CONCORD, N. C., Oct. 11.

THE PHILADELPHIA Times of the 9th contains a statement from London setting forth the English side of the controversy with the Boers of Transvaal? The article is very distorting of truth or the British government has a good enough course for the contention. From the British standpoint, there could be little pity for the Boers if subdued, and complete sovereignty by the British would mean much more humanity and progressiveness in that murky portion of the world's civilization.

Cuban merchants importing American made shoes find a drawback in fitting the Cuban woman. It seems she has a short foot, high instep and large calf which the American last maker will have to take into consideration. With a slight elongation, however, which she may take on with American culture the Cuban woman will not be a whit behind her American sister in pedal charms.

ASTRONOMERS SAY that November will be a period peculiarly attended with meteoric display. On the night of the 15th, meteors will be most conspicuous. It will occur after midnight. Stick a peg by the date and keep your eyes open, if you want to see stars moving without the pain attending when you strike your thumb with a hammer.

Sonnet and Bonnet.

And write some rhymes upon it;

It's an October bonnet!

SPAIN'S GREATEST NEED.

Mr. R. P. Olivia, of Barcelona, Spain, spends his winters at Aiken, S. C. Weak nerves had caused severe pains in the back of his head. On using Electric Bitters, America's greatest blood and nerve remedy, all soon left him. He says this grand medicine is what his country needs. All America knows that it cures liver and kidney troubles, purifies the blood, tones up the stomach, strengthens the nerves, puts vim, vigor and new life into every muscle, nerve and organ of the body. If weak, tired or ailing you need it. Every bottle is guaranteed, only 50c. Sold at Fetzner's Drug Store.

BUST TO EDGAR ALLEN POE.

A bronze bust of Edgar Allen Poe was unveiled last Saturday at the University of Virginia. Dr. Paul Barringer, an honored son of Cabarrus, as president of the faculty, received the bust from the Poe Memorial Association to be held in trust by the institution.

We note that Dr. Barringer defends the memory of the poet from the charge that he had been expelled from that school. The biographer, however, leaves room to suspect that he probably but narrowly escaped expulsion.

He possessed a genius of which the American people are proud, but his vices were hard to condone.

Edgar was left an orphan at an early age. He was adopted by a wealthy merchant in the city of Baltimore, by the name of Allen. He went to school in London four years, when he returned to America and entered the school that now honors him in bust.

He displayed extraordinary talents, but became too fond of fast living, and quarreled with his benefactor till a breach occurred and he again went to Europe, where he served in the Greek army a while and became very erratic in his life.

He returned to America and became reconciled with Mr. Allen and got into West Point. He did not act well and he and Mr. Allen had a permanent alienation. In 1835 he won a prize offered by the Baltimore Sunday Visitor for a romance and poem. From this on he became editor and contributor to several literary journals and magazines. It was in 1846 that he wrote "The Raven," and gave himself a world-wide reputation. Strange to say, he received the pitiable sum of ten dollars for that unique production.

In 1848 he lost his wife to whom he had been married two years. The next year, 1849, he was on his way to New York to arrange for a second marriage, but got on a spree and died in Baltimore, his native city, at the age of 40 years. It was a case of genius beclouded with weakness.

A NIGHT OF TERROR.

"Awful anxiety was felt for the widow of the brave General Burnham, of Machis, Me., when the doctors said she could not live till morning," writes Mrs. S. H. Lincoln, who attended her that fearful night. "All thought she must soon die from pneumonia, but she begged for Dr. King's New Discovery, saying it had more than once saved her life and had cured her of consumption. After three small doses she slept easily all night, and its further use completely cured her." This marvelous medicine is guaranteed to cure all throat, chest and lung diseases. Only 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottles free at Fetzner's Drug Store.

To Teach Them a Lesson of Honesty.

Some Georgia militiamen on their way home from New York acted very badly at Hamlet, N. C., in taking dinner and scampering off without paying for it. The governor of Georgia demanded of the organizations to produce the culprits or suffer the disgrace of disbandment. He has authorized an investigation and an effectual lesson will be given to some smart rascals.
