REPUBLICAN FACTIONAL PROGRAM.

The Washington News states that a majority of the Republican members of congress who had reached the national capital up to Saturday last have announced it to be their purpose to send the president a bill to increase revenues by increasing duties, as the complete cure for all treasury evils. Seeking to postpone their own days of party dissension, they declare that the treasury's difficulties proceed from insufficient revenues and have nothing to do with the currency.

The exact meaning of this is that they will compel the president either to consent to a restoration of the McKinley or other high protective duties, or to resort to additional loans to replenish the treasury with gold; then they will continue through next year their denunciation of the administration's increase of the bonded debt.

Under the existing laws—laws passed under the Republican administrations—the president will have no alternative but to authorize an additional bond issue, if the needs of the treasury should require more gold, and if the Republican congress refuses to do anything for its relief. Even if an increase of the protective duties should cause a material increase of the revenue, it cannot be made available in time to supply an early deficiency of gold.

Under present laws the customs may be paid in greenbacks, and this would not supply gold. But there is no assurance whatever that an increase of protective duties will increase the revenue from that source. The main object of such duties is to diminish importations by shutting out foreign competition. This was the avowed object of the McKinley act, and it will be the purpose and the effect of a restoration of the McKinley act, and it will be the purpose and the effect of a restoration of the McKinley duties.

The course of the Republican congress, outlined above, will be one of faction. It will endanger the national credit for the sake of party advantage. But we trust that the people have discernment enough to see the shallow artifice, and spirit enough to rebuke it as it deserves.

SUPERIOR WORK IT IS.

THE STANDARD can not let the opportunity pass without paying a well deserved notice to the Cotton Mill edition of the Raleigh News and Observer, on the 28th.

It is a superior newspaper work, the equal of which has never been reached before in North Carolina journalism. Thirty-six well-filled pages of readable matter, splendidly illustrated with cuts of men and cotton mills distinctively North Carolina, is what the Thanksgiving edition of the Raleigh News and Observer is.

Mr. Josephus Daniels and his able assistants have made of the News and Observer a leading daily journal of the State; always well filled with choice matter, full telegraphic service, State news and public topics treated in the most entertaining style, is a slight pen picture of the News and Observer.

The management occasionally springs an extra edition on its readers, making the full measure run over all around the rims.

THE STANDARD takes great pleasure in noting this superb piece of work in behalf of the old North State and wishes for the progressive men behind this excellent paper all the substantial encouragement and moral endorsement they so richly deserve.

Here's to the News and Observer, its men, its patrons—long life of great usefulness to ye!

UNCONSTITUTIONAL THANKSGIVING.

Now that North Carolinians have observed Thanksgiving, we may, without danger of causing a miscarriage of thanks on the day set, call attention to the Asheville Citizens' suggestion that Governor Carr's proclamation for Thanksgiving, because it was signed by his private secretary and not by the Secretary of the State, was not legal and in due form. We all can imagine what a blank day Thanksgiving would have been had the Citizen as large a circulation over the State as it has in Asheville. Throwing around the recent proclamation a shadow of constitutional doubt, it would have been utterly impossible to get other people to observe the day. The escape is miraculous. Now that danger is passed, let us ask is it necessary for the Secretary of the State to sign the proclamation? Or if the Governor failed to proclaim at all, would he be liable to impeachment?

AYER'S PILLS

"I would like to add my testimony to that of others who have used Ayer's Pills, and to say that I have taken them for many years, and always derived the best results from their use. For stomach and liver troubles, and for the cure of headache caused by these derangements, Ayer's Pills cannot be equaled.

When my friends ask me what is the best remedy for disorders of the stomach, liver, or bowels, my invariable answer is, Ayer's Pills. Taken in season, they will break up a cold, prevent la grippe, check fever, and regulate the digestive organs. They are easy to take, and, indeed, the best all-round family medicine I have ever known.—MRS. MAY JOHNSON, 368 Rider Avenue, New York City.
