

German Rail Employees Tie Up Ruhr Railroads

Rail Men on Practically Entire System Go on Strike in Protest to Occupation Method of French.

MAIN LINES ARE ALL DEMORALIZED

Gen. Weygand Visits Ruhr With M. le Trocquer, Who Says France is Going to Get Satisfaction.

Dusseldorf, Jan. 25 (By the Associated Press).—Virtually the entire railway system of the Ruhr valley and the occupied territory immediately adjoining was paralyzed today by a strike of the railway men.

The disorganization of public utilities which has been slowly spreading throughout the Ruhr since the beginning of the Franco-Belgian occupation has reached a great impetus.

The main rail lines on both the right and left banks of the Rhine are shut up along a stretch of almost 50 miles between Wesel to the north of Dusseldorf, and Cologne, south of this city. The Paris-Berlin, and Warsaw-Berlin expresses are stalled in the Dusseldorf station.

Two trains of locomotives from Holland represented the only movement by rail into the Ruhr during the morning.

In addition the telegraph and telephone employees of the Postal service, informed Gen. Denigues today that the operators would strike at midnight. The French commander replied with a threat that the leaders would be sent to jail.

The mobile crew of telegraphers which customarily follows President Millerand on his official tours, arrived in Dusseldorf and is ready to take over the service in the event of a strike.

Dusseldorf, Jan. 25 (By the Associated Press).—General Weygand, Marshal Foch's chief of staff, arrived here from Paris today and immediately met in conference with General de Gontaut, to consider the application of sterner military measures against the Ruhr.

France is here to stay until she gets complete satisfaction from Germany, said Gen. Weygand.

DR. KELLERSBERGER IS HEARD BY ROTARIANS

Tells of Work as Medical Missionary in Africa—Club Wants Traffic Cop for School.

A talk by Dr. E. R. Kellersberger, returned missionary from Africa, and a communication that a traffic cop be stationed at the intersection of Spring and Grove Streets at certain hours of the day, were the high lights in the weekly meeting of the Concord Rotary Club yesterday.

The Public Affairs Committee made the recommendation that the city be asked to place the cop at the street crossing near Central School, and the recommendation received the support of the club. The city will be asked to station the traffic officer at the school for forty-five minutes each morning while the children are assembling for the day, again at the noon hour and again in the afternoon when school is dismissed.

Several accidents have occurred at the intersection of these streets. It was pointed out, and the club members felt that the officer could accomplish much good for the school children.

Dr. Kellersberger, who spent some time in Africa as a medical missionary, was heard with the greatest interest. He had planned to show pictures of his work and living conditions in the heart of Africa, but the electric power went off during his address, and the pictures could not be shown.

Dr. Kellersberger has spent a great deal of time in Africa and he knows thoroughly the great work that is being done and needs to be done there. In addition to touching on his work there, he also gave facts concerning the life of the inhabitants, their customs and their needs.

NITROGEN ADDS MUCH TO YIELD OF COTTON

"Raleigh, N. C., Jan. 25.—Farmers of North Carolina should give close attention to the sources of nitrogen in their fertilizer," used in the cultivation of cotton, according to a statement issued today by W. F. Page, agronomist of the North Carolina Experiment Station.

"The experiment on which this conclusion was based was conducted near Fayetteville on the Norfolk sandy loam type of soil last year and was designed to study the effect of the different carriers of nitrogen under cotton," he said.

"In making this test, 900 pounds of fertilizer per acre, analyzing eight per cent. phosphoric acid; eight per cent. ammonia and four per cent. potash, were used. All of the phosphoric acid was furnished by acid phosphate, the potash from sulphate of potash, and the nitrogen from various carriers. The fertilizer was applied before planting the crop.

"The results show that where no nitrogen was used, the cotton yielded only 850 pounds, but where nitrate of soda was used in the fertilizer, the yield jumped up to 2000 pounds of seed cotton. Where sulphate of ammonia was used the yield was 1749 pounds of seed cotton, and where one-third of the nitrogen was from nitrate of soda and the other two-thirds from sulphate of ammonia, the yield was 1727 pounds.

"Where tankage, fish scrap and cottonseed meal was used with a small amount of nitrate of soda, the yield remained around 1600 pounds per acre, except in the case of dried blood, where the yield went down to about 1200 pounds per acre.

