A model K Linotype machine is being installed now at the Jackson Training School. This is the second Linotype to be installed in the printing department at the school, and its installation means that more of the students of the school will receive training in the printing department.

The meeting of men interested in a fair association for this county will be held at the Merchants and Manufacturers Club this evening at 7:30 o'clock. All persons who have subscribed stock in the company and others who are interested in the proposition are asked to attend the meeting.

Miss Mary A. Hatley died Tuesday night at the home of her nephew, Mr. F. J. Little, on Innis street. She was 67 years of age and was originally from Stanley county, having made her home here since Easter. Funeral services were held yesterday and interment made in the Smith burying ground, near Oakboro.

The work of remodeling the Concord Public Library has begun, the work being under the supervision of Mrs. R. S. Young. A number of improvements and changes are to be made to the building. All material for the work was donated by the National Lumber Co., the F. C. Niblock Lumber Co., and the E. L. Morrison Lumber Company.

The funeral of Mr. Dave Dorton, who died Monday at his home in No. 2 township, was held yesterday at 11 o'clock at Boger's Chapel. The deceased was 75 years of age and is survived by his wife, two sisters, Misses Kate and Lyde Dorton, and one brother, Mr. Charles Dorton, of Bryson City. Interment was made in the cemetery at Boger's Chapel.

"Keep Off the Grass" signs have been placed about the court house lawn and Sheriff Mabry states that persons caught walking on the grass will be fined. Recently the court house lawn was replanted in grass and the commissioners have passed an order making it a misdemeanor to walk on the lawn. Persons found guilty of violating this law will be fined $5.00.

The work of widening Church street, between Means street and the building formerly occupied by the Concord Bottling Company, was begun yesterday. The street will be made about 17 feet wider, and as soon as the excavation work is completed, the street will be paved. The street is being widened at the request of the owners of the property, the P. M. Morris Real Estate Company.

The old Concord-Salisbury road, running through No. 5 township, is now being used by many persons driving from this city to Salisbury. Part of the road is now a State Highway detour, detour signs having been placed on the road this week. Persons can drive either to Salisbury or Kannapolis over this road, the detour signs pointing out the proper route to be followed.

Quite a large number of Concord and Cabarrus people attended the fox hunt held just south of this city last night. The fox was released just below the home of Dr. J. V. Davis, about 7 o'clock, and though the dogs ran him until 3 o'clock this morning they were unable to catch him. The trained dogs which were expected to take part in the hunt did not show up, so local dogs were used. The fox is believed to be hiding somewhere near the farm of Mr. Dan Krimminger.

C. F. RITCHEE MODERATOR THE CONCORD PRESBYTERY

Concord Man Honored at Sessions of Presbytery Now Being Held at Lenoir. Mr. C. F. Ritchie, of this city, was elected moderator of the Concord Presbytery held Tuesday. He succeeds Rev. John McBride, of Old Fort. Mr. C. H. Hamilton, formerly of No. 3 township, this county, but now of Davidson, was chosen temporary secretary of the Presbytery.

The election of Mr. Ritchie as the chief executive of the Presbytery is a fitting tribute to his work in the Presbyterian Church. For a number of years he has been superintendent of the Sunday School of the First Presbyterian Church here, and always has been active in church work. He is well known throughout the Presbytery, having delivered addresses in many of the Churches on Sunday School work and other themes.

PLANS FOR NEW BUILDING AT TRINITY COLLEGE

To House the School of Religious Education, It Is Announced. Durham, April 12.—Architects are now at work on plans for a building to house the school of religious education at Trinity College. It was announced today. The building is planned as a memorial to the late Bishop John C. Kilgo, for many years president of Trinity, and will be called the Bishop building.

Erection of the building will come as a logical step in the progress of religious training at Trinity. The coming of Prof. J. M. Ormand, for the past two years a member of the faculty of the School of Theology at Southern Methodist University, increases the full-time instructors in this department to three, Prof. H. E. Spence and Prof. James Cannon III, having been working in this department for several years. The two North Carolina conferences have provided for four full-time instructors in this department, and a force of nine men is contemplated when the full program is put into effect.

Statistics of the department show that this year there are seventy candidates for the ministry at Trinity and thirty-five students, men and women who belong to the volunteer band most of whom have volunteered for service in foreign mission fields. Of the total of 123 students this year 495 are taking courses in religious training, 190 of whom are taking elective courses.

