THE GRAND JURY'S REPORT.

They Find the County's Property in Good Condition Everywhere—One Suggestion Made.

The grand jury, through their foreman, Mr. R. C. Harris, submitted the following to Judge Robinson:

"We have acted on all bills sent us by the solicitor as far as we could procure witnesses and made presentments of all things so far as known to us.

Visited the jail in a body and found it in a good sanitary condition, conversed with the prisoners who said they were well fed and cared for. Would suggest that glass be put in some of the windows.

Visited the different offices of the court house and found them in good condition.

Visited the county home by committee and found the home and inmates in good condition, the health of the inmates good, buildings and bedding neat and clean and food of good quality."

Burned for Burning a Family.

A Memphis Tennessee dispatch of the 20th gives an account of horrible tragedies at St. Anne, Leake County, Miss. A negro, Joe Leflore, and, according to his statement, Bob and Andrew Smith tied Mrs. Gambrel a white lady and her four children to the floor of the house, then saturated the surroundings with kerosene oil and set fire to the building. At first the fire was thought to have been accidental but murder will out and Joe was caught. After being cornered he told the story without apparent care for mercy. He was tied to a stake in the yard where he did the deed and was burned to death. No shooting or desecration of the body was indulged in. He was simply burned. One of the others was about to be burned but was spared for fear he might be innocent.

The Dakotas have a record as divorce States, but they are not the only ones. Last year one county in Illinois put 833 ill-paired couples through the mill, one county in Massachusetts 600, and the State of Massachusetts 2,113. For twenty years Massachusetts has averaged a thousand a year.—Morning Star.

Wooing a Schoolteacher.

"Yes," said a young man, as he threw himself at the feet of the pretty schoolmistress. "I love you, and would go to the world's end for you."

"You could not go to the end of the world for me, James. The world, or the earth, as it is called, is round like a ball, slightly flattened at the poles. One of the first lessons in elementary geography is devoted to the shape of the globe. You must have studied it when you were a boy."

"Of course I did, but"

"And it is no longer a theory. Circumnavigators have established the fact."

"I know, but what I mean was that I would do anything to please you. Ah, Minerva, if you knew the aching void"

"There is no such thing as a void, James. Nature abhors a vacuum. But admitting that there could be such a thing, how could the void you speak of be a void if there was an ache in it?"

"I meant to say that my life will be lonely without you; that you are my daily thought and my nightly dream. I would go anywhere to be with you. If you were in Australia or at the North pole, I would fly to you"

"Fly! It will be another century before men can fly. Even when the laws of gravitation are successfully overcome, there will still remain, maintaining a balance"

"Well, at all events!" exclaimed the youth, "I've got a pretty fair balance in the bank, and I want you to be my wife. There!"

"Well, James, since you put it in that light, I"
