CONCORD, DEC. 12, 1895.

Col. Fred A. Olds writes to his papers that "the Populists are very considerably worked up, and some of them are saying that if the silver men in the Republican party in this State are not strong enough to control their organization, why then there must be three electoral tickets, and that they also favor three State tickets. It is an open secret that the Populists who are thus talking believe their party to be strong enough to carry the State. It may be that they talk in this fashion in order to get as much out of the Republicans as possible, though they swear they are sincere."

A medical authority truthfully sounds the praise of onions. They are excellent blood purifiers. Boiled onions used frequently in a family will ward off many diseases to which the little ones are subject. As an external application they are successfully used in cases of croup and earache. They are good for the complexion, and a lady who has a wonderfully clear, fine complexion attributes it to the liberal use of onions as food. People troubled with wakefulness may be assured a good night's rest often if just before retiring they will eat a raw onion. When troubled with a hard cough, if a raw onion is eaten the phlegm will loosen almost immediately, and can then be easily expectorated.

It is said that women who go into business life have not only a greater chance of marriage than girls who stay at home, but greater prospects of happiness afterward. The reason alleged is that they make the acquaintance of the class of men who make, as a rule, good husbands—that is, industrious, intelligent, hardworking men of business. Moreover, working with them day by day, each has more than usually good opportunity of discovering the other's real character, so that there is less risk of disillusionment after marriage.

"I find applause an excellent tonic," says Richard Mansfield. So do all who appeal to the public. Applause is like wine of iron to the blood; and the merchant who appeals to the same public as does the actor—who is, in fact, an actor in his own sphere—needs the tonic of applause, too. He gets it not merely in the increased amount of his receipts, but in the swift response of the public to his special "hits." He might yearn in vain for plaudits of this kind if the public and publicity did not come into close contact with each other.

It is estimated that more big game was killed in the Maize forests during October and November this year than during October, November and December of last year. According to records kept by railroads over which hunters ship their game, 1170 deer, 74 moose and 68 caribon were killed during October and November this year, while during the three hunting months of last year only 1001 deer, 45 moose and 50 caribon were killed.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Dec. 11.—The State Superintendent of Public Instruction recently received an inquiry whether or not the law prohibited the opening of public schools with a recital of the Lord's Prayer, and asking the advice of the superintendent when one person in the district objected to the service. Attorney General Childs, to whom the matter was referred, holds that the service is in violation of section 16 of the State constitution, which provides that no person shall be compelled to attend, erect or support any place of worship. As the constitution requires the people of the State to support its schools a religious service at the opening of the school is unconstitutional and cannot be maintained where there is an objection.

Electric Bitters.

Electric Bitters is a medicine suited for any reason, but perhaps more generally needed, when the languid exhausted feeling prevails, when the liver is torpid and sluggish and the need of a tonic and alterative is felt. A prompt use of this medicine will act more surely in counteracting and freeing the system from the malarial poison. Headache, Indigestion, Constipation, Dizziness yield to Electric Bitters. 50c. and $1.00 per bottle at Fetzner's drug store.

He Fought for his Liberty.

ASHEVILLE, IN, O., Dec. 11.—Yesterday Special State Agent J A Perry, of Morgantown, and posse surrounded the house of John Lyda, an escaped convict, in Henderson county, to arrest him and carry him back to the penitentiary. Lyda fired through the window, the bullet striking Perry in the shoulder and seriously wounding him. Friends of Lyda ran to the scene and a battle was imminent, but finally Lyda surrendered upon threat that the house would be burned over his head. Lyda was brought to jail here, Perry is in the Mission Hospital. Lyda was sentenced in 1888 for ten years as accessory to a killing in Henderson county. He escaped in 1893.

UNTOLD MISERY FROM RHEUMATISM

C. H. King, Water Valley, Miss., cured by Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"For five years, I suffered untold misery from muscular rheumatism. I tried every known remedy, consulted the best physicians, visited Hot Springs, Ark., three times, spending $1000 there, besides doctors' bills; but could obtain only temporary relief. My flesh was wasted away so that I weighed only ninety-three pounds; my left arm and leg were drawn out of shape, the muscles being wisted up in knots. I was unable to dress myself, except with assistance, and could only hobble about by using a cane. I had no appetite, and was assured, by the doctors, that I could not live. The pains, at times, were so awful, that I could procure relief only by means of hypodermic injections of morphine. I had my limbs bandaged in clay, in sulphur, in poultices; but these gave only temporary relief. After trying everything, and suffering the most awful tortures, I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Inside of two months, I was able to walk without a cane. In three months, my limbs began to strengthen, and in the course of a year, I was cured. My weight has increased to 165 pounds, and I am now able to do my full day's work as a railroad blacksmith."
