THE WORLD IS INDIGNANT.

The spontaneity with which the lovers of justice in all lands speak forth their disapproval of the verdict at Rennes on last Saturday is wonderful. It is as one voice and it rings with horror and disgust.

In London a grand indignation meeting is to be held next Sunday. Chicago is to have an indignation meeting next Saturday. Louisville has expressed its indignation. At Buda Pest the French Consulate was almost mobbed.

In London the Queen's chaplain declared in his sermon: "The whole world stands aghast at this great crime of fine abject judges."

The Daily Mail says: "Rennes is France's moral Sedan."

The Daily Graphic says: "The Rennes verdict will live forever as the supreme effort of human wrong-headedness."

The Daily Chronicle says that Mercier issues from the case one of the blackest scoundrels in history.

The Daily News remarks: "It is no longer Dreyfus, but France herself that is on trial."

Germany shares the indignation.

The Daily Telegram says: "This infamous judgment disgraces France, dishonors her army, insults the Kaiser and offends the best principles of humanity. There seems nothing left for France but a revolution and a war that will reduce her to the level of Spain."

The Standard says: "We are watching by the sick bed of a great nation, none knowing what new and deadly form the malady may assume."

The Times observes: "We do not hesitate to pronounce it the greatest and most appalling prostitution of justice the world has witnessed in modern times. All the outrageous scandals which marked the course of the trial pale into insignificance beside the crowning scandal of the verdict."

The president of the United States is appealed to use his influence for the delivery of Dreyfus.

It is probable that the great Worlds Exposition in Paris in 1900 will be crippled on account of it. Congressman Levi has announced that at the opening of Congress he will introduce a bill to withdraw the support of the government from the exposition. The Governor of California is being urged to re-assemble the legislature to rescind the act appropriating $130,000 for the exhibit. From various sources comes individual declarations that they will not attend the exposition through disgust for the French nation.

In Charlotte last Sunday Rev. Dr. Chreitzburg, of Tryon street Methodist church, implored heaven in behalf of the prisoner and asked that the wicked rulers be removed and the nation be brought to truth and justice or be removed from her place as a nation and be given to a people that fear God and give justice to mankind.

History records but rarely instances like this that the whole world of civilized people are a unit in crying out against a great wrong.

It softens the matter but little that these judges recommend mercy from the president. The world is convinced that Dreyfus needs no mercy in this matter but justice only.

Some one has well said that an enemy of France could hardly with the nation a greater evil than the consequences of this stupendous crime.

HONOR SAMPSON AND SCHLEY ALSO

In all this demonstration to Dewey, it should not be forgotten that Sampson and Schley are entitled to some honors. Do not let history get twisted in the excitement.—Durham Sun.

Well enough said is this but somehow we hushed our huzzas almost before the echos of the battle had died over the briny waves to quarrel over the matter as to whom the credit was due. We could not conceive that one less skilful, as general commander, than Sampson might have failed to have such organized disposition of the fleet as to secure victory even while he was absent on important duty. We may even forget that the best laid plans may prove abortive with one lacking the skill and courage of Schley in the execution. In the absence of proof to the contrary, if we could ascribe due honors to each in his own sphere for faithful and efficient service, without all of which we might not have had a victory to record in Santiago Bay, we could celebrate that grand victory, and, while honoring Dewey none the less, we would honor the heroes of the 3rd of July with suitable demonstrations.

If those French Judges were playing politics against their own sense of justice they can now turn their attention to such diplomacy as will appease a universal disgust and contempt for them and the government that keeps them in official position.

A MOTHER TELLS HOW SHE SAVED DAUGHTERS LIFE.

I am the mother of eight children and have had a great deal of experience with medicines. Last summer my little daughter had the dysentery in its worst form. We thought she would die. I tried everything I could think of. I saw by an advertisement in our paper that Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was highly recommended and sent and got a bottle at once. It proved to be one of the very best medicines we ever had in the house. It saved my little daughter's life. I am anxious for every mother to know what an excellent medicine it is. Had I known it at first it would have saved me a great deal of anxiety and my little daughter much suffering.—Yours truly, Mrs. Geo. F. Burdick, Liberty, K. I. For Sale by M. L. Marsh & Co., Druggist.

There is complaint that District Federal Judge Simonton has a say in this matter of property assessments in the State, but there are many in the State who remember very gratefully that a district Federal judge emptied the prisons of many of our best citizens once when the State government transcended its legitimate bounds, and the judiciary was exhausted. Had there been less effort to ride into distinction and office for some years past, on the billows of abnormal public aversion to legitimate corporations, we would have fewer of these contests before the Federal courts.

Senator Pritchard is to go to Ohio to help out in the campaign. Wonder if he will be able to invent some subterfuge by which to avoid joint discussion. In his own State he demanded a senatorial candidate, recognized as such by the Democratic party, to meet him on the stump, a thing he knew did not exist.

An Interesting Fight.

Terry McGovern, of Brooklyn, whipped Pedlar Palmer, of London, before the West Chester Club in New York, on Tuesday in one short round, thereby gaining what is called the Bantam Championship of the world, but to us the following is decidedly the more pleasant to note, A Harrisburg, Pa., dispatch to the Baltimore Sun, of the 10th, inst. says:

"A teamster driving on the Delaware pike reports witnessing a fight between a rattlesnake and a crane, near Lanesboro. Both were large specimens of their variety, the snake being fully five feet long.

"The crane had been feeding on the carcass of a dead lamb, when it discovered the snake basking on a rock in the sun. With wings half outstretched, the bird waited for the snake to coil and strike, and then, eluding its stroke with wonderful dexterity, darted at its antagonist and battered it with both wings and beak before it could recoil again. Then the bird would retreat and wait for another opportunity to attack.

"The battle was thus waged until the lacerated body of the snake was stretched out, lifeless. Seizing its victim the crane, with a shriek of victory, flew away with its prey to enjoy the fruits of the encounter."

Cornelius Vanderbilt Dead.

Cornelius Vanderbilt died very suddenly at his home in New York city Tuesday morning the 12th of cerebral hemorrhage (probably the same as apoplexy). He was the son of William Henry Vanderbilt and grandson of Cornelius, or as he was usually called, Commodore Vanderbilt. He was the recognized head of the Vanderbilt family and was a man of immense business. Notwithstanding this he was active and devoted to church and Sunday school work. He was a member of St Bartholomew's Episcopal church. His grand father the commodore, though, founded Vanderbilt University at Nashville Tennessee, a Methodist Episcopal institution on which he bestowed $1,000,000. This was supplemented by $310,000 from Wm. H the father of the late Cornelius.
