Bible Thought For The Day

PERFECT PEACE.—Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on thee: because he trusteth in thee.—Isaiah 26:3.

RAISING FOOD SUPPLIES.

It seems that farmers now are about to come to the conclusion that there is money in other crops save cotton and tobacco. For many years it has been hard to make the people in the South realize this, and we paid dearly for our stubbornness, but it does seem now that we are about to see the light.

CABARRUS' LOSS.

Cabarrus County is the loser in the deal which takes Miss May Stockton to Buncombe County as County Health Nurse. Miss Stockton came to this county as the first county nurse. She had to break in on a new job in a new community, and we are certain everyone in the county who has kept up with her fine work will agree in the opinion that she has done her work as only an expert could do it.

GUARD AGAINST "FAKERS."

Experts of the Federal and State Departments of agriculture have issued warnings recently to the farmers of the State to beware of persons who would sell them sure cures for the boll weevil. The experts declare that in many Southern States these "fakers" have been selling their "cures" for a number of years, with the result that the weevil has been allowed to increase by the millions for the simple reason that the remedies sold are no good.

SMUGGLED LIQUOR IS CAPTURED IN JERSEY.

Police nab 200 cases of Whisky and One Motor Boat Engaged in Traffic. Woodbridge, N. J., Feb. 1.—The landing at Sewaren today of a large amount of liquor believed to have been taken off vessels in the rum fleet of whisky and one of 14 motor vehicles engaged in the smuggling operation and the arrest of three men were reported today by Woodbridge police.

COLUMBIA EXPECTS TO STAY IN LEAGUE.

Columbia, Feb. 1.—Columbia will in all probability remain in the Sally League. At a meeting held here this afternoon, called at the instance of a special committee from the board of directors, a citizen announced that he would take over the franchise and operate the club if the chamber of commerce would raise $1,000 for him from the city.

MORRISON AND MAXWELL.

Governor Morrison and A. J. Maxwell, corporation commissioner for the State, are up in arms again, and taxation this time is the subject of their verbal battle. The Governor in his recent address to the General Assembly, asked for certain appropriations, declaring the State was in good condition financially. And now comes Mr. Maxwell with the statement that instead of being in good shape financially the State has a deficit of more than $5,000,000. Mr. Morrison replies with the statement that he took his figures from the report of the State Treasurer, and unless Mr. Maxwell can prove that the State Treasurer's report is absolutely false we do not see how he can substantiate his (Maxwell's) charges.

Treasurer Lacy pointed out that there is a deficit now, but he expressed the opinion that this deficit would be wiped out when all taxes are collected, and he asked the General Assembly to economize until the periods of expenditure and income come together. He made mention of no deficit of $5,000,000. Where did Mr. Maxwell get his figures?

From the beginning of the Morrison regime Mr. Maxwell has been one of the strongest opponents of Mr. Morrison, and since he has opposed practically every suggestion and plan of the Governor, people will be inclined to take his financial statement with a grain of salt. It would be almost impossible, we believe, for Mr. Maxwell to convince the people that Mr. Lacy failed to show a $5,000,000 deficit, if the deficit is there, and it seems that the public will have to believe Mr. Lacy and the Governor or Mr. Maxwell, for they do not agree.

If Mr. Maxwell would just agree with one thing that Mr. Morrison proposes, and we think he has proposed a number of fine things for North Carolina, instead of finding fault with every move of the Governor, people of the State would pay more attention to his charges. As it is, Mr. Maxwell has yelled "wolf!" on so many occasions when the State did not suffer that people are inclined now to look upon him as an enemy of Governor Morrison rather than as a guardian of the State.

COTTON MARKET LETTER.

Greenboro News. New York, Feb. 4.—Since establishing a new high price for the season, around 29 cents, the cotton market has undergone the most severe reaction in many months. This seems to have been primarily the result of an overbought condition, and overconfidence by bullish traders. Thirty cents had been generally predicted, and this induced a weaker class of buyers around the season's high figures.

NEGROES LEAVING SOUTH.

Recently much has been written about the exodus of negro laborers from the South, and some writers have become convinced that the exodus is becoming an acute problem. If the present rate of migration continues, we are told by some people, the South in another half-century, will have no negro laborers.

The Manufacturers Record in a recent issue presents figures showing the fallacy of such reports. The Record goes over the entire field carefully, and it finds that over a period of "over sixty years there is a net difference in negro migration in favor of the North and West of only 725,000 out of a total negro population of 10,500,000."

ONLY ONE YEAR OF INCOME AGAINST TWO OF EXPENSES.

Maxwell's Figures Thus Explained by Expert Accountants, Who Declare State's Financial Condition Healthy. Raleigh, Feb. 3.—Official North Carolina, executive, legislative, and administrative, remained "all het up" today over the Maxwell claim of a five million dollar deficit and the governor's demand for an investigation.

COAST ARTILLERY IN STATE MAKING GOOD COMPANIES HAVE HAD FINE RECORDS DURING THE PAST FEW MONTHS.

Raleigh, N. C., Feb. 5.—The complete quota of the Coast Artillery of the North Carolina National Guard has been organized with the exception of the 422nd company now being formed at Greensboro and the headquarters detachment, the location of which has not yet been determined, according to a report of Major C. T. Marsh to Adjutant General J. Van B. Metts, made public today.

CONCORD AND HER BANKS.

The Concord papers last week carried account of the opening of the new home of the Citizens Bank and Trust Company, at that place, and the picture of the building carried in the Tribune shows a classical structure of fitting company alongside the best of any city may claim. It is a modern bank building in all detail and in evidence of the striking progress of the bank interests in that town. It was a long time ago—in 1889, to be exact—but the Observer remembers the incident as if it were but of yesterday, that suggestion was made to Esquire R. W. Alison that Concord "ought to have a bank"—and how the "Squire pulled the shawl up to the side of his mouth and laughed! But Concord is today one of the strongest banking communities in the Piedmont bank of progressive banks, and can lay claim to one of the finest banking homes in all the country.

GREENSBORO WON'T CHANGE ITS FORM OF GOVERNMENT.

Greensboro, Feb. 4.—Efforts to change the form of city government here back to the commission from the city manager-council met with failure, a check of names attached to petitions asking for an election to change the city charter made today, disclosed. Twenty-five per cent of the voters registered at the last city election are necessary to petitions asking for an election, and the petitions lacked that number.

AMERICAN HONEY PRODUCERS.

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 5.—Several hundred delegates from various parts of the United States have arrived in St. Louis to attend the fourth annual convention of the American Honey Producers' League, the sessions of which will be opened tomorrow and continue for three days. Numerous problems relating to the production and marketing of honey will be considered by the convention. Plans will be formulated for continuing the nation-wide advertising campaign inaugurated a year ago.

TO SCRAP HISTORIC BATTLESHIPS.

Washington, Feb. 5.—Bids will be opened at the Navy department tomorrow for the sale of the historic battleships Ohio and Kentuck, now at the League Island Navy Yard, which under the decision of the department are to be broken up for junk. Before being scrapped both of the old fighting ships will be stripped of all useful equipment.

The Kentucky was completed in 1909, and is more than 22 years old. For some time she was assigned to the New York Naval Militia.

The Ohio was completed in 1904. For the past few years she has been used in experimental work. One of the notable feats of the Ohio was to direct the movements of the battleship Iowa by radio during the bombing tests off the Virginia capes two years ago.

Both of the old battleships have been out of commission for some time and were destined to be scrapped, regardless of the $35-power naval treaty.

The tracks that great men leave behind Upon the sands of time, Oft show they wabbed 'round a lot Before they got sublime.
