High School Quint Wins From Davidson.

In one of the liveliest scraps ever seen on the Y court, the local high school basketball quint Thursday night defeated the fighting "Wild Kittens" of the Davidson High School by the margin on a lone point, the score standing 14-13 at the final whistle. Davidson led all the way through the game until the last two or three minutes of play when the locals forged ahead and held the lead to the finish. The visitors did practically all of their scoring in the first quarter, registering nine points, while the Concord boys were able to score only one field goal during the first half. After the first quarter the game was all Concord's, though Davidson had gained such a lead that it seemed that they would never catch them.

With both teams playing a five-man defense, and both fighting so hard that numerous fouls had to be called, the score was necessarily low. Each team registered five field goals, but Smart won the game with his foul shooting. He caged four out of nine tries, while Bohannon and Johnson together could only register three out of twelve tries.

Captain Ridenhour was the individual star of the game, with Grey playing for second honors. It is real interesting to watch these two youngsters pitted against each other. For the third time this season the two have met; once on the gridiron and twice on the basketball court. Grey, with his wonderful speed, had the edge on the football field, but he has been forced to yield the honors to Pennant on the basketball floor. The local captain last night held his team scoreless while he himself caged three from the center of the floor. Grey broke even with his forward.

Wolf refereed a good game.

FINE CROWDS ATTEND INSTITUTE SESSIONS

Attendance at Sessions of Sunday School Institute Was Better Thursday Than It Was on Wednesday.

FINE ADDRESSES
FEATRE MEETING

E. T. Albertson, D. W. Sims and Miss Daisy Magee Discuss Subjects of Unusual Interest.

Fine addresses by D. W. Sims, E. T. Albertson and Miss Daisy Magee featured the sessions of the Sunday School Institute Thursday. The sessions of the Institute are being held in St. James Lutheran Church, and are open to Sunday School workers of all denominations.

Interest in the Institute continues to increase, and officers of the County Association, as well as the speakers have expressed delight with the interest being aroused in the Institute. The closing session will be held tonight, with another session this afternoon.

Mr. C. F. Ritchie presided at the afternoon session Thursday, and devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. W. C. Lyerly.

Those who attended the Institute Thursday afternoon enjoyed very much the address on the "Sunday School Council Meeting" by Mr. Albertson, and the practical suggestions were applied to practically every school. One of the features emphasized was the necessity of recognizing the new day in which we are now living, that the individual superintendent can no longer be effective without the sympathetic co-operation of all his teachers and officers. He insisted the one way to get these people together was to plan super meetings at which time a fellowship could be developed, thus tying the entire group together with social bonds and common interest.

The program which follows this fellowship must be of a practical type. The following outline was given for a year's program:

1. A review of the local school standard as proposed by the individual denomination.

2. The relationship of the Sunday school and the preaching service and the need for their co-operation.

3. The co-operation of parents and teachers.

4. An awakened conscience on the part of teachers and their associates.

5. Special days with an objective.

6. Winning every pupil to Christ and to the Church.

7. Effective ways of training workers.

8. Sunday School music, and its value in worship.

9. Review of the Standard and the year's success.

10. The Annual Picnic, for the whole school.

An address by Miss Daisy Magee, and a "problem solving period," conducted by Mr. D. W. Sims, featured the remainder of the afternoon session.

At the night session Mr. J. J. Barnhardt presided, with devotional exercises led by Rev. G. W. Rollins. Mr. Albertson spoke on "The Superintendent To Be," Mr. Sims on "Better Results by Better Co-operation," and Miss Magee on "The Challenge to Religious Education."

Those who heard the address of Miss Magee counted themselves very fortunate. Miss Magee stated that all normal persons are born with a fourfold nature—a physical, a mental, a social and a religious nature. Plus, she said, he had discovered peoples without government, without an educational system and almost without food or clothes, but he had never found a nation that did not worship something.

"A well rounded education includes the development of all four natures, and a person who has only one of these natures trained is a one-sided person, and an undeveloped nature has a tendency to die. This is true of the religious as well as the other nature. The child of the North American Indian Mother will worship the Indian mother's god, Buddha, Mohammed or Jesus Christ, largely according as it is taught.

"The first challenge comes to religious education because all men are born with a religious nature that should be developed, so that the person will accept and worship the Christ. The second challenge comes because it is a dangerous thing to train a child mentally and not spiritually. Germany trained men mentally to a much greater extent than spiritually. The result was a world war and atheism. America is neglecting religious training. There are said to be more than eleven million children under 13 years of age, and thirty-seven million young people under twenty-five years of age in North America, receiving no systematic religious education.

