WORN TO A SHADOW

When there is a falling off in flesh in woman or man there is "something wrong." And that something wrong is generally a loss of nutrition due to disease of the stomach and the other organs of digestion and nutrition. Sometimes this loss of flesh is accompanied by variable appetite, but in many cases the ap-petite does not fail and there may be a constant desire to eat. Languor, nervousness, irritability, sleeplessness, are symptoms often associated with this loss of nutrition and falling off in flesh. Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures disease of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. It enables the perfect digestion and assimilation of food so that lost flesh is regained and the physical health re-established, "I had suffered from indigestion and only those who have suffered from it know what it really is," writes Mrs. M. J. Fagan, of 1613 Rast Genesee St., Syracuse, N. Y. "I had had severe attacks of headache and dizziness, with cold hands and feet; everything I ate distressed me, bowels were constipated and I was growing very thin and nervous. I cannot half express the bad feelings I had when I commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I took nine bottles of the 'Discovery' and have taken several bottles of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. I commenced feeling better with the first bottle and kept on improving. Now I am so greatly improved in health my friends often speak of it. I most heartily recommend these medicines to

Mrs. Hari's 4,000-Mile Drive for the Benefit of Her Husbands Health.

Singhamton, N. Y., Dispatch. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hurl, of thi city, have just completed a journey which perhaps has not been matched since the days when prairie schooners navigated the country east of the Mississippi. They went to Texas and returned in a truck. The round trip took just a year.

Mrs. Hurl was the prime mover the enterprise, as she has been in all the affairs of her family since her husband became ill several years ago. It was for the benefit of her husband's health that the trip was taken.

Mr. Hurl was a cartman in this city until he had to give up work about three years ago because of lung trouble. Mrs. Hurl then took her husband's place, driving his truck every day. No work was too heavy for her to undertake. She shovelled coal and did heavy moving and similar work.

Mr. Hurl's health continued to gro worse, and about a year ago the doctors advised a change of climate as the only thing that would save his life. Texas was recommended as a good place for him.

Mrs. Hurl quickly conceived the plan of driving to Texas, just as many peo ple from the East traveled to their new Western homes in the first half of the last century. This method of travel was decided upon because it was cheap and also because it was thought that the outdoor life would benefit Mr. Hurl.

Mrs. Hurl accordingly fitted truck with bows, over which placed a canvas cover, and packed in the wagon, tent and other necessary camping articles. On June 10, 1902, the family, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Hurl and their little son, started on naking twenty of twenty-five miles a day. They camped wherever night overtook them, purchasing supplies of the farmers along the way.

Mr. and Mrs. Hurl are fond of music, olaying the mandolin, guitar and cornet. Frequently while they were traveling through country districts people would gather at their camp in the evening and they would give a concert. During the last half of the journey they traveled through country almost as wild as any traversed by the early emigrants. In some place there were no roads, nothing but rough trails, and t was necessary to ford rivers. Across the Indian Territory the traveling was particularly bad. But in spite of the hardships, Mrs. Hurl kept pluckily at her task, always thinking of the health of her husband. They expected to reach Texas in about three months, but it was on December 19, or more than five months from the time they left Binghamton, when they arrived at their journey's end. The frequent stops of several days at a time made on Mr. Hurl's account had lengthened the time. After reaching Texas they were dis appointed. The climate did not agree with Hurl after all. Although he had improved considerably while on the road, he soon began to fail after reaching the journey's end.

As soon as she saw that life in the southwest would not bring the desired result, Mrs. Hurl decided to return to her home in this city. Again the tedious journey of more than 2,000 miles was begun, and just a year from the time they had left this city they returned to their Binghamton home.

Mr. Hurl is still an invalid, although his health is better than when the open air journey was begun.

Letters from a Self Made Merchant to His Son." by George Horace Lorimer.

I hear a good deal about men who won't take vacations and who kill themselves by overwork, but it's usually worry or whisky. It's not what a man does during working hours, but after them, that breaks down his health. A fellow and his business should be bosom friends in the office and sworn enemies out of it. A clear mind is one that is swept clean of business at 6 o'clock down next morning. Some fellows leave the office at night getting any good out of them. What every man does need once a year is a change of work-that is, if he has been curved up over a desk for fifty weeks and subsisting on birds and burgundy, he ought to take to fishing for a living and try bacon and eggs, with a little spring water, for dinner.

Boys are constantly writing me for advice about how to succeed, and when send them my receipt they say that I am dealing out commonplace generalities. Of course I am, but that's what the receipt calls for, and if a boy will take these commonplace generalities and knead them into his job the mixture 'll be cake. Once a fellow's got the primary business virtues cemented into his character he's safe to build on. But when a clerk crawls into the office in the morning like a sick setter pup and leaps house he wouldn't always be around when customers were. He's the sort to weaken seriously, the Mormon faith. the destructive forest fires in the north-character of John Wesley. of a chap who would hold back the sun an hour every morning and have it in a moral and spiritual sense, because assassination of the King and Queen of he was soon able to do more work gain two every afternoon if the Lord would give him the same discretionary The family traveled leisurely, usually powers that he gave Joshua. And I have noticed that he's the fellow who invariably takes a timekeeper as an insult. He's pretty numerous in business offices; in fact, if the glance of the human eye could affect a clock face in the same way that a man's country should have to buy a new timepiece for the office every morning.

There are several reasons why it isn' safe for you to trade on 'Change just now, but the particular one is that Graham & Co., will fire you if you do. Trading on margin is a good deal on the dead run. Of course, the Board of Trade has its legitimate uses, but all you need to know just now is that speculation by a fellow who never owns more pork at a time than he sees on his breakfast plate isn't one of them.
