IN FAVOR OF DEMOCRATS.

Judge Coble Hands Down His Decision in the Penitentiary Case.

Judge Coble in the Superior Court Friday announced his decision in the penitentiary case. The quo warranto proceedings in the Superior Court two weeks ago will be remembered. H C Dockery, J T B Hoover, Meyer Hahn, T E McKaskey, Bryan of Chatham, J A Cheek, H B Parks and E F Wakefield, the directors elected by the Fusion Legislature, sued for possession of the State Penitentiary.

Messrs. McRae, Day and Whitaker argued the case for the plaintiffs, and Messrs. Shepherd and Busbee for the defendant.

Judge Coble yesterday answered the first issue in the case: "Were the plaintiffs or any of them, if so which, legally elected to the office of director in the State Penitentiary?" His answer was, "No."

The judgment will be rendered today. The defendants will at once take an appeal to the Supreme Court.

Conglomeration Etc.

Doctor: "Now, Tommie, will you promise me to take your medicine like a man?" Tommie: "No, sir; when a man takes medicine he makes a bad face and swears."

Why does the letter R hold an enviable position? Because it is never found in sin, but always in temperance, industry, virtue and prosperity. It is the beginning of religion, and the end of war.

Jack Dashing: "At what age does the Chicago girl marry?" Miss Pans: "Hard to say. She usually begins at eighteen."

The longest word in the Century Dictionary is palatopharyngeolaryngeal. The next longest is transubstantiationist.

Skipped by the Light of the Moon.

Salisbury World: Ed. Goodman, of Cabarrus county, the base deceiver who some time ago fooled Fannie Newsom, of this county, into marrying him, has skipped the country and gone to Texas. He was afraid of being prosecuted by Mr. Newsom. Mr. Newsom tells us his daughter's mind is still unbalanced and it is feared she will never recover.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Yost, after spending a week in the city returned to Greensboro this morning.

YANCY DOWNED HIS MAN.

But it Took Six Shots to Hit an Office Robber "Dummy."

In the dead of night six pistol shots rang out in rapid succession in the postoffice building, and the sounding echoes of the reports stopped the few pedestrians and gave them food for excited thought. Inside the building night clerk T B Yancey, Jr., thought that he was fighting a bloody duel with a bold, bad robber. But when, at the sixth shot, the "man" fell to the floor, he discovered that he had been made the victim of a practical joke by his fellow clerks, one or some of whom had prepared for him a nerve-racking surprise in the form of a dummy burglar.

Mr. Yancey is very reticent this morning, and no one knows the exact particulars of the encounter. At any rate he was startled last night when he saw in the deep gloom in front of the vault, the form of a man. The hand was raised as though he had been surprised; and over the head was a big black mask.

To say that Mr. Yancey was surprised would be stating very mildly a very severe form of nervous excitement. It was enough to make the pulse go faster, too; for there he stood, alone in a big building; and, halted there surprised, stood a burglar, big and brawny; and burglars are sometimes desperate.

But Mr. Yancey never flinched. Quick as thought he had out the larger of two pistols. He pulled the trigger, but when the smoke cleared from his eyes, he thought he saw the burglar step back. He had missed! Now would come the robbers turn.

Five times did Mr. Yancey pull the trigger; but when the last ball was gone, the robber was still there. So he reached for the other weapon; and at the first shot the man fell; all was quiet, and when Mr. Yancey went to examine his dead, he found out the hoax.

The balls of the larger pistol had been extracted and the first five shots were made with blank cartridges. This speaks well for Mr. Yancey's nerve, for he killed the robber with his first bullet.

The postoffice people today say, "hush!"—Raleigh Press-Visitor.

Passed Away in the Green Pasture.

For about a week an old gray horse that bore the appearance of having come out of the wilderness, has been feasting in the green pasture, the court house lot, and seemed to be thriving and picking up in flesh until Saturday night when it reached the north side of the court house a gush of wind struck the animal, knocking it helpless upon the ground where it gave up the ghost some time during the night. Its remains were taken to horse cemetery near the Three Mile branch this morning, where they were laid to rest.

Four Issued Saturday.

Register of Deeds Weddington is kept very busy these times issuing marriage license. Between 4 and 6 o'clock Saturday afternoon he filled four orders, three for white and one for colored couples. The whites were: Charlie Craishaw, Esther R Fink; Robert A Hudson, Alice Blackwelder; Levi H Hatley, Virginia E Martin.

Christmas goods are arriving every day—merchants should do their advertising now, through the STANDARD.

'SQUIRE COLEMAN PULLED THE SHERIFF.

He Was the Only Man Who Got the President to Register While He was at the Exposition.

Warren C Coleman, chief of the North Carolina committee of the colored department at the Atlanta Exposition, is anxious to have a large delegation at the Exposition on the colored folk's day Nov. 11.

He has been in Raleigh this week attending the fair, and tells with great pleasure, of his success in getting President's autograph on the register of the North Carolina department of the exposition. "It was the only place," added Coleman, "where the President registered while he was in Atlanta."

A North Carolina man, white or colored, is hard to beat.—Raleigh Observer.

In Precarious Condition.

Mr. W I Underwood, formerly of Concord, has been extremely ill in Greensboro, and Saturday's Record says:

It's too bad. W I Underwood, who was reported so much better yesterday, had a chill this morning and is now in a precarious condition.

Will We Get Them?

That the city greatly needs the additional water plugs is a well established fact, but just how we are to get them is the part that confronts the commissioners on this move, and to issue script is about the only available way in which they can be secured until the legislature convenes again, when we can appeal to that body for the privilege of issuing bonds. To place the five plugs, one at Mrs. Wagoner's and one at M W Johnston's on North Main street, one at A G Best's on East Depot street and one at G W Brown's on South Main street, would cost the city in the neighborhood of $1 600, in addition to an extra $200 per annum rent for the use thereof. The committee was out reviewing the situations as THE STANDARD prints them this afternoon, preparing their report to the board tomorrow night, when the matter will be thoroughly investigated and discussed.

Nine Figures for 111 years.

The figure 9, which came into the calander on January 1 1889, will stay with us 111 years from that date, or until December 31, 1999. No other figure has ever had such a long consecutive run, and the 9 itself has only once before been in a race which lasted over a century—that in which it continuously figured from January 1, 889, until December 31, 999, a period of 111 years. The figures 3 and 7 occasionally fall into odd combinations but neither of them has ever yet served for a longer period than 100 consecutive years in our calendar since the present mode of calculating time was established. It is also clear that from their relative position among the numerals it is an impossibility for either of them to appear in date reckonings continuously for a longer period than a century.
