

AIX-LA-CHAPELLE AGAIN IN HANDS OF ROYALIST LEADERS

During Fight at Least Six Persons Were Reported Killed and Many in Fight Were Badly Wounded.

REPUBLICANS LOSING GROUNDS

They Have Been Ejected From Coblenz and Have Been Driven From Cities of Dusseldorf and Crefeld.

Aix-la-Chapelle, Oct. 24. (By the Associated Press).—Half a dozen persons were killed and scores wounded as royalists regained possession of Aix-la-Chapelle.

Republicans losing ground. Reports received from Berlin indicate the Rhineland republicans are losing ground, says a dispatch to the Central News this afternoon. They have been ejected from Coblenz, the message states, nine persons being killed there. The Republicans also have been driven from Dusseldorf and Crefeld, the dispatch adds.

DAMAGED SOULS.

Clarity and Children.

Gambel Bradford has written a book with the above title that is not only interesting, but exceedingly informative. It is a brief but shrewd and striking biography of a half dozen men of the world whose souls were damaged by fatal flaws of character that blighted if they did not destroy the careers that might have been theirs. The writer is careful not to judge these gifted men too harshly. He gives us their strong points as well as their weak ones. It is the balanced judgment of a mind unswayed by prejudice or passion. For instance: enemies of old John Brown made him a devil—friends made him a saint. He was neither, but so far as we know all who have written of his life and character have belonged to the one class or the other; and therefore, they are not reliable. Bradford treats Brown fairly, but does not cover up his faults, or magnify his virtues. His method of dealing with his ignorant and brutal prejudice which amounted to almost an insane passion. He hated a slaveholder like Saul of Tarsus hated a Christian. And his colossal conceit led him into fatal fanaticism. He decided that he had a divine commission to set up a super-government whose business it should be to put the owners of human beings to the edge of the sword. But he was a devoted father and husband, an honest but misguided zealot, who, if he was right in his views of slavery, was wholly and criminally wrong in his method of dealing with it. Likewise, the career and character of Ben Butler, "The beast," whom the South has always execrated, was not wholly bad. He was much worse, however, than John Brown. His soul was so badly damaged that his enemies—and they are legion in the North as well as the South—are blind to a single virtue. He did not steal the spoons of the women of New Orleans when he was in military command of that city. He was a great lawyer with a vast practice and there was no need for his stealing spoons, if he had been a thief. But he was a coarse and dirty brute. He did not have the first instincts of a gentleman. What he said of the ladies of New Orleans, who turned their backs upon his troops as they passed, was enough to have lynched him to the first lamp post in sight. His soul was damaged by his venomous hatred and his coarse and vulgar nature. And so of John Randolph of Roanoke and Aaron Burr, Benedict Arnold, Thomas Paine, P. T. Barnum and others. The great showman was not an intellectual man like the others, but he was a wonderful financier and a humane and generous member. He was even religious and an active member and supporter of his church. But he saw no evil in preying upon the credulity and ignorance of the people. On the principle that the public loves to be humbugged, he gave them what they wanted and damaged his soul by his deception of those who had trusted him. We were especially interested in the biography of Thomas Paine the world renowned infidel, who was the son of a blacksmith, a man of the people, a passionate advocate of democracy, and one of the ablest defenders of the American colonies, when they rose up in rebellion against the British crown. But his soul was damaged by his own powers of reason and his pernicious books damaged multitudes of others who followed him into the darkness of doubt. Get the book. Read it. Ponder it. It will feed your soul.

TRINITY ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

Dr. Gilbert Rowe Speaks of the Wonderful Spirit of Trinity College.

The annual conference banquet of the Trinity Alumni Association, held last night at the Robert E. Lee Hotel, proved to be a most inspiring and delightful occasion.

H. R. Dwire, editor of The Sentinel, presided over the banquet in the capacity of hostmaster.

After the invocation, delivered by Rev. W. A. Lambeth of Gastonia, a most delightful meal was served, to which the gathered throng did full justice.

The large ball room of the Robert E. Lee Hotel was thronged to its capacity.

As the dishes were being cleared away, the large crowd, led by William Breach, director of music in the public schools, joined with hearty willingness in singing the old Trinity songs, that tended to bring back faded memories of the great days at the old school, of victories won, and defeats suffered bravely, of the battle of life, and the struggles after learning and friendship.

