on South Main street, was illuminated with variegation and the quacking of the young gentlemen in their "white ducks" and the merry chatter of the lovely young women in their garments of white was heard until a late hour Tuesday night. The night was suited to the occasion, and from outward appearances each heart was light. The following young ladies and gentlemen composed the party, given in honor of Miss Slocum, Miss Beach's guest: Misses Fannie Rogers, Kate Means, Belle Means, Agnes Moos, Elizabeth Gibson, Kate Gibson, Fannie Hill, Jamie Ervin, Mamie Norris, Ethel Norris, Lucy Montgomery, Sadie Bencini, Maude Brown, Mabel Means, Lena Fetzer and Messrs. Robert Kessler, Ed. Moss, Parks King, Maury Richmond, John Smithdeal, Luther Brown, Bennie Craven, Jim Young, C R Montgomery, Morrison Fetzer, Chas. Montgomery, Earle Brown, Frank Cannon, Joe Neen, Louis Brown, Louis Brown, Louis Smith.

Couldn't Stop Them.

Sidewalk bicycle riding was one of the main questions discussed before the board of aldermen Tuesday night. An amendment was offered to the present ordinance to impose a fine on any person who might run against another not less than $10, but was lost. It was then tried to prohibit riding on the sidewalks altogether, but this motion was lost by a vote of 4 to 3.

As it now stands the boys have the monopoly of the sidewalks. They seldom ring a bell and few, if any, have lanterns after dark. The law should be enforced, and every man should be made ring his bell.

Just Think Of It.

How many of our people realize how much building is going on in this city and how many know that there is not enough dwelling houses for the demand? There are four houses being built at the Cabarrus mills; there are five new ones going up at Forest Hill; there will be several built at the new roller mill; there will be twenty new ones built at the Cannon mills; there will be eighteen built at the Buffalo Thread mill, besides many new ones under course of construction in the heart of the city. In all there are or will be fifty houses built within the next few months. At an average of four to a family, the city's population will be increased by 200. And thus we prosper.

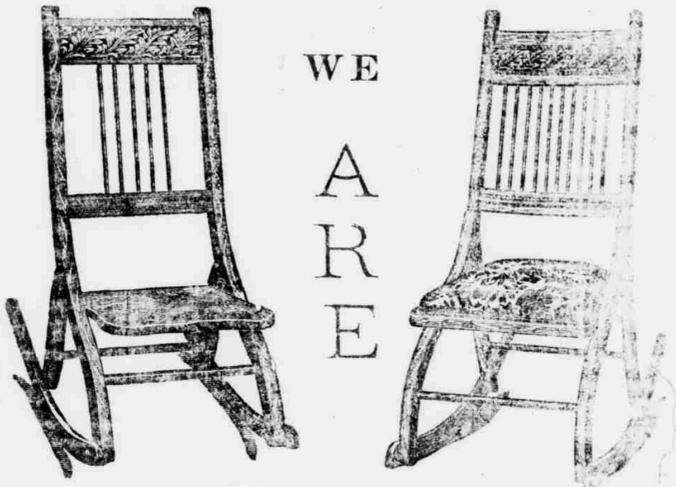

Mrs. Swink Dead.

Mrs. Katie Swink died [at her home on Lee street, next to the Rowan House, about noon today. Mrs. Swink was over 80 years old and leaves seven children.—Tuesday's Salisbury Herald.

Mrs. Swink was the mother of our townsman, Mr. George Swink, who has been at his mother's bedside for several weeks expecting the summons to come at any time.

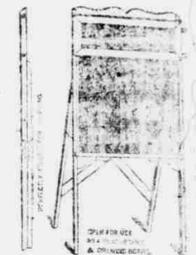

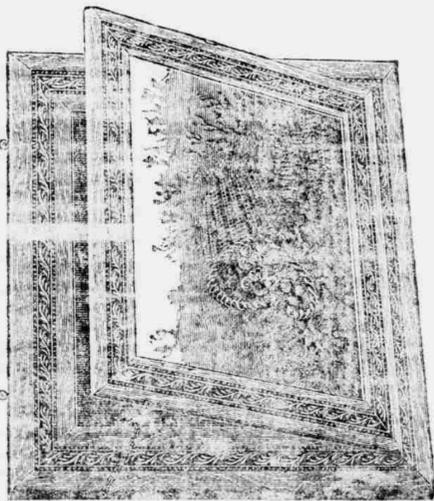

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she began to Walk, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.
