North Carolina's Victory.

The coming Senatorial contest in the State of North Carolina gives some idea of the victory of which the people won in their election of one year ago.

It was a pitiable sight when one of the original States of the Union fell a victim to a political conspiracy, only equaled by the carpet-bag governments of 1868.

In this conspiracy ignorance and vice pushed aside the virtue and intelligence of the State, and from the governorship almost to every office the men who were the backbone of every community were side-tracked and place hunters took their seats.

The unholy alliance by which a Populist and a Republican, so divergent in views, could have been elected to the United States Senate, proved that spoils was the motive power and that principle had nothing to whatever to do in the general carving of offices.

It was no wonder then, that when North Carolinians, men of substance and intelligence and property, found how they had been hand-capped and belittled in the eyes of the world, they banded themselves together to restore the North State to the proud position it engaged when represented by such men as Zeb Vance and Mat Ransom.

There is now a contest going on for the United States Senatorship to succeed Marion Butler. In this contest are pitted such men as Hon. Julian S. Carr, Chairman F. M. Simmons, of the State Democratic Committee; former Governor Jarvis and former Congressman Waddell.

In reading over such a list of names as this, representing the best colonial blood of North Carolina, as well as the best manhood of the present day, one can form some idea of the great revolution which is being made from the era of Butler and Pritchard. All these men are first-class in every particular and would worthily represent any State in the Union. As it is, their candidacy makes it certain that North Carolina has thrown off the nightmare of Russellism, and will henceforth keep in the middle of the road and out of the way of tricksters and political charlatans.—Atlanta Constitution.

A LIFE AND DEATH FIGHT.

Mr. W. A. Hines of Manchester, Ia., writing of his almost miraculous escape from death, says: "Exposure after measles induced serious lung trouble, which ended in Consumption. I had frequent hemorrhages and coughed night and day. All my doctors said I must soon die. Then I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, which completely cured me. I would not be without it even if it cost $5.00 a bottle. Hundreds have used it on my recommendation and all say it never fails to cure Throat, Chest and Lung troubles." Regular size 50c and $1.00 Trial bottles free at Fetzers Drug Store.