"This test shows that nitrate of soda is still the most efficient carrier of nitrogen for cotton in North Carolina. The increase of 1210 pounds of seed cotton where nitrate was used over that in which no nitrogen was used indicates this and it is further confirmed by the fact that the nitrate gave 341 pounds more of seed cotton than did the sulphate of ammonia, which was the next highest.

"In fact, it was found that none of the yields from any plot was as good as the yield from the nitrate, which was used as the sole carrier of nitrogen. The soils of eastern Carolina need nitrogen, and the use of nitrate of soda under boll weevil conditions it is imperative that this nitrogen be quickly available.

"The quickly available nitrogen goes into solution at once where there is sufficient soil moisture and it is immediately available to the cotton plants, allowing them to grow off early, thereby making strong, healthy plants, on which the bolls may be set early and withstanding to a great extent the early weevil damage.

"A number of other tests on the different sources of nitrogen has been conducted and all of them are in line with this particular experiment in Cumberland County. Therefore, should the farmers of North Carolina apply this information to their farming practices this year it is believed it probably will pay them excellent returns in increased acre yields," he said.

QUESTIONS SENT TO TEACHERS OF STATE

Seven Important Questions Relative to Work of N. C. Educational Association Are Prepared.

Raleigh, N. C., Jan. 24.—Seven important questions relating to the work of the North Carolina Educational Association are being submitted to the local units of this organization this week for referendum, with the request that the vote be taken between the present date and March 1 in order that the executive committee at a meeting soon after the latter date, may work out the details of that portion of the program which is approved.

The following questions were discussed and approved at a recent session of the executive committee in Raleigh:

"Shall the executive committee make arrangements for at least five section meetings for teachers during the coming year, these meetings to be held at five convenient places in North Carolina?"

"Shall a committee be appointed from the association to be called on by the department of education to make investigations, when necessary, on the proposed legislation and such changes as may become necessary in the rules and regulations regarding the certification of teachers?"

"Shall the president appoint a committee to make a study of retirement laws in other states with a view of presenting such a law to the general assembly, after it has been approved by the teachers' association, and such changes as may become necessary in the rules and regulations regarding the certification of teachers?"

"Will you authorize the executive committee to make arrangements for publishing a magazine, and if one is established before the next school year how many would be willing to subscribe for it at seventy-five cents a year, in addition to the dollar membership fee for the association?"

"To offer up to $150 this year to encourage teachers and educators to make studies of outstanding educational work or problems in North Carolina with a view of having these studies published in bulletin form in co-operation with the department of education?"

"Will you authorize the president, vice-president and the secretaries and others called in for help, to prepare a suggested program of work for the local units, with a view towards encouraging a better understanding of the state and its laws and governmental functions."

"Will you authorize the continuance of the Teachers Placement Bureau by the association with the following fees: for members, one dollar, and non-members five dollars; these fees to become effective after March 1, for each year of the business for the school year 1923-1924; and with the further understanding that those joining the association before the minimum fee?"

"An explanation of this proposed fee, the executive committee calls attention to the fact that non-members should not be allowed to use the bureau except upon payment of as much as five dollars to help pay for the service. Members are asked to pay the actual cost of the service, which will be about a dollar per registrant. The committee believes this fee from the members is justified because it is a special service rendered to only about 25 per cent. of the teachers in the state."

The questionnaires are being sent out by Judge B. Warren, secretary-treasurer of the association.

OPEN HEARINGS AT BASTROP ARE ENDED

Ku Klux Klan Charged With Outrage by Attorney General Coco at Conclusion of Hearings.

Bastrop, La., Jan. 25 (By the Associated Press).—The Ku Klux Klan was charged with responsibility for numerous outrages in Morehouse Parish in a statement today by A. V. Coco, attorney general of Louisiana, at the conclusion of the open hearing into the activities of masked bands which culminated August 24 in the kidnapping near here of Watt Daniel and T. F. Richard, the bodies of whom were found in a lake 25 miles from the scene on December 22.

The attorney general who addressed the court immediately before adjournment declared that since the advent of the Klan in the parish there had arisen "a condition of disorder and lawlessness which has widened into a suppression of constituted authorities by the Ku Klux Klan and the establishment of a government of its own." The parish, he added, was "on the brink of riot and bloodshed," when Governor Parker sent troops here and initiated the investigation.

Mr. Coco declared that while it might be conceded that many Klansmen did not actually participate in the acts of lawlessness "they nevertheless may be deemed responsible therefor by reason of their silence and inaction."

