TO ADD AGRICULTURE TO SUBJECTS TAUGHT

Sufficient Funds to Co-operate With A bout 15 High Schools. Raleigh, N. C., March 31.—The State Board for Vocational Education will have sufficient funds to co-operate with about fifteen rural high schools which wish to add agriculture to the list of subjects taught during the coming year. Roy H. Thomas, supervisor of agricultural education, announced today.

At present, vocational agriculture is being taught in eighty-one high schools in forty-eight counties of the state. It will be the policy of the board, it was stated, to start these fifteen new departments of agriculture in counties that do not have schools now giving the course. Briefly, the requirements a high school must meet in order to get this type of work, according to Mr. Thomas, are:

- 1. There must be at least twenty-five farm boys, fourteen years of age and above, that want to study agriculture.
2. A suitable classroom with approximately three hundred dollars worth of equipment must be provided the first year. The second year a farm shop must be provided.
3. The teacher of agriculture must be employed on a yearly basis, and arrangements made to bear his traveling expenses in visiting projects and doing community work.
4. One-fourth of the total salary of the teacher of agriculture must be met from the local or county funds.
5. The high school should be located so that it will be one of the permanent schools in a county-wide system of organization.

If these requirements are met and a representative of the state board approves the school, the board will co-operate with the local school to the extent of paying three-fourths of the total salary of the teacher of agriculture, it was stated. All money paid by the state board is in the form of reimbursement.

Easter Cantata at Second Presbyterian Church.

On Easter Sunday night the choir of the Second Presbyterian Church rendered a cantata appropriate to the season. The music, which was of an exceptionally high order, consisted of bright, strong choruses, interspersed with solos and duets, and illustrated a very interesting story of the early Christian martyrs, which was read with much expression by Miss Nannie Query. The women choristers wore white robes with Roman sashes of bright orange, while the decorations, which were in charge of Mrs. C. H. Long, were potted hyacinths and other spring flowers. A silver cross occupied the center of the background and beneath it two flaming orange candles struck a note of color and cheerfulness. Of especial interest were the solos by Miss Martha Barringer, Mrs. Chas. Long and Mr. C. H. Long. The duet by the Misses Barringer and Thompson elicited much favorable comment. B. W.

AGRICULTURAL COLUMN Conducted by R. D. GOODMAN.

About 100 farmers gathered at the Star Theatre Saturday morning at 11 o'clock, March 31st, to see the "White Magic" film, Growing Cotton Under Boll Weevil Conditions, given under the direction of The Chilean Nitrate Committee, of New York. Dr. William S. Myers, director, Mr. Whittle was here in charge of the picture in co-operation with the County Agent of Cabarrus County; the picture being Educational from start to finish, was fully appreciated by all those present and the only regret was that all the farmers of the county were not present as this gave the results from several experiment stations on the fertilization of cotton and especially the use and value of Nitrogen in the form of Nitrate of Soda over that of any other form. The farmers wish to extend their thanks to Mr. Means, owner of the Star Theatre, for making it possible for them to see this film by allowing the use of the theatre free of charge. The treatment of cotton with calcium arsenate, for control of the Boll Weevil, has the approval of the National and State Agricultural authorities, and is the only successful method known and generally approved. The cotton planters of your county would undoubtedly profit by using poison to protect their crop from the weevil this year, as have the planters of Georgia and South Carolina in the past.

Highland Park Wages Raised 10 Per Cent.

Charlotte Observer. Beginning Monday, the wages of all operatives of the Highland Park Manufacturing company will be increased 10 per cent.

This statement was given last night to The Observer by C. W. Johnston, president of the cotton mill company. The rise will be uniform and will extend throughout the system, he said. The action of the company was taken voluntarily and not as a result of a request for higher wages from a labor union, Mr. Johnston said. This will be the first time in many months that wages have been increased by the company. The last revision was in the nature of a decrease, which amounted to about 10 per cent on the average, it is said.

The greatest speed ever achieved in reading was that of a famous man of learning who could read and remember more than fifty words a second. He is said to have read six novels a day.

DRESSING a THEME in EASTER ARRAY

Our theme is Thrift. And we would dress it in every hue and tint of the Easter Season.

For thrift is like Spring itself. It is like a seed which ambition warms; which courage and determination make fertile and strong; which hope and vision water as the showers of April sprinkle the grateful earth.

Yes, thrift is a Springtime theme. It fits the Springtime of life. And it adds to an individual life the happiness of a long, long spring--making cheerful one's days through the span of many years.

So we would dress our theme in Easter Array--to picture Thrift aright for your guidance.