"What institution will give the religious education? The public schools cannot teach the Bible as a text book, first because if this is done the principle of separation of Church and State, for which the Protestant people of North America stand, will be violated; second, because if the Bible is placed as a text book in the curricula of the public schools it will be taught largely as history and literature and not as God's message to the people of the ages.

"The homes are not sufficiently giving religious education. There are eight million 'nominally Protestant' children in our country who are being reared in non-Christian homes. The Church is the only institution that can answer the call. In order that it may do this efficiently it must have a great teaching program. This may include the Sunday School, which meets for an hour and a half once a week, a daily vacation Bible School for six or eight weeks during the summer, and a week day school of religion giving to the children from two to four and a half hours of religious instruction during the week for eight or nine months a year."

In Mr. Albertson's evening address, he pointed out very definitely the failures which are apparent and the explanations for many of our losses. He insisted that in the future our superintendents must believe in their jobs with that passion which forces them to give more time and preparation. It will need a leader who has self-mastery with an irresistible purpose and a goal to be attained; one who can control himself under the most trying circumstances and be able to manage other people without their feeling a hand of authority directing their activities.

In this program for each Sunday must be the three elements which are vital in religious education, he said. A training in devotional life which shall find expression in Bible reading, a song service and prayer. Second, a teaching period, unmoored, which should have a minimum of time at least thirty minutes. Third, a challenge to personal service, which shall find expression in helping others.

Mr. Sims said the Sunday schools could be made better by four kinds of co-operation. He enumerated the following:

1. A thorough co-operation in the Sunday School between officials, pupils and classes.

2. The school co-operation with its own denomination to its fullest extent.

3. Co-operation with community movements.

4. Co-operation with other Sunday Schools of other denominations.

KIWANIS MEETING

D. W. Sims and "Bob" Morrison Are Heard at the Weekly Meeting of the Club.

The meeting of the Kiwanis Club of Concord at the local Y. M. C. A. Friday evening transacted routine business, heard an interesting address by Mr. D. W. Sims, and an inspirational talk by visiting Kiwanian "Bob" Morrison of Bristol.

The appropriation of the Kiwanis Club was asked by the Fine Arts department of the Woman's Club in the efforts now being made to have music taught in the public schools of this city. The Woman's Club on Friday of next week will have in Concord Mr. William Breach, head of the Music department of the public schools in Winston-Salem, who will deliver an address on "Public School Music."

On motion of Dr. Morrison King, the Kiwanians voted unanimously to invite Mr. Breach to be their guest at the luncheon next Friday evening.

Mr. D. W. Sims, secretary of the State Sunday School Association of North Carolina, was introduced by Buxton Robertson, program chairman of the meeting. Mr. Sims gave an interesting talk on Sunday School work that is being done in this state, saying that he had decided to talk on the work in which he was most interested. The members of the Kiwanis, Rotary and Lions clubs, he added, are composed of men who have been picked out from the others of their community as leaders in the line of work, therefore the whole community is watching to see what they do and where they go. Each one is being watched by other persons, and the influence and example of each member should be of the right kind. Mr. Sims then gave an outline of some of the results that have been obtained in various sections of North Carolina by the State organization. The fact that only one person in each four goes to any Sunday School at all is not a record that is in keeping with the history and the people of the Old North State, said the speaker, and he pointed out particular instances where in some communities there are practically no Sunday Schools at all. These places are being built up and organized into Sunday Schools, and splendid progress is being achieved.

Kiwanian R. L. Morrison was called on to lead in a song, but before he could begin the song, "Bob" declared there was something on his chest which he wanted to say to the Kiwanians of his home town before he went back to Bristol. Then he gave the members a good rousing talk on Kiwanis, full of the ginger for which the speaker is noted.

The silent boost was given by Dr. Julius Shavers; the attendance prize, donated by Farris Kidd, was drawn by Jacob O. Moose.

Mrs. Harriet Jane Dry.

Harriet Jane Dry, nee Rowland, was born February 15, 1848, and died February 4th, 1923, making her earthly pilgrimage 74 years, 11 months and 19 days. She was married to Geo. W. Dry on November 6, 1872. To this union were born two children, F. O. Dry and Mrs. DeBerry L. Lipe. She is survived by her husband and both children, two sisters, ten grand-children and one great grand-child, together with a host of friends to mourn their loss.

Mr. and Mrs. Dry quietly celebrated their Golden Wedding one year ago. She was baptized in infancy, and joined the church when a young woman and remained a loyal member until death.

She was a devoted wife, a loving mother and a Christian woman, and dying in the true faith, we patiently await the resurrection of the just who died in the Lord. A FRIEND.