THE COTTON MARKET

Continued Firmness of Liverpool Did Not Stimulate Demand Today.

New York, Jan. 25.—The continued firmness of Liverpool failed to materially stimulate the demand at the opening of the cotton market here today. First prices were unchanged to 19 points higher, with the tone steady, but there was a good deal of scattered realizing and probably some selling for a reaction while trade demand was reported less active. Prices soon eased off in consequence to about 2 to 18 points net lower on the more active old crop conditions.

Cotton futures opened firm. Jan. 28-46; March 28-72; May 28-90; July 28-56; October 26-35.

Washington, Jan. 25 (By the Associated Press).—The machinery of the Federal government has been set in motion to ascertain whether any foreign embassies and legations here have brought into the country excessive shipments of liquor, which later was diverted into the bootleg trade in the national capital.

As a result of recent disclosures by the Washington police, who charge openly that some foreign envoys are using their diplomatic immunity to supply bootleggers, Treasury Department officials have sent a memorandum to the State Department which is understood to call attention to certain "unusual shipments" of liquor coming to the embassies and legations here.

MUCH SCHOOL BUILDING IN PROGRESS IN STATE

There Are Now 800 Buildings, Valued at $25,000,000 Under Construction, in North Carolina.

Raleigh, N. C., Jan. 25.—North Carolina now is engaged in a school building program, which, when completed, will add approximately eight hundred new structures at a cost of $25,000,000, according to the report of J. J. Blair, director of schoolhouse planning, made public today.

"The interest of the entire public in providing better accommodations for their children is phenomenal," stated Dr. C. Brooks, state superintendent of public instruction, in discussing details of the report. "The people are engaged in the construction of buildings which, when completed, will cost over $25,000,000. In 1919 the total valuation of all public school property in the state was barely $15,000,000."

"The old log school houses and the small frame buildings heretofore used are rapidly disappearing and the people of the country have enthusiasm for education that even the towns and cities did not have ten years ago. In the place of poorly lighted, poorly equipped schoolhouses may be found today, eight, twelve or sixteen room brick buildings with auditoriums, located on the great highways that are now spanning the State.

"The report shows that during the past generation, the entire school plant has been built and then rebuilt a second time.

"It is necessary, therefore, in order to avoid waste to build permanently. This is the idea that the people seem to have in mind. Committees and boards of education are showing better judgment than ever before in the selection of sites for their new school buildings. They are securing sufficient grounds to provide recreation and playground centers for the children and one of the most noticeable evidences of progress is the care with which buildings are being located.

"The new building erected at Coolee, Davis County, is presented in the report as a type or model for the most interested citizens to study. It is very interesting that the chief purpose of a school building is to provide class room space for pupils, and all other parts of a building are necessarily related to the class room.

"Therefore, if one building is so constructed that only fifty per cent of the floor space can be used for class room purposes while another devoted seventy-five per cent. to class room purposes, the cost of the building per class room will be fifty per cent. more in the former than in the latter.

"It is very clear that from twenty-five to fifty per cent. of the cost of a building may be saved to the taxpayer, when the people understand that the floor area may be so arranged as to provide a larger per cent. of it for class room uses rather than to have it cut up into unnecessary hallways, stairways and rooms that cannot be used successfully as class rooms.

"Of course, provision must be made for cloak rooms and the like. But the Coolee building devotes seventy-five per cent. of the floor space to class room uses and provides for a good other necessary features of a good school building. A few buildings have been erected in which the floor spaces used for class room instruction is less than fifty per cent. of the entire floor space. This is such an unwise expenditure that every citizen should study the best plans in order that the greatest advantages may be derived from a fair expenditure."

A study of the number of new buildings either completed, under construction or planned shows that an average of $30,000 will be spent on each structure, according to Dr. Brooks.

STATE FIRE ESCAPE LAW SHOULD BE AMENDED

Bill Before Legislature Is Designed to Provide Better Protection of Life.

Raleigh, N. C., Jan. 25.—Extensive amendments to the state fire escape law, designed to provide better protection of life, are proposed in a measure being considered by the State Library.

A program of legislation outlined by Stacey W. Walker, insurance commissioner.

Plans for all theaters would be approved by the commissioner before the buildings could be constructed under the provisions of the bill.

