IT'S TRUE.

A Judge Who Stuffed Cotton in His Ears While the Counsel Spoke.

Yesterday's Charlotte Observer had an editorial regarding a report that at a recent term of Graham county Superior Court, Judge Robinson, who was on the bench, sent out, got some cotton and stuffed it into his ears during a speech to the jury by Kope Elias, who was defending a man for murder.

It is also said that at another time His Honor left the bench, lit his pipe and went out of the room for a smoke while the same gentleman was speaking.

The Observer, always very conservative, goes on to state that such a story is improbable and cannot be true.

It does look so to a "man up a tree," but as a matter of fact, it is true. A gentleman in Greensboro, present at the same court, says Judge Robinson sent the sheriff out after cotton, but he returned and said he could find none. Then His Honor turned to the Greensboro gentleman and asked if he could not get it for him. He said he thought he could and went out, returning with it in a few minutes, when the Judge at once stuffed both ears full, full, keeping the cotton there until Elias finished speaking, when he removed it.

The other story about leaving the bench and going out for a smoke is also true, for the Greensboro man says he was out with him and both enjoyed a smoke.

The President's Sunday on Board the Violet.

NORFOLK, Va., Dec. 8.—President Cleveland today enjoyed his first game dinner of the season in North Carolina waters. Yesterday no one could be found along the coast who had seen the Violet, but this morning she was found anchored, off Roanoke Island where she remained all day. Yesterday was spent in shooting around Boides Island light, the result of the day's shoot being 17 ducks and two swan. This is the report brought by vessels arriving from Currituck sound. The members of the presidential party did use their guns today, but during the night will go down to Hatteras where two days will be spent. Early Wednesday morning the Violet will start on the return, stopping for a day at Roanoke marshes and arriving here Thursday. The President is reported well.

INCORPORATE THE ASYLUM.

That Was the Sense of the Grand Lodge, Which Met in Raleigh.

Raleigh Press-Visitor: The Grand Lodge of Masons met here in special session last evening for the purpose of taking such steps as would ensure to the Orphan Asylum, at Oxford, the bequest of $26,000 left it in Minneapolis real estate by the late Mr. Bradley, of California. On the suggestion of the order's attorney, F. H. Busbee, Esq., of Raleigh, the Orphanage was ordered incorporated; the board of directors are to be nominated by the Masons and appointed by the Governor. This arrangement leaves the Masons practically in control, as before the incorporation.

Some of the members came here thinking that a provision in Mr. Bradley's will make the incorporation necessary; and that when incorporated, the institution would pass from Masonic control. The love for the Orphanage of the Masons of this State was well showed by the declaration of these men that they would vote against incorporation, if the bequest, under such conditions, was a hundred thousand dollars.

The will of Mr. Bradley is being fought by his heirs in California and Minneapolis, they claiming that he was not in sound mind when the will was made.

The matter will be decided within the next several months.

Why They Do So.

It is a generally accepted fact that horses are unwilling to leave a barn when on fire. If one is gotten out and not carried off or placed under surveillance, he will go back.

This seems strange, but it is true. The explanation, however, makes it clear, and it is this:

A horse's stall or stable is his home; he soon learns it is a place where he is taken care of—fed, groomed and looked after—where he is secure from danger of any kind. It is therefore natural, when he becomes scared or anything unusual happens, for him to seek his box stall.

Take a runaway horse and if he is anywhere in the neighborhood of his stable he will make straight for it.

So it is in the time of fire; he has never seen anything of the kind; he becomes terribly excited, made doubly so by the cries of those around him, and concludes his best place is at home.

In this a horse is much like a human. Deserters in time of the war always came home when they knew that by so doing they were more likely to be caught. A baby, frightened at anything, seeks its mother's arms, first, last and all the time.

A good plan, in trying to get a horse out of a burning barn, is to throw a blanket over his head, thus blindfolding him. If not already scared out of his wits he will come out, but he should be looked after then; if not he will return.

A Beggar Boy.

A little bare-footed, thinly clad, bright eyed boy struck town this morning and was on the pan-handle. His tale of how his mother and brother had died in Kentucky was a pitiful one, but the sadder part was when he spoke of his afflicted parent yet alive, though on the verge of the grave, who, from exhaustion and privation of comforts of life and lack of attention lay upon the platform at the depot coughing and bleeding from hemorrhage of the lungs. After a tour of the city, with a few cents and a bundle of cold victuals, the boy and his father walked on down the railroad, heading for Charleston, where they have relatives, so they say.

The Populist Convention.
St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 6.—Chairman Bozelle of the Peoples Party State Executive Committed, is making arrangements for hotel accommodations for delegates to the Nation Convention of that party to be held here. Mr. Bozelle stated today that Senator W M Allen, of Nebraska, will likely be nomination for President and the Omaha platform re-adopted.

Marvelous Results.

From a letter written by Rev. J. Gunderman, of Dimondale, Mich., we are permitted to make this extract: "I have no hesitation in recommending Dr. King's New Discovery, as the results were almost marvelous in the case of my wife. While I was pastor of the Baptist Church at Rives Junction she was brought down with Pneumonia succeeding La Grippe. Terrible paroxysms of coughing would last hours with little interruption and it seemed as if she could not survive them. A friend recommended Dr. King's New Discovery; it was quick in its work and highly satisfactory in results." Trial bottles free at Fetzer's drug store. Regular size 50c. and $1.
