CONCORD, OCT. 23, 1895.

The Asheville Citizen congratulates the people that Richmond Pearson has at last come out in open stand with the Republican party. It occurs to us that Pearson's announcement is somewhat belated in making its appearance. There was no bitterer enemy of Democracy or more violent partisan eight years ago than this selfsame Richmond Pearson. In the legislature controlled by the Independent element he stood squarely opposed to anything that had the least suspicion of Democracy about it. And ever since he has antagonized every suggestion of Democracy. His money and not ability has elevated him to his present position and we will not miss him.

It is said by Mr. Leszer, superintendent of the penitentiary, that thus far the drought has done no damage in the east; in other words, that it has caused crops to mature which otherwise would not have ripened, and that all the crops have been saved in the best possible condition. The grade of cotton is the highest ever known. In the western part of the State the drought is causing some hardship by preventing the seeding of grain.

The Manufacturer, of Philadelphia, of 12th, says this: "Bimetallism is no novelty. It is 4,000 years old. Gold monometallism is not yet 90 years old; in this country not 25 years old. Bimetallism for centuries was a triumphant success. If we may judge by the conditions prevailing in the treasury at Washington, gold monometallism is a failure."

In compliance with the demands of England the Chinese authorities have agreed to chop off the heads of eighteen more Chinamen who are supposed to have had a hand in the murder of missionaries. As a fellow may be beheaded by proxy in that country this isn't such a serious matter as it looks to be, provided the to-be-headed has cash enough to hire a substitute.

George Liddell, a sailor from the British ship Arion, was found by some negroes in a swamp near Wilmington. He was up to his neck in water, was crazy, half starved, and torn badly by thorns and briars. For two weeks, while insane, he had thus wandered. He is being well looked after, and will be sent back to his home in Hartlepool, Eng.

Mrs. Coles, of Washington, Pa., has recovered $600 damages from her neighbors, who have been persecuting her under the impression that she is a witch. The people stoned her and drove her away from her home. Mrs. Coles should look out. When a witch has the law on her side her life is in danger.

Gov. O Ferrall, of Virginia passed through Concord Monday. It's a source of regret that the train did not stop to enable him to pluck a few zephyrs, snatch down a star or two and picture an "irrescendent dream." The Governor can do all this in a ten minutes' speech and not half try.

The management of the Salisbury telephone system has issued an iron-clad threat against its patrons cussing through the phones. Inasmuch as this is a direct blow at the freedom of the Salisbury press, we may expect that power to raise a howl against this tyranny.

One of the largest sailing vessels afloat is now in port at Philadelphia, the four-masted British ship Liverpool. She registers 3,330 tons, is built of steel, measures 333 1/2 feet in length, 57 1/2 feet in width, with a depth of hold of 26 1/2 feet. She takes out a cargo of petroleum for Japan.

The will of M Pasteur, according to Paris papers, reads as follows: "This is my testament. I leave to my wife all that the law allows me to leave her. May my children never depart from the path of duty, and always have for their mother that love which she deserves."

All women are not dreams, although all dreams are supposed to go by contraries.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

The people of Algiers, La., suffered from a $400,000 fire Sunday.

Yesterday was Connecticut day at the Atlanta Exposition. Governor Coffin and party and the historic Governor's Foot Guard were in the festivities.

The Rouss Confederate Memorial Hall committee held a day and night sitting at Atlanta yesterday. A daughter of General Pike spoke for Washington. No decision was reached. A recommendation will be made later.

Richard Britton, city marshal, and V C Metzger, a merchant, got into an altercation about some trivial matter at Uniontown, Ala., yesterday. Pistols were drawn and fired and Britton was dangerously and Metzger slightly wounded.

Twenty Cubans leaving New York on the steamer Delaware have landed Inagua, Bahamas, and the Spanish authorities have had an English gunboat sent to arrest them. Corrallo and Bena, two of the leaders released at Wilmington, Del., are being closely watched to prevent their landing.

Counterfeit Bill.

The Secret Service Division of the Treasury Department has discovered the existence of a counterfeit $10 silver certificate of the series of 1891, check letter "D," bearing the portrait of the late Hon. Thomas A Hendricks. The counterfeit is apparently printed from an etched plate of fair workmanship and the general appearance of the note is very deceptive. The note has been "doctored" to give it an aged appearance.

UNTOLD MISERY FROM RHEUMATISM
C. H. King, Water Valley, Miss., cured by Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"For five years, I suffered untold misery from muscular rheumatism. I tried every known remedy, consulted the best physicians, visited Hot Springs, Ark., three times, spending $1000 there, besides doctors' bills; but could obtain only temporary relief. My flesh was wasted away so that I weighed only ninety-three pounds; my left arm and leg were drawn out of shape, the muscles being wisted up in knots. I was unable to dress myself, except with assistance, and could only hobble about by using a cane. I had no appetite, and was assured, by the doctors, that I could not live. The pains, at times, were so awful, that I could procure relief only by means of hypodermic injections of morphia. I had my limbs bandaged in clay, in sulphur, in poultices; but these gave only temporary relief. After trying everything, and suffering the most awful tortures, I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Inside of two months, I was able to walk without a cane. In three months, my limbs began to strengthen, and in the course of a year, I was cured. My weight has increased to 165 pounds, and I am now able to do my full day's work as a railroad blacksmith."
