TARRED BY STUDENTS.

Taken Out in His Night Clothes by Wyoming Seminary.

WILKESBARRE, Dec. 16.—Charles Durehek, a student at the Wyoming Seminary in Kingston and a resident of Freeland, Luzerne county, where his father has a large brewery, was tarred and feathered by about thirty students at 1 o'clock this morning on the campus.

The students had missed articles from their rooms for several weeks, and after quietly investigating the matter decided that Durehek was the guilty man. They resolved to punish him and not to refer the case to the faculty. On Sunday a $10 bill was stolen and was found in the pocket of one of Durehek's socks. In the evening a paper sent from room to room was signed by about thirty students, who thus pledged themselves to stand by one another in the affair they were about to undertake. If any one should be expelled, all were to go. At 1 o'clock this morning the door of Durehek's room was broken open and he was gagged and, in his night shirt, was taken to the campus. There, the students say, he was stripped naked and coated with tar. The fathers were rubbed in by handfuls, and he then was released. The boys went back to bed and Durehek passed all night in his room crying. He did not come down to breakfast this morning.

The faculty learned of the matter, and President Sprague, after having the boy rubbed clean, expelled him.
It is thought he will not say anything to the students who were engaged in the affair.

Every Day Philosophy.

None can cure their ills by bewailing them.

The steam that blows the whistle don't make the train go.

Nearly every man thinks that his neighbor is worse than he is.

It is not what is inside of a man that makes him look distinguished; it's his clothes.

The average man will give a stare of profound wisdom before making a foolish answer.

There are two kind of hypocrites —the bold and the humble—and the humbler ones are the worst.

Another View of it.

EDITOR THE ASHEVILLE CITIZEN:— In The Citizen of December 16th, I see that Miss Helen Morr's Lewis quotes from J. S. Clarkson, with manifest approval, this statement, intended, I suppose, as some sort of an argument for woman suffrage:
"She who bears soldiers need not bear arms." Might it not with equal force and pertinency be said that "She who bears voters need not vote?" It looks so to a He Voter.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."
DR. G. C. USGOOD,
Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."
DR. J. F. KINCHELOE, Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."
H. A. ARCHER, M. D.,
111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."
