SERIOUSLY WOUNDED.

John Propst, a Negro from This Place, shoots Mr. Dolph Mauney, of Gold Hill, in the Face--The Negro Captured.

News came here today (Friday) from Gold Hill stating that a negro named John Propst, from this place, shot Mr. Dolph Mauney, a prominent man of that place and paymaster at the mine there. The affair very probably happened at an early hour in the morning, as the gentleman who brought the news arrived here in the morning. Mr. Mauney was shot in the face. The wound is a serious one, though at last account Mr. Mauney was still living.

The negro escaped but Sheriff Peck captured a telegram about 2 o'clock stating that Propst had been captured. Sheriff Peck deputized a man at once and sent him for the man.

Mr. Mauney is one of the most prominent men in that community and is a first cousin of Mrs. J. L. Howell, of this place.

Since the above we learn that Mr. Mauney's condition is not so serious. The negro shot at him with the intention of getting his money which he had in his buggy.

They Have Returned to Concord.

Their friends will be glad to know that Mr. M. L. Moore and wife and daughter, Miss Myrtle Moore, who for some time have been living at Winston-Salem, have returned to Concord to live. They arrived Thursday night and are now living in the same dwelling they occupied heretofore near the Odell store. Mr. Moore will have the same position he had before in the Odell store.

On Wednesday night before leaving Winston-Salem the operatives of the mill, as a token of their esteem and love for him, presented him with a beautiful Knight of Pythias ring and Masonic scarf pin. We gladly welcome this family to our town again.

Taken to Charlotte for Court.

Deputy Marshal Hampton, of Charlotte, came over this morning and took Henry Chambers over to Charlotte. This is a negro who was some time ago arrested for retailing whiskey. He will now be tried by the Federal court instead of the Superior court, which has several times sent him to the chain gang. Federal court meets in Charlotte next Monday.

Was a Student of the State Normal.

Miss Belle Colson, who was a student at the State Normal, died at her home at Norwood Thursday morning. She was a bright young lady and only 19 years of age.

Pythians Take Notice!

All members of Concord Lodge No. 51 Knights of Pythias are requested to meet in Castle Hall tonight at 8 o'clock promptly.

FROM ORGAN CHURCH.

A Business Change—The Missionary Sale a Success—Hog Killing News.

Organ church, Dec. 7.—Mr. Henry Cruse killed two pigs not 10 months old that weighed 341 and 337. That makes more than a pound for every day old. Pretty good.

Dr. Goodman has moved to Mr. David Lentz's. Mr. Boger, with whom he had been boarding, is going to move to Salisbury.

Mr. Orlin Cruse has bought Mr. Boger's stock of goods, and also added a large stock of new goods, and opened a store at his home one half mile west of Organ church.

The missionary sale at Lower Stone church last Saturday amounted to eighty dollars. This is the largest amount they have ever raised at one sale.

Dr. Henry S. Wingard Dead.

We are sorry to note the death of Rev. Henry S. Wingard, D. D., of Springfield, Ga., which occurred in the hospital at Savannah on Dec. 1st.

Dr. Wingard preached the baccalaureate sermon at Mont Amoena Seminary a few years ago, which marked him as one of the shining lights in the Lutheran church South.

One of Those Newspaper Mistakes.

The types became badly pried in some way yesterday afternoon, joining parts of the locals in regard to Mrs. Bell, of Charlotte, and Mr. Ernest Fetzer. The former attended the Hill-Harris wedding and the latter spent the night at Mr. M. J. Freeman's. Mistakes, like the wind, never cease.

To Pull Wool Coat Off That Wolf.

It will be recalled that last summer a book agent, giving his name as Rev. A. E. Williford, imposed on some of the best people in Greensboro, posing as a minister and stopping with church members, having with him a woman of bad repute.

Officer Pearce, we believe, was the first to get on to his game and with the aid of the newspapers, ran him out of town.

From here he went to Winston and it is reported that he was jailed in that place, how true we are unable to state.

Chief Scott has received a letter from a committee of the First Baptist church at Charleston, S. C., appointed to look into the matter, asking for information as to his conduct while here. In addition to what the police will say, some of those who were imposed upon will write the committee their recollections of the reverend (?) gentleman.

Before he was exposed he preached at several places in the country, at some of which the woman accompanied him.

THE NEWS IN WASHINGTON.

The Elections Were Quiet and a Good Congress is the Result—The Roberts Crusade--Affairs in the Transvaal--The Part Played by the Speaker.

From our Regular Correspondent.

Washington D. C. The elections of officials on both sides passed off without any apparent bickerings or heart burnings, and for once we have a Congress prepared to start in to attend to the people's business, rather than squabble among themselves.

The crusade against Roberts, the Mormon, winds up with a spectacular climax. On the desks of representatives, the petitions against him have been falling thick as snow flakes, and perhaps as little needed. Certainly they did not prevent Mr. Roberts from sitting in the Democratic caucus, as he said all along he would do. He cast his vote for Richardson.

The New York Journal introduced a comic opera specialty in the shape of a monster anti-Roberts petition, said to be the largest document of the kind ever gotten up. In a truck drawn by four horses the huge protests was hauled through the streets of Washington, past the hotel where Roberts is living, and stored in a vault of the Capitol.

The money furnished by Miss Helen Gould has secured such legal talent as John G. Carlisle and other ex-members of Congress of lesser fame to draft the objection to the seating of Roberts.

Affairs in the Transvaal have arrived at such a serious pitch that A. S. Hay, son of Secretary of State Hay, has been designated to assume charge of the American Consulate at Pretoria in place of Mr. Macrum, who has been cabled to return to the United States.

It is very well understood here, although the State Department may not admit it, that the appointment of another consul to take charge at Pretoria is due to the direct request of the British Government.

Such consul will act equally as much in the interests of England as in those of this country. Hay, Jr., is a very young man, not more than twenty-four years of age, in fact an extremely young man to occupy such an important post as this.

There is a good deal of interest manifested among the lawmakers as to what role the Speaker will play in this Congress. In the beginning of the office, the Speaker was merely intended to be the servant of the House. Reed was its master. Now it is reported that Gen. Henderson will hark back to the old days, and run the office on a polite, sugary sort of a plan. However, the "Reed Rules" are still in vogue.

During the last Congress the rules of the previous Congress, the famous "Reed Rules," were adopted under a promise that new rules would be reported within thirty days. This promise was never kept.

Now it is intimated that Mr. Hepburn, of Iowa, will lead a fight for a radical change. It was expected that a lively fight would occur in the Republican caucus, but such was not the case.

My son has been troubled for years with chronic diarrhoea. Sometime ago I persuaded him to take some of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. After using two bottles of the 25-cent size he was cured. I give this testimonial, hoping some one similarly afflicted may read it and be benefited.—Thomas C. Bower, Glouces, O. For sale by W. L.
