How It Caught.

On Thursday night Jim, the colored boy that works for Mr. Beck, was sleeping near the fire in the basement. A spark popped out and set the quilt on fire. In a half awakened state, he carried the burning quilt out of the house and threw it over the fence. He returned to his cot and again fell into a deep slumber.

About 8 o'clock last evening fire broke out in the kitchen of Mr. Beck's house, originating from a defective flue. No serious damage was done before the fire was extinguished.
