FEARFUL ACCIDENT.

Master Clyde Dayvault Falls From a Wagon and Narrowly Escapes Death—Injuries Not Deep.

Master Clyde Dayvault, son of Mr. and Mrs. D P Dayvault, met with a very painful accident today (Thursday). Clyde is 11 years old and quite manly. He was driving a team loaded with lumber and coming down the steep rocky hill beyond the branch near St. John's church he fell between the horses and the wagon wheel struck the left side of his head, cutting a fearful gash. It is most probable that his life was saved by his head slipping from under the pressure of the wheel.

His injuries are very severe though not deeper probably than the skin.

Mr. W H Dry, who was with the wagon train, procured a buggy and took him in and hastened home as the quickest means to get him a physician's treatment.

He bled considerably but was entirely conscious of everything. He is resting very well.

While the fearful accident is deplored, one is moved to a feeling of congratulation to him and his parents that he escaped a sadder fate to which he was so imminently exposed.

CONCORD MAN HURT.

James Taylor Victim of the Iron Wheels—Amputation Probably Not Necessary.

Mr. James Taylor, son of Capt. Taylor, of Concord, came very near losing his life last night on the rails. As it was he got his left foot mangled so that the doctor's fear amputation will be necessary.

Mr. Taylor is switchman on yard engine No. 400 in the Seaboard Air Line yard. Ex-policeman Dan Bradley is engineer in the yard. The engine was pulling a lumber train. Mr. Taylor was standing on the ground at the end of the depot, waiting for the train to pull up. As the engine passed he put up his foot to step on the footboard of the engine, as train men always do, missed the step and fell between the engine and the first car. The corner of the car struck him in the back. He fell in such a way that his left foot was on the rail. The wheels of the car passed over his foot, mangling it horribly. Engineer Bradley was the first person to reach his side. He pulled Mr. Taylor from under the wheels, and phoned instantly for the railroad surgeon. The injured man was moved to Private Hospital, and the physician and friends remained with him through the night. The doctors are undecided as to whether amputation will be necessary. Mr. Taylor was resting quietly this morning. He is 21 years of age and has been employed in the Seaboard yard three months.

The accident occurred at 10:30 last night.—Charlotte Evening News, of the 5th.

We are pleased to note from the Charlotte Observer of the 6th that the doctors do not think amputation will be necessary.

TOPEKA JOE ESCAPES.

A Very Slippery Duck Makes Wooden Key, Rope and Hooks and Escapes Within Fifteen Minutes.

"Topeka Joe," a noted crook who is believed to be the head of the gang that robbed the Williamsburg bank sometime ago was in jail in Richmond, Va., but made his escape about 2 o'clock on Monday morning, the 3rd. The story reads like this:

His cleverness being known he was especially watched. The guards made their rounds at 2 o'clock and found him all right. At 2:15 when the guard made his round Joe's cell door stood ajar with a wooden key in it. A thorough search showed that he had made the key from the broom handle and a rope from his bedding. He had mysteriously secured some iron hooks. The means of escape were complete. He had gone out and had gotten on the wall and let himself down. The means of escape were left behind and he is game for the experts to chase while the bank vaults are his prey.

ARTHUR SEWALL DEAD.

Succumbs to Apoplexy—Man of Large Means—Running Mate of Bryan.

Arthur Sewall died at Small Point, his summer home, near Bath, Me., Wednesday morning, the 5th, of apoplexy. The public was prepared for the news and considered it only a matter of time.

He was in his 65th year. He possessed great wealth which came by the business of ship-building in which he succeeded his father.

He was a man of large business, it seems, embracing rail-roading and banking.

He wielded large influences in local and State politics but was doubtless overestimated when placed four years ago on the ticket as a running mate for W J Bryan.

Questions Answered.

Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers and grandmothers never thought of using anything else for indigestion or biliousness. Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of appendicitis, nervous prostration or heart failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop fermentation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and other aches. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form to make you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. For sale by all dealers in civilized countries.