As a means of introduction of the crowd, Mr. Dwire called upon all the ministers in the crowd to stand. This was answered by a large number of men. Then came the lay members. The men who had attended the Old Trinity were then called upon, and finally the members of the famous old Trinity football teams. To this last fully six men arose.

With a few well chosen remarks, Dr. Dwire then introduced Dr. Gilbert Rowe, editor of the Methodist Quarterly Review, but better known to the alumni of Trinity College as "Gil" Rowe.

As a preliminary to his remarks, Dr. Rowe declared that he believed that the Western North Carolina Conference is the best in the entire country. When asked once why he believed that, he declared that he answered in just two words, "Trinity College."

"There is a spirit in every institution that makes for good or for evil, but I have never yet found an institution of any kind whose spirit for wholesomeness, and good is as fine as that of Trinity College. That spirit, permeating through the men of the Western Conference, has made it what it is today. Not only has it remained in the college, and with the alumni of the school, who go out, but it is a contagious spirit, and has been caught by the laymen, and the preachers that have never attended the college. It is a great power working for good in the world.

"That spirit is typified in one line of a song I heard some time ago," said Dr. Rowe. "That one line was 'Follow truth as blind men long for the light.'"

Trinity College has always been known as an institution that follows the truth with undying courage and fidelity. The first president of the college was known as "Truthful John." "If you want your boy shielded from the truths of this life, if you don't want him to know the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth, don't send him to Trinity College," he declared.

SEPARATISTS CARRY THEIR MOVEMENT TO CITY OF WEISBADEN

Colors of Republic of Rhineland Were Hoisted During the Night on Government Building in That City.

GREAT BRITAIN IS READY FOR ACTION

If Separatist Movement Extends to British Bridgehead at Cologne Will Keep Order.

Berlin, Oct. 23 (By the Associated Press).—The colors of the Rhineland republic were hoisted during the night on the German government building at Weisbaden by a band of the followers of Dr. Hans A. Dorten, leader of the previous Rhineland republic movement, whose home is in Weisbaden, a dispatch from that place states.

England Ready to Act. London, Oct. 23 (By the Associated Press).—If the German separatist movement extends to Cologne, which is the bridgehead of the British Rhineland army, Great Britain will preserve an attitude of reserve, but will take every measure to maintain order, prevent bloodshed and insure the continuance of the present local government, it was stated here today.

COTTON REPORT

To Be Issued November 1.—Mr. Parker Clears Up Some Misunderstandings.

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 24.—Following announcement from Washington that the Department of Agriculture will issue a November 1 cotton report covering the condition and forecast of production as of October 21, Frank Parker, agricultural statistician of the State-Federal Cooperative Crop Reporting Service, today issued a statement "to clear up some misunderstandings concerning the government report."

Mr. Parker said in issuing the statement, copies of which have been sent to his crop reporters in various sections of the state, that he did so without any intention of controversy.

His statement follows in full: "The secretary of agriculture, in a spirit of fairness and in order to make the crop estimates as useful and reliable as possible last winter called a meeting of America's foremost economists and agricultural leaders. These men were asked to investigate the crop reporting work and to make recommendations. The thing that they most strongly recommended was that a spring report should be secured on intentions of farmers' plantings prior to the actual date of plantings. This was done by the Department of Agriculture for all parts of the United States on all principal crops. The same committee decided after the report was secured, that it should by all means be published in order that the actual crop producers should be as fully and accurately informed as the trade or so-called speculators. From this it is seen that neither Secretary Wallace nor anyone in the Department of Agriculture was responsible for the action taken. Since then, it has been realized that this new move has proved quite advantageous to the farmers' interests. Of course, in the south the reaction was felt more with the cotton crop on account of its highly speculative nature. At least it is known that there was not as much cotton planted later as the farmers' first intentions had indicated."

"Contrary to the general impression, the so-called intentions to plant were not utilized in any of the later estimates. In fact, the final acreage of cotton, and for that matter, other crops, will not be determined until December 15. A preliminary estimate is made the first of July in order that a working basis may be provided, pending later findings."

