LOWE & SON.

Fell Off a Chair Dead.
Robert Ramseur, the colored porter for E M Andrews, dropped dead last night about 8:30 o'clock at Mr. R M White's on East Trade street. Mrs. White had sent an order to Andrews for a mosquito net to go over Mr. W C White's bed, as the mosquitoes had been troubling him at night. The net and fixtures were sent down by Ramseur, as he was in the habit of doing that kind of work. There were in the room besides Mr. White, his mother, Mrs. White, R P King and a negro man named Eli Parks. Ramseur placed a chair by Mr. White's bed and got up on it, raising the net with him. After a few minutes he got down for something and then stepped back on the chair. He had not been there the second time more than a minute when he fell backward, his head striking the floor. Mr. King and Parks ran to him and raised his head, thinking he had been hurt by the fall. They saw that the man was dying, and carried him as quickly as possible out of the room. He was dead, however, before he reached the hall. He was apparently in perfect health when he mounted the chair, and as the chair was braced against the wall, there was no way for it to tilt, causing him to lose his balance. It is supposed he was seized with heart failure, as he was dying as he fell. Was feared the shock might unnerve Mr. White, who is still very weak, but he stood it well.—Charlotte Observer.

SMALL KNOCKED OUT.
The South Carolina Convention Could Not Stand it—Adjournment Until the 12th.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Oct. 3.—When the constitutional convention was called to order this morning an effort was made to limit all speeches in the future to ten minutes, but it failed.

The section on police and municipal corporation was amended on motion of Mr. Patton, of Richland, after a sharp fight, so that for five successive years from the time of their establishment, municipal corporations can exempt all manufacturing establishments from taxation.

Last night when section 34 of the legislative article reading "the marriage of a white person with a negro or mulatto or person who shall have any negro blood, shall be unlawful and void," was called up, Delegate Robert Small presented a sensational amendment to add these words: "And that any white person who lives and cohabites with a negro or mulatto, or person who shall have one-eighth or more of negro blood, shall be disqualified from holding any office of emolument or trust in this State, and the offspring of cohabitation shall bare the name of the father, and shall be entitled to inherit and acquire property the same as if they were legitimate."

After an all day battle this amendment was killed and the original section was adopted, with this amendment by Senator Tillman: "And the parties to such marriages shall be punished as the General Assembly may prescribe."

The only important action of the convention tonight was agreeing to a resolution offered by Senator Tillman, that when the convention adjourns tomorrow it take a recess until noon on Tuesday, October 12. This was adopted by a vote of 83 to 38. The reason given for taking recess were that a number of the members were sick; a number of lawyers would absent themselves for salesday whether they were excused or not and that the business of many farmers at this particular time demanded their presence at home. The convention devoted the remainder of the night session to hearing arguments for and against eliminating the right of dower in any and all lands aliened by the husband during the coverture.

Successful Preaching.
A correspondent of the Monroe Enquirer writes about a gentleman, who several years ago was pastor of the M. E. church at Mt. Pleasant: "Rev. T T Salyer, of the Pleasant Grove circuit, has just closed a very interesting and successful meeting at Wesley Chapel, which resulted in the conversion of twenty persons and eight accessions to the church and two infants dedicated to God by baptism, and the church greatly revived. This making 106 conversions for him this year, up to date, and baptism administered to sixty-two children, and many more yet to be brought into the fold before the Conference year closes."

No Change in Gen. Mahone.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 4.—There has been no change in ex-Senator Mahone's condition up to 1 o'clock this morning. The attending physicians have failed to notice any improvement, and hold out no hope.

Filling the Wells and Springs.

It is a pretty tough tale that comes here from dear old Stanly, but what Mr. U S Crayton, of Charlotte, who has been down there visiting his brother Conrod, says, one would infer that new brandy had been substituted for water for drinking purposes. He says: "I'll tell you, people, some folks down there have made such a quantity of brandy this year until even the springs and wells are all being filled."

Probably the drought, though, has caused the wells and springs to run dry, and the "folks" have been forced to this as a resort.

Her Location.

Not one map out of ten thousand is correct. A map of North Carolina on exhibit at Atlanta has Charlotte between Salisbury and Greensboro. That's alright, though, for Charlotte can be anywhere her suburbs are. You see. The map maker has heard of Charlotte all up and down the Southern, and he thought to hit the railroad anywhere, the location would be a small matter.

Lassy Cane 15 Feet High.

Mr. S M Heglar, of No. 1, brought in sample molasses cane raised by him.

He has 7 of an acre, ordinary ground, and the cane is 15 feet high. It is a variety the seed of which came from South Carolina.

Mr. Heglar was fearful that the frost had damaged it but he finds, upon examination, that it is not the least bit hurt.
