Cabarrus Furnishes the Groom Row-an the Bride.

Messrs. Jas. A. Dayvault, Charlie Wagoner, M. L. Smoot and Mr. Albea came up from Concord Wednesday night and left yesterday morning bright and early for the home of Esq. J. A. Guffy, at Omega.

Last night they returned to Concord but a lady had been added to the party.

Mr. Dayvault and Miss Roxie Guffy were yesterday united in the holy bonds of wedlock by Rev. J. F. Smoot. The bride is very popular with her associates and takes with her to her new home the congratulations and best wishes of all. The young couple will make their home in Concord.—Salisbury World.

Football Rage.

It is on now—the football rage. Messrs R. L. Keesler and Q. E. Smith have finished laying off the ground below the graded school building and the boys of both the graded and the high schools have purchased their equipments. Within only a short while we will have a match that may interest the enthusiasts.

Rake Fork Through His Foot.

Master Genie Brown is an intense sufferer, caused by stepping upon a rake fork that ran through his foot. It occurred on Wednesday evening while he, with several other children, was at play underneath the residence of his father, Mr. A. M. Brown, on Main street. The prong that penetrated his foot was a rusty one, but no serious danger is feared.

In the Mouth.

Thursday afternoon while the hunters were shooting birds on the plantation of Mr. George Goodman, in No. 3 township, a colored man that was anxious to witness the shooting appeared behind one of the number just as the dog had pointed. When the birds were flushed one flew directly behind one man with a gun, who emptied a load of bird shot into the unfortunate negro's mouth. He was not seriously hurt.

What Was It?

Early this morning two balls of fire were seen travelling in a northerly direction over Salisbury. Sometimes one of them would ascend high in the air and take on the appearance of a twinkling star while the other travelled near the ground.—Salisbury World.

For the past two mornings scenes similar to the above have been witnessed by early risers of this city in the aerial regions of the Northeast and have caused a considerable stir among the superstitious who are wrapped up in the teachings of the Good Book that there will be many signs and wonders in the heavens before the end of time. As the World queries, so do we—what was it?

The Ideal Panacea.

James L. Francis, Alderman, Chicago, says: "I regard Dr. King's New Discovery as a Ideal Panacea for Coughs, Colds and Lung Complaints, having used it in my family for the last five years, to the exclusion of physician's prescriptions or other preparations."

Rev. John Burgus, Keokuk, Iowa, writes: "I have been a Minister of the Methodist Episcopal Church for 50 years or more, and have never found anything so beneficial, or that gave me such speedy relief as Dr. King's New Discovery." Try this Ideal Cough Remedy now. Trial Bottles Free at Fetzer's Drug Store.

The Landmark Notes the Colonel's Death.

The Statesville Landmark notes the death of Col. Long in the following terms:

"Colonel James W. Long died at his home in Concord Saturday, aged 73. He lived alone, his wife having died in 1884. In 1888 he was elected to the Legislature from Cabarrus. His candidacy was a joke, but his election was not. He served only one term. He was court crier, auctioneer, etc., about Concord and was a kindly old man."

The Result of It.

T. J. W. Brown ("Doc" everybody calls him) is in the insurance business now. Last week Doc was plying his trade in the country when he met H. L. M. Agner, the teacher at Fricks school house, and tried to sell him a policy. Agner questioned the benefit of holding one and challenged Doc to a public discussion of the following question: "Does it pay every man to carry insurance?" And last night the battle came off. The judges were John F. Ludwig, John Peeler and J. A. Ritchie, and the decision was unanimously in favor of the affirmative. Agner is not satisfied and another round will be "pulled off" at the Mulberry Academy at an early date.—Salisbury World.

Late Literary Note.

Two very important facts in connection with the new era of magazines as illustrated in the December Cosmopolitan. Its fiction is by Stevenson, the last story written before his death, "Onda," Sarah Grand, Zangwill, and the beginning of James Lane Allen's new Kentucky realistic story, "Butterflies." Probably no stronger array of fiction has ever been presented in any magazine—money could not buy better. Nor has any magazine ever had a larger number of really distinguished artists engaged upon the illustration of a single number. The reader might be puzzled to know how such a number can be made at the price of ten cents. But the magazine itself affords the solution. It contains 129 pages of advertising, which, as the publishers announce, is from $4000 to $8000 more net cash advertising than was ever before printed in any magazine, of any kind, and in any country. It breaks the world's record in the publishing business. Moreover, the cost of the artists and authors who appear in this number is divided amongst 400,000 copies, bringing the cost per copy proportionately low. The Cosmopolitan thinks that the ten cent magazine, bringing, as it does, the best in art and literature into all classes, is an educational movement second in importance only to that of public schools.

Alexandre Dumas Dead.

PARIS, Nov. 27.—Alexandre Dumas is dead. Early in the evening Dumas rallied enough to create a belief that he would live at least several hours. About 7 o'clock he asked for tea, which was given to him. He then had sufficient strength to raise the cup to his lips without assistance. Shortly after he had a nervous convulsion, and died very suddenly. A number of relatives were present.

The card, spinning and weave rooms of No. 4 Odell mills run Friday night until 10 o'clock in order to make up lost time.

Mr. Barringer Stayed With His Boil and Discovered a Fire.

Last Sunday P. A. Barringer, of Stophel, did not go to preaching on account of a large boil on his temple. He lay down to sleep and about noon he awoke and discovered a fire raging in the woods about 150 yards from his dwelling and where combustible material connected the fire with the dwelling and other buildings. With help he got the fire subdued. Later he discovered a blackened place on old straw in the crack of a stable loft nearly filled with hay, etc., the smell of fire still on it, and a burned place and a match on the chaff in a room beneath.—Correspondence of the Landmark.

[THE STANDARD never saw Mr. Barringer when he didn't have a boil. By the way, every wind blows some good.]

The Jarndyce vs. Jarndyce Case Ended.

The case of Jarndyce vs. Jarndyce, alias Sherrill vs. the Western Union Telegraph Company, has been finally disposed of.

Some years ago Mr. H. Z. Sherrill, of Indiana, who was on a visit to relatives in Iredell, and while here his wife sent him a telegram notifying him of the death of their child. The telegram came to Statesville but Mr. Sherrill being unknown in town never received it. He sued the company for damages on the ground that it did not use proper diligence in delivering the message. The case went the rounds of the courts. It had about eight hearings and went to the Supreme court three times. The third time was the charm. At the August term of Iredell Superior court the case was tried and resulted in a verdict of $1,100 damages for the plaintiff. The defendant company appealed and the Supreme court has just handed down a decision affirming the judgment of the court below. Mr. Sherrill will now get his $1,100—minus his attorney's fees.—Statesville Landmark.

The Cause of the Commotion.

Corncracker in the Rutherfordton Democrat says that when he was in Atlanta taking in the Exposition last week he heard a great commotion in the Negro building and a mighty weeping and wailing and gnashing of teeth. He drew near to see what the trouble was and discovered that it was a member of the late North Carolina Legislature weeping at the sight of a bust of Frederic Douglass. His wail was: "Great was Caesar, great was Alexander, great was Diana of the Ephesians, but greater wert thou Oh, Douglass!" The picture of the North Carolina prophet of disaster lamenting over his fallen god was even more affecting than that of Alexander the Great when he leaned against a telegraph pole and wept because there were no more worlds to conquer.—Monroe Enquirer.