"It has been suggested that the Department of Commerce be authorized to make a census of the actual acreages planted by the farmers each year. At first this sounds to be quite reasonable as the country gin reporters might secure this during the growing season. The experiences of the Department of Agriculture have convinced them that the United States decennial figures, like those made for 1920, are not without accuracy. Furthermore, North Carolina secures through the tax listers each year a census on crop acreages which is believed the most reliable thing of its kind anywhere in the south. Their experience convinces them that it will be an almost impossible and a very expensive undertaking for the Department of Commerce to secure such accurate information."

"The Department of Agriculture has consistently requested Congress for enough money to secure more reliable estimates on all crops. There are but two paid federal employees in the crop estimating work in each state covering all crops and livestock, while the Department of Commerce has one in each county for cotton alone."

"There are natural factors which make it impossible to forecast the final production of any crop until the actual harvest, and the Department of Agriculture forecasts only on the conditions existing at the time the report is made with the supposition that the conditions to follow will be favorable. A review of the cotton estimates by the Department of Agriculture for the past several years shows that they have been reasonably close to the final figures issued in the ginning reports the following spring."

"The Department of Agriculture could render the farmers some very reliable and useful information on crop and livestock production if they had nearly the equipment used by the census bureau. It certainly seems reasonable that the farm data should be handled by those interested in the farmers' welfare. After all, there is a distinction between production and marketing, as different principles and practices are involved. Those who are acquainted with the methods employed by the Crop Reporting Service are impressed with the reliability of their information, considering the limited means they have for conducting their work."

MAN IN JAIL TRIES TO TAKE OWN LIFE

Man Is Charged With Murder and Arson as Result of Fire in Brooklyn.

New York, Oct. 24.—A few hours before he was to have been arraigned in court on charges of murder and arson growing out of the death of six persons in a Brooklyn fire last week, Wm. Ford, realtor, attempted to kill himself in his jail cell today by slashing his arms with safety razor blade. Prison attendants called physicians who stopped the flow of blood and who said Ford will recover.

SMALL REPORTED TOWN

RECORDED BLAZE NOW

Little Town of Morven, Fourteen Miles From Quitman, Gradually Being Destroyed.

Quitman, Ga., Oct. 24.—Fire of undetermined origin is reported to be destroying the little town of Morven, fourteen miles from here. Three stores and dwellings are already burned. The report of the fire following on the heels of a conflagration several days ago to burn the town out considered a coincidence here this morning. Parties are leaving for Morven to investigate the report.

Negroes Try To Rob Bank

Hickory, N. C., Oct. 24.—Two negroes giving their names as Johnnie Jones and William Wilson, of Middlebrook, Ohio, were placed in jail at Newton today on charges of attempting to hold the Peoples Bank of Catawba, N. C., early in the day. They were arrested after a four-hour chase, by 300 men forming a sheriff's posse. Wilson was wounded after an exchange of shots.

Storm Moving North-Northwestward

Washington, Oct. 24.—The Atlantic coast storm has continued to move north-northwestward, and its center early today was over Pennsylvania, the weather bureau reported.

SEPARATISTS CARRY THEIR MOVEMENT TO CITY OF WEISBADEN

Colors of Republic of Rhineland Were Hoisted During the Night on Government Building in That City.

GREAT BRITAIN IS READY FOR ACTION

If Separatist Movement Extends to British Bridgehead at Cologne Will Keep Order.

Berlin, Oct. 23 (By the Associated Press).—The colors of the Rhineland republic were hoisted during the night on the German government building at Weisbaden by a band of the followers of Dr. Hans A. Dorten, leader of the previous Rhineland republic movement, whose home is in Weisbaden, a dispatch from that place states.

England Ready to Act. London, Oct. 23 (By the Associated Press).—If the German separatist movement extends to Cologne, which is the bridgehead of the British Rhineland army, Great Britain will preserve an attitude of reserve, but will take every measure to maintain order, prevent bloodshed and insure the continuance of the present local government, it was stated here today.

COTTON REPORT

To Be Issued November 1.—Mr. Parker Clears Up Some Misunderstandings.

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 24.—Following announcement from Washington that the Department of Agriculture will issue a November 1 cotton report covering the condition and forecast of production as of October 21, Frank Parker, agricultural statistician of the State-Federal Cooperative Crop Reporting Service, today issued a statement "to clear up some misunderstandings concerning the government report."

