THE PYTHIAN AFFAIR.

Another Light Thrown On the Subject—A Non-Affiliator—The Report Not Believed In Salisbury.

The Salisbury correspondent to the Charlotte Observer has the following about the Knights of Pythias affair:

"Care of matters in connection with the libel on the Knights of Pythias who recently installed a lodge at Albemarle has been intrusted by Grand Chancellor Woodward, of Wilmington, to District Deputy W M Lyles, of Charlotte. This gentleman has already been put in possession of information which throws a new light on the subject. It seems that Editor Bivins' informant has a record as a denouncer of secret or fraternal societies, being himself a non-affiliating Mason and that he showed this animus in the particular case. Salisbury Pythians who are acquainted with these circumstances give the editor small blame. They regard his qualified retraction as designed to shield his informant by allowing it to be inferred that the story naturally grew in his telling."

The Salisbury Index says this:

"We see that the Pythians are not satisfied with Bro. Bivins' article retracting and apologizing for his first article which gave offence to the many excellent gentlemen composing that brotherhood. It is no concern of ours but, we believe in mercy to the penitent. The Pythians, with their excellent motto, 'Friendship, Benevolence and Charity,' can afford to be magnanimous and forgiving. As the matter now stands, no one thinks ill of any one of them on account of that publication."

A Small Fire at Albemarle.

While in conversation over the telephone with a party in Albemarle, we learn that the fire alarm was given there Tuesday night. It was the home of Mrs. Spinks. Fortunately the flames were quenched before very much damage was done. The damage does not amount to more than about $25.

Castor-Krimminger Wedding.

Mr. Charlie D Castor, of No. 4 township, and Miss Annie Krimminger, of No. 5 township, were married Sunday morning at Mr. W L Kimball's. With numbers of friends we extend our congratulations wishing them a life of love and happiness. X.

Southern Conference Meets.

The Southern conference of the North Carolina Synod of the Evangelical Lutheran church will meet in Mt. Zion church, Ritchfield, Stanly county, on Thursday the 16th instant at 10 o'clock a. m.

On a Wild Goose Chase.

The season has come again to chase the wild goose. Mr. J C Bradford, of Eastfield tells us that he landed one safe last week that proved to be tender and delicious. It measured five feet from tip to tip of wing and weighed seven pounds.

Grip makes one sick, weary and restless. Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine brings rest.

CONCERT TUESDAY NIGHT.

The Band in White Look Their Best and Make Delightful Music--Mr. Asbury's Superb Tones--Soloists Persistently Encored.

Concord had a treat royal Tuesday night. The Concord band, which is quite well-grown for its age, looked its best, all in white, and it seemed that every instrument dazzled in the glory of the occasion.

Prof. Keesler, who had arranged a most suitable program, entered upon the leadership with confidence that every part would be on time, and every tone would be most pleasing to the ear. We feel a legitimate pride in the Concord band, greatly stimulated by the performances Tuesday night.

No words of ours can adequately measure the merits of Mr. Asbury's flute performances. They were superb. The performer, it seems, can have no mental conception of variegated and pleasing tones that his instrument will not yield at his command.

Miss Harris it is well known has a sweet and gentle voice, always pleasant to hear, and in concert with instruments gently chiming in, it made peculiarly harmonious melody.

Mr. Summey has a voice essentially tenor in tone, but feminine in its gentleness. It is perfectly trained and the tones seem to come from a soul of gentle emotions.

The encores for Miss Harris, Mr. Asbury and Mr. Summey were persistent, and indicated that each caught the exultant listeners that were unwilling to be let go.

The audience was fairly good, though hardly up to the merits of the occasion.

RESULTS OF TUESDAY'S ELECTIONS.

Ohio Republican--Kentucky Most Probably So--Maryland Again Democratic.

Dispatches at 9:30 a. m. today (Wednesday) announce as clearly anticipated that. Pennsylvania, Connecticut, Massachusetts, New Jersey, New York and South Dakota went Republican on Tuesday. As a matter of course Mississippi and Virginia went Democratic. Maryland is again Democratic. Ohio, too, is Republican by a majority that does not look like it should have been called a doubtful state. Kentucky is yet in doubt with great probability that the Republicans have won.

Mr. Bryan has the satisfaction that his state, Nebraska, is safely fusionist.

Louisville, 12:25 p. m.—With only three counties to hear from, the vote for Governor stands as follows: Taylor, Republican, 121,038; Gooble, Democrat, 112,203; Brown, Democrat, 73,010. Republicans carried everything in Louisville and claim the Legislature by 7 majority. This gives them U. S. Senator.