RESUME INQUIRY INTO SANATORIUM SITUATION

Sensational Charges Made Against Superintendent McBrayer Subject of Study.

Raleigh, April 11.—The legislative committee investigating the sanatorium for the treatment of tuberculosis will resume its inquiry into the management of the institution the first week in May, it is understood here. Some ten days or two weeks were devoted to the investigation while the general assembly was in session, and several weeks will be necessary to complete it. If the prosecution and defense carry out their announcement plans, more than a hundred witnesses will be called. Representative Tam Bowie is chairman of the committee.

In advance of the substantiation or refutation of the sensational charges made during the general assembly against Superintendent L. B. McBrayer, control of the sanatorium has been transferred from the state board of health to a board of trustees appointed by the governor. The board has held two meetings but it has not announced any changes in the management of the institution pending the outcome of the investigation. Maltreatment of patients, the handling of affairs for personal profit, serving of bad food and toleration of insanitary conditions are among the charges that have been preferred against Dr. McBrayer. He denied them in statements during the legislature and invited the investigation.

CHARLES C. WEAVER IS HEARD BY ROTARIANS

Made Fine Talk on Boys Work.—Sam Rankin Elected President of Club. Charles C. Weaver, President of the Monroe Rotary Club and a Methodist minister of that city, was the honored guest of the local Rotary Club at its meeting at the Y yesterday. An address by the Monroe Rotarian, a short talk by Bill Caswell, and announcement of new officers of the club were some of the features of a fine meeting.

It was announced that Ed. Sauvain, who last week was elected President of the local club, has resigned, and the directors choose Sam Rankin to succeed him. To succeed Sam, who was elected vice-president recently, the directors choose A. G. Odell, who last week was made assistant sergeant at arms. P. M. Lafferty was promoted from the ranks to this office. It is understood illness was the chief factor offered by Ed. in his resignation.

Bill Caswell, chairman of the boys work committee, was asked to outline some work for the club along lines of offering his suggestions. Bill outlined some work the club has already done among the boys and offered the following suggestions: That the club members continue to show an interest in the high school boys, as they have done during the past, by entertaining them, offering helpful suggestions to them and creating a closer friendship with them.

That the club endorse the programs of the boys' secretary of the L. The "Come Clean Campaign" and the "Win Your Chum" campaign did great good, Bill said, and both were supported by the Rotarians. That the club continue its policy of aiding deserving boys who need money to get a college education. Two members of the club are supporting two boys now at college, and Bill suggested that a permanent fund for this work be provided.

That the club help the crippled children of the county. Many of these need help, Bill said, and he characterized work among the crippled as among the greatest any club can do. President Weaver was heard with peculiar interest and he gave some facts and statistics concerning boys and their relations with older people that were both astonishing and interesting.

In a recent canvass made among a number of boys, he said, the boys were given a questionnaire concerning their relations with their fathers, and the answers show that the youngsters think along lines that few people realize. One question, he said, was, "What do you like best about your father?" Thirty per cent. of the boys in their answers made reference to ethical qualities found in their fathers. "This shows," the speaker said "that the boys put the emphasis on the right place. It shows that the ethical qualities of fathers are appreciated by boys."

Twenty per cent. of the boys admired the economic qualities of their fathers. "It is interesting to note that the boys appreciated the economic qualities in their fathers," he said, "but it is more interesting to note that these fathers must have lived so that their sons thought material things were the most important. They put the emphasis on the wrong place." The other 50 per cent. of the boys sent in scattered reasons, and only one said "there is not a single thing in my father than I admire."

Another question was, "What does not your father do that you would like for him to do?" Forty-four boys said "go to church." Twenty-five said "quit drinking." About the same number said "read the Bible." Others the speaker pointed out, show the same thing that occurred in the first answers. A majority of the boys were thinking of ethical qualities. They were putting the emphasis on the right place.

"The average father," said the speaker, "thinks he has a hard time keeping his son up to the standard has set for him. I wonder if it when we never realize the fact that for us by the boys it is as much a tragedy for them as it is for us when the boys never reach our standards for them?"

Fathers should always realize, the speaker warned, that they are creating an impression on their sons at all times. No Trace of Motor Voyagers is Found. Miami, Fla., April 11.—An airplane sent into the Everglades today by the Miami Herald to search for the missing Fort Myers motor voyagers, returned this afternoon without finding any trace of the party, in which there are 19 men and five women.
