CONCORD, N. C., DEC. 22, 1899.

The most novel development of modern warfare in which love is mixed with hate, kindness with killing and tenderness with fighting is recorded of the Boers at Mafeking who threw a shell into the city in which there were no explosives but only a written message which was found and read. Such messages seem to have a double chance of making an impression.

The Burlington News tells of a team that took fright; ran through lots; scattered the wagon all about; to keep from colliding with a two-horse wagon, jumped clear over it and scared a man into a dead faint and yet no damage was done. It was a good starter for holiday frolic at least without any jinx in it.

TRIBUTE TO AN IDEAL LIFE.

We are glad to acknowledge the receipt of a book, "In Memoriam of William Henry Branson" containing the card of Mrs. Branson. We greatly appreciate the book and have read principle portions we hope with much profit.

We did not know the subject personally but we understand now why there was such deep and general sorrow at the shocking tragedy. A good man had fallen.

We are glad the book was written. Its pages will be an inspiration wherever read.

We can conceive of only one book in the home of Mrs. Branson more highly prized; of only one a greater source of comfort to her, and only one as a greater force in inculcating noble characteristics in the son and daughter before whom she can ever hold the high model of a father's life.

Raleigh has secured a charter for a knitting mill to be put into operation soon. About the next thing that befalls us, if the smallpox does not catch us, will be our standing in the stockings of Raleighites.

The Burlington News is out in special Christmas edition of 20 pages. It bespeaks a liberal advertising patronage and on the first page contains a beautiful Christmas legend. It has the air of good cheer.

The Concord Institute is doing thorough work. Plenty of room and teachers.

An exchange has a caption, "What is Success?" The answer seems to come, "Why it is success of course" and it is said that nothing succeeds like it.

To accommodate those who are partial to the use of atomizers in applying liquids into the nasal passages for catarrhal troubles, the proprietors prepare Ely's Liquid Cream Balm. Price including the spraying tube is 75 cents. Druggists or by mail. The liquid embodies the medicinal properties of the solid preparation. Cream Balm is quickly absorbed by the membrane and does not dry up the secretions, but changes them to a natural and healthy character. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren St., N. Y.

My son has been troubled for years with chronic diarrhoea. Sometime ago I persuaded him to take some of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. After using two bottles of the 25-cent size he was cured. I give this testimonial, hoping some one similarly afflicted may read it and be benefited.—Thomas C. Bower, Glencoe, O. For sale by M. L.
