Another Damage Suit.
It will be remembered that some months ago Mr. Columbus F Simpson was plugged with a number of pistol balls, because he persisted in throwing rocks at Mr. Richard Yandle. The latter, it is said, succeeded in putting quite a number of bullet holes in Columbus' hide. But there had been no trouble till the cider season opened.

At his very first cider drinking spree Columbus found that something was the matter with himself. It was bad wrong too.

It came about in this way. Columbus sat down to the cider barrel with his drinking vessel, a half gallon cup, in hand. Eagerly dashing off its contents twice, he stopped for breath, and to experience that delightful feeling which always came to him after drinking a gallon of cider. "That's funny," he thought, "I generally feel like I've had a drop when I take that much." He took two more pulls, but strange to say, felt as empty as before. Quickly rushing down six more half gallons he again stopped to investigate, all the time feeling as if he had taken none. What was his horror to find that he had lost every bit of the cider! It had run out through the many bullet holes in his skin, which had never become water tight!

Alas for poor Lum, his cider drinking capacity was gone, he could now only drink a quart or such a matter like other people. He could no longer toss off two or three gallons at the time, because it would run out through the bullet perforations in the upper part of his body. And that is why he has sued Mr. Yandle for damages. — Monroe Journal.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."
