CRITICISM WITHOUT INFORMATION

It is pure, unadulterated ignorance with us, that we cannot determine whether or not Gen. Otis should be superseded. We have too much of a sense of fairness to engage in popular censure till we think, at least, that we know whereof we speak.

While not always agreeing with the Biblical Recorder, we think the following right well put:

"If there were means of putting the authors of the out-cry against General Otis in his place, they would get the benefit of an experience that would teach them to be silent when they are ignorant, and though the cost would be great, one such experiment by any country would work lasting relief to us all. We are sure we do not know anything about conducting a war, and we are willing that soldiers attend to that. Every man to his trade, and he that has none let him keep out of the way. When editors undertake to conduct wars, soldiers may well give a little time to conducting newspapers, especially if the editors are half failures at their own business. We have followed the course of events in the Philippines since Dewey dropped anchor off Manila, and we believe the General Otis has done as well as any other of our soldiers could. To be sure, we may have some Alexanders in newspaper offices, even in Raleigh, but we can hardly be expected to believe in the habit of criticising the man who has the work to do is not commendable. The Northern press learned that in the Civil war. The habit of picking plans at a distance of 12,000 miles bespeaks a mind that is disposed to presume upon the ordinary intelligence. No reasonable man can expect peace to be established in the Philippines in a day—it required several centuries to persuade the aborigines of this country that civilization must have a name, and by the way there is just as much sound sense in claiming the islands off the coast of Asia as civilization as there was in taking the land we love from the Indians. General Otis has much to contend with. He has a tremendous task. He has the role of a friend who is fighting those whom he would help; of a father who chastises a son. He must restore peace and do as little harm as possible. He has a crafty leader and determined fighters, a strange country and hard climate to contend with. He has no doubt much to learn, but not from newspapers. Recall him and his successor will have to begin all over again."

RAILROADS FOR MT. PLEASANT.

The Manufacturers' Record for October 20th, says that Messrs. A C Wilcox & Co., 332 Drexel Building, Philadelphia, are preparing to float bonds to extend the Moore County and Western Railroad from its present terminus to Concord. The extension will be seventy miles in length and the bonds will represent $15,000 per mile.

The same issue of the Record says, "The people in Cabarrus and Rowan counties have made a proposition to the Southern Railway Co. to give the right of way and grade for a branch line between Gold Hill and Mount Pleasant if the railroad company will lay the track. The line will be about nine miles in length when built."

It will be seen from this that Mt. Pleasant has two roads in fair prospective grasp, for it has always been understood that the Moore County and Western will run a branch track to Mt. Pleasant.

The necessity for a railroad to Mt. Pleasant is growing more apparent since it is to be well in the line of manufacturing towns.

Let both roads come. Even as we write, we see teams loaded with cotton to supply the Kindley mill, and soon there will be another mill there.

MAKES A STAR IN THEIR CROWN.

Henry Smith, of Coffee county, Georgia, is in jail in Winston. He has a card in the Sentinel thanking Mrs. Cozart and Mrs. Fultz, and others for such manifestations of Christian spirit in their ministrations to him that he is won to the cause and will, at the expiration of his incarceration, go out with a changed purpose and a living faith. It seems a star in the crowns of these devoted women.

It is not very complimentary to the Old North State that at the Mormon assembly in Knoxville, Tenn., the State was represented as a fertile field for Mormonism and eighty priests were assigned to it. Our people should surely close their doors to them. We don't need any Mormonism mixed up with our religion.

Admiral Dewey will most probably pass through Concord next Tuesday morning on his way to Atlanta but we suppose he will be going almost at cannon ball rate and might as well get to Atlanta by an underground route so far as our getting to see him goes.

Winston-Salem is to have a gala time the 24th to 28th. It is the occasion of the Horse Show, county Fair and Carnival. Forsythe is up to date.

Young Lady Drowned.

A Wilmington dispatch of the 17th says Miss Katie Gause was strolling with a group of children. At the bank of a mill pond some miles from the city, she dropped her purse and returning from a little way off was separated from the children. They heard a splash, and found the lady drowning in 15 feet of water. It will never be known how the sad affair occurred. She was very much beloved.
