Virginia Date Club Meeting.

A delightful meeting of the Virginia Date Book Club was held Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. R. E. Ridenhour as hostess. Eleven members answered to the roll call.

After the business was dispensed with the literary program was taken up. Interesting papers were read by Mrs. R. E. Ridenhour, Jr., and Mrs. J. B. Sherrill on Edgar A. Guest and Thomas Nelson Page, respectively.

After an exchange of books the hostess invited the members into the dining room where a delightful three-course luncheon was charmingly served by Miss Frances Ridenhour.

Concert Tuesday Evening.

A large and appreciative audience enjoyed the concert Tuesday by the Carolina Concert Club, of Charlotte, under the able direction of Mrs. Coral Hayner Baker. The concert was given in the splendid auditorium of the Central graded school, which was well filled. This club is composed of ten young men, all good singers, as was evidenced from the opening number of the program to the close, and the members of the club are pupils in voice who study with Mrs. Baker. To make individual mention of each member would be impossible as each number was heartily enjoyed, and the club was very generous in its response to the repeated encores. Perhaps the most enjoyable number was the Miserere from Verdi's "Il Trovatore," which was repeated. The program was made up of favorite numbers from some of the leading and most popular operas, and was concluded with a lighter selection which struck the hearts of the audience as was shown by the generous applause at its close.

The assisting artist on this occasion with the club was Miss Grace Kohn, a young soprano with a voice of great power and sweetness who gave several numbers. Miss Kohn has been heard in Concord before and her friends were glad of another opportunity to hear her.

Mrs. Baker, the director and pianist of the club, gave able support in the accompaniments, playing with artistic skill, and this feature of the entertainment was most enjoyable.

The concert was given under the auspices of the Music Lovers Club of the city.

Miss Nancy Lentz Ill.

The many friends here of Miss Nancy Lentz will be sorry to learn that she has been forced to leave Chatham Institute, where she has been in school since September, because of serious eye trouble. She is with her aunt, Mrs. F. C. Correll in Greensboro.

Surprise Party.

A delightful surprise party was given to Miss Louise Medlin Tuesday evening, when about twenty of her friends gathered at her home.

The evening was spent in fun and merriment, after which the guests departed wishing her many more happy surprises. ONE PRESENT.

Visitors in Charlotte.

One Minute Interview Page Charlotte Observer: Charming visitors on Monday were Miss Jenn Winslow Coltrane, and sister, Miss Elizabeth Coltrane, of Concord, who were over for the day. Miss Jenn Coltrane is historian general of the Daughters of the American Revolution and is one of the most widely known and widely admired of all of the National officers. At the last D. A. R. congress she was written of in the Washington papers as the prettiest woman at the Congress. Many right courtesies were shown her.

JERRY DALTON RETURNS TO PRISON IN RALEIGH

Will Be Sentenced for Murder Committed in Macon County Nearly Three Years Ago.

Raleigh, Jan. 16.—Jerry Dalton, twice convicted and sentenced to be executed for the murder of Maude Grant and Merrill Angel, in Macon county, in 1919, who escaped from the jail in Asheville, July, 1920, while awaiting the decision of the Supreme Court on his second appeal for a new trial, has been returned to the prison here from San Diego, Calif., where he was captured last November.

Dalton had lived in San Diego for two years, working first with a general contractor and later as superintendent of the laundry of a large hotel. He disclosed his identity to an aunt living in San Diego, she later removed from the city, but before leaving confidential her secret to a friend, who later related the story to another friend, who was the wife of a deputy sheriff.

In relating the story of his escape Dalton denies that he left Asheville in an airplane. He declared that on escaping from the jail, he separated from the other prisoners who escaped and made his way alone through the mountains for nine days before risking travel on a train. He visited Wyoming, Montana, Idaho and Mexico before settling in San Diego. His employers in California spoke very highly of him to North Carolina officers.

Until the date of his execution has been fixed by the governor, Dalton will be held in the state prison here. His appeal for a new trial was denied by the Supreme Court. It is understood that an effort will be made by Macon county citizens to have the sentence committed to life imprisonment.

Dalton contracted a slight case of influenza while being brought here from San Diego, but is not seriously ill.

Earl Neale Will Coach Football and Baseball at University of Virginia.

Charlottesville, Va., Jan. 16.—Earl Neale will coach football and baseball at the University of Virginia for the season of 1923-24. In a telegram to Dr. John H. Neff, chairman of the committee on coaching, Mr. Neale accepted the year round position offered him by a unanimous vote of the athletic council.

While Coach Neale will not take up his regular duties until football practice begins September 10 he will report next spring for a workout of two weeks with football candidates. In addition to his duties as head coach of football and baseball Mr. Neale will act as the sort of director of athletics in an effort to increase the participation in sports by the student body as a whole.

Action of the athletic council was taken only after the question of selecting a successor of Tom Campbell had been considered at length. Several prospects, Mr. Neale among them, were interviewed in person before the selection was made.

While Mr. Neale will come to the university for only one year the athletic council has secured an option on his time in case the arrangement is found to be mutually satisfactory.

V. W. LEWIS RESIGNS POSITION WITH STATE

Has Been in Charge of Livestock Marketing Since 1921.

Raleigh, N. C., Jan. 17.—The resignation of V. W. Lewis, who has had charge of the livestock marketing work for the Division of Markets since 1921, was announced by B. W. Kilgore, director of the Agricultural Extension Service today. Mr. Lewis will return to the active management of his farm at Somerset, Kentucky.

Correll Shumaker, acting head of the Division of Markets, stated three or four applicants with good training and experience are being considered to fill the vacancy caused by Mr. Lewis' resignation, and the appointment will be made during the early part of February.

Mr. Lewis was closely affiliated with W. W. Shay in promoting livestock farming in North Carolina, the two working together in the marketing of hogs finished in feeding demonstrations conducted by bounty agents in a large number of counties. He is a graduate of Auburn, and for three years was chief of extension work in animal husbandry in South Carolina. Later, he became associated with the publishers of a livestock journal and then came to this state.