All hotels, school dormitories and all other buildings used for lodging purposes, other than private dwellings, not over three stories in height would have to be constructed so that occupants of all rooms above the first floor would have unobstructed access to "separate and distinct ways of egress extending from the uppermost floor to the ground, such ways of egress to be so arranged in reference to rooms that in case of fire on one stairway, the other stairway" could be reached without having to pass the stairway involved.

"Entrance to all such ways of egress as mentioned in this section," the measures continue, "shall be from corridors or hallways of not less than three feet in width and in no case shall entrance to such ways of egress be through a room or closet and where such building is in the opinion of the insurance commissioner of sufficient size to require more than two ways of egress, the N. F. P. A. standard governing corridors and stair areas shall be adhered to."

All such buildings already constructed would be required to provide ways of egress deemed advisable by the commissioner and the bill also requires a large number of fire escapes on buildings. All theaters and public meeting buildings already constructed also would be required to comply with the law's provisions.

FARRAR AND HUSBAND MIGHT BURY HATCHET

Actor's Attorneys Revives Reports That Reconciliation Might Yet Be Brought About.

New York, Jan. 24.—Reports of a possible reconciliation between Geraldine Farrar and Lou Tellegen were revived today after Arthur E. Schwartz, counsel for the actor, had obtained a postponement until Monday of a referee's hearing in a divorce action brought by the diva.

The attorney said he had asked for the postponement in order that he might receive from Mr. Tellegen, now in Los Angeles, a reply to a letter asking whether there was any truth in reports of a reconciliation. He denied that the continuance had been sought by his client and emphasized that he merely desired to ascertain whether there was anything to the report that Mr. Tellegen recently had sent a bouquet to the singer in Lynn, Mass.

Mr. Tellegen has been quoted in dispatches as denying that the flowers came from him.

Referring to the death today of Mrs. Henrietta Farrar, mother of the opera star, the attorney said: "Mr. Tellegen will be grieved to hear of Mrs. Farrar's death. I should not be surprised if he sent a telegram of condolence to Miss Farrar."

Miss Farrar, who was in Canada on a concert tour, is expected to return to New York tomorrow.

WORK OF THE STATE LEGISLATURE TODAY

House Was in Session but a Short Time and the Good Roads Bill Was Not Taken Up Today.

SENATE CONSIDERS SHIP LINE BILL

Bill Goes to Committee for Consideration—University Trustees Are Holding Important Meeting Today.

Raleigh, Jan. 25 (By the Associated Press).—The good roads bill failed to come to a vote in the House today because of early adjournment occasioned by a meeting of the University trustees to consider the proposed medical college. The Senate, however, took up the state-owned ship line proposal.

Senator D. F. Giles moved that the president of the Senate name a subcommittee of five, chosen from among the senators or outside, and refer to it the ship line bill, and spoke for the proposition. Opposition to the motion was expressed by Senator Charles U. Harris, who declared that he regarded the movement as one to delay the measure, and thereby affect its chances of early passage.

Senator Harris also asserted that he regarded the motion as out of order in that the rules do not provide for such a course of "superseding the committee" formed to consider the bill.

In support of his statement Senator Harris, who introduced the ship bill, said that through the graces of the governor the opposition had been given plenty of time to develop its case and to bring its data before the hearings of the water commerce committee before the committee reported.

Senator Giles then asked for a roll call vote on his amendment which he made more explicit by a sub amendment to read that the bill be referred to the sub-committee with any amendments offered thereto by senators, with the object of conferring with the governor on these amendments and getting additional data. This was voted down, 20 to 14.

A motion to refer the bill to the committee on appropriations to which Mr. Harris agreed, was carried.

The Senate was informed of the meeting of the University trustees and a motion was made to transact only local business to enable such senators as were members of the board to attend the meeting. The vote carried.

The House business was short. Few new bills were introduced, and Representative Doughton's motion to adjourn until 10:30 a. m. tomorrow cut short the expected debate and vote on the third reading roll call of the good roads bill.

Wanted to Send Bill to Committee

Raleigh, Jan. 25.—A vigorously executed plan to have Governor Cameron Morrison's state ship line bill referred to a special committee was defeated in the Senate today by a roll call vote in which 14 senators voted for the motion and 29 opposing it. Senator D. F. Giles, of McDowell county, led the movement to put the bill in the hands of a new committee, and Senator Charles U. Harris, of Wake County headed the legislators who fought
