THE VERDICT JUST AND SALUTARY

It is a very satisfactory outcome of the trial of Edwards and Carr in Salisbury, that both were convicted of murder in the first degree.

Had the same verdict been rendered by a Cabarrus jury, even of extraordinary degree of excellence as that of which the Rowan jury was composed, there might have been questionings in many minds whether there had not been a measure of prejudice.

Beyond a reasonable doubt. Will Edwards and Tom Carr were armed and went forth either bent on murder or on such trespass of the rights of others, and with such reckless defiance, as did move them to murder when crossed even by legal officers. It is a case in which the law contemplates the removal of such citizens as are not fit to live.

The principle in law that it were better that 99 guilty persons escape than that one innocent one should be punished has no application here. These men are guilty beyond a reasonable doubt.

We hope no pressure will be brought to bear to save them from the full penalty contemplated as to time and degree.

The non-law-abiding need to be impressed that no sentimentality, even in this Christian land, shall be a refuge for them.

Wives and children need to be reassured that while the law cannot defend against the violence of the desperate, retributive justice is and shall be a large measure of protection against evil doers.

But not the least do we need reassurance that our courts will mete out due punishment for criminals and that mobs are as unnecessary as they are dangerous and unjustifiable except in extreme cases.

"Let justice be done though though the heavens fall."

Since the above was set up we get the further news from Salisbury as noted in another column.

The Charlotte News comes to the front with an account of a 23-pound fish caught in the Catawba river recently with a hook and ordinary line. That's a fine fish story and our neighbor is welcome to full credit for it.

Story of a Slave.

To be bound hand and foot for years by chains of disease is the worst form of slavery. George D. Williams, of Manchester, Mich., tells how such a slave was made free. He says: "My wife has been so helpless for five years that she could not turn over in bed alone. After using two bottles of Electric Bitters, she is wonderfully improved and able to do her own work." This supreme remedy for female diseases quickly cures nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, headache, backache, fainting and dizzy spells. This miracle working medicine is a godsend to weak, sickly, run down people. Every bottle guaranteed. Only 50 cents. Sold at Fetzler's Drug Store.

THE PLACE FOR THE PARK.

We were pleased to have calls last week from many of the brethren of the conference, but we were very especially interested by Rev W V Honeycutt in his description of Jackson County. He thinks the Appalachian National Park should embrace a good part of Jackson.

He described to us an ideal valley, a picturesque basin surrounded by mountain ranges with springs, water falls, precipices, gorges and even caves. One notable cave called the Devil's Court House is well worth the while to visit, though it has never been fully explored.

One of the remarkable features is what seems to be a chimney to the large room suited for real purposes if the room were inhabited. Even on the outside it has the chimney appearance.

Rev Honeycutt told us that a group of the neighbors went out a short time ago to hunt bear in the Smokey mountains and had the satisfaction of killing five of the bruin family.

The more one thinks of it the more the conviction grows that we should have the park in Western North Carolina. The difficulty of selection too will not be the lack but the abundance of the natural beauty from which to select.

NOT LIKE THAT BRAVE MAN.

When that awful disaster occurred, the destruction of the Maine, in Havana harbor, the brave William Anthony so kept his composure that when he met Capt Sigsbee on deck he saluted him and in the most approved military style, said: "I have the honor to report that the ship has been blown up and is sinking."

It was one of the finest displays of soldierly training combined with inherent fearlessness on record. How disappointing to our ideas of true courage that he should yield to such despondency as to take his life! He took a fatal quantity of cocaine on the 24th and died in a half hour.

Nothing could be less like the act of a brave man, and it warrants the conclusion that his reason was dethroned.

Jesse Knott Gets 15 Years.

A phone message from Salisbury says, Jesse Knott, who killed his brother at Spencer, was sentenced today (Monday) to 15 years in the penitentiary.

The Appalachian National Park.

The meeting at Asheville to take steps to secure a park made quite a good start. It elected Mr Geo H Powell president, Dr C P Ambler secretary and treasurer and twenty five influential men, as Vice President.

The movement has the endorsement of Senators Prichard and Butler and Congressmen Kluttz, Crawford and others from far and near.

The movement starts out very auspiciously and it seems probable will meet with the favor of the coming congress.