Mr. Parker said in issuing the statement, copies of which have been sent to his crop reporters in various sections of the state, that he did so without any intention of controversy.

His statement follows in full: "The secretary of agriculture, in a spirit of fairness and in order to make the crop estimates as useful and reliable as possible last winter called a meeting of America's foremost economists and agricultural leaders. These men were asked to investigate the crop reporting work and to make recommendations. The thing that they most strongly recommended was that a spring report should be secured on intentions of farmers' plantings prior to the actual date of plantings. This was done by the Department of Agriculture for all parts of the United States on all principal crops. The same committee decided after the report was secured, that it should by all means be published in order that the actual crop producers should be as fully and accurately informed as the trade or so-called speculators. From this it is seen that neither Secretary Wallace nor anyone in the Department of Agriculture was responsible for the action taken. Since then, it has been realized that this new move has proved quite advantageous to the farmers' interests. Of course, in the south the reaction was felt more with the cotton crop on account of its highly speculative nature. At least it is known that there was not as much cotton planted later as the farmers' first intentions had indicated."

"Contrary to the general impression, the so-called intentions to plant were not utilized in any of the later estimates. In fact, the final acreage of cotton, and for that matter, other crops, will not be determined until December 15. A preliminary estimate is made the first of July in order that a working basis may be provided, pending later findings."

"It has been suggested that the Department of Commerce be authorized to make a census of the actual acreages planted by the farmers each year. At first this sounds to be quite reasonable as the country gin reporters might secure this during the growing season. The experiences of the Department of Agriculture have convinced them that the United States decennial figures, like those made for 1920, are not without accuracy. Furthermore, North Carolina secures through the tax listers each year a census on crop acreages which is believed the most reliable thing of its kind anywhere in the south. Their experience convinces them that it will be an almost impossible and a very expensive undertaking for the Department of Commerce to secure such accurate information."

"The Department of Agriculture has consistently requested Congress for enough money to secure more reliable estimates on all crops. There are but two paid federal employees in the crop estimating work in each state covering all crops and livestock, while the Department of Commerce has one in each county for cotton alone."

"There are natural factors which make it impossible to forecast the final production of any crop until the actual harvest, and the Department of Agriculture forecasts only on the conditions existing at the time the report is made with the supposition that the conditions to follow will be favorable. A review of the cotton estimates by the Department of Agriculture for the past several years shows that they have been reasonably close to the final figures issued in the ginning reports the following spring."

"The Department of Agriculture could render the farmers some very reliable and useful information on crop and livestock production if they had nearly the equipment used by the census bureau. It certainly seems reasonable that the farm data should be handled by those interested in the farmers' welfare. After all, there is a distinction between production and marketing, as different principles and practices are involved. Those who are acquainted with the methods employed by the Crop Reporting Service are impressed with the reliability of their information, considering the limited means they have for conducting their work."

MAN IN JAIL TRIES TO TAKE OWN LIFE

Man Is Charged With Murder and Arson as Result of Fire in Brooklyn.

New York, Oct. 24.—A few hours before he was to have been arraigned in court on charges of murder and arson growing out of the death of six persons in a Brooklyn fire last week, Wm. Ford, realtor, attempted to kill himself in his jail cell today by slashing his arms with safety razor blade. Prison attendants called physicians who stopped the flow of blood and who said Ford will recover.

SMALL REPORTED TOWN

RECORDED BLAZE NOW

Little Town of Morven, Fourteen Miles From Quitman, Gradually Being Destroyed.

Quitman, Ga., Oct. 24.—Fire of undetermined origin is reported to be destroying the little town of Morven, fourteen miles from here. Three stores and dwellings are already burned. The report of the fire following on the heels of a conflagration several days ago to burn the town out considered a coincidence here this morning. Parties are leaving for Morven to investigate the report.

Negroes Try To Rob Bank

Hickory, N. C., Oct. 24.—Two negroes giving their names as Johnnie Jones and William Wilson, of Middlebrook, Ohio, were placed in jail at Newton today on charges of attempting to hold the Peoples Bank of Catawba, N. C., early in the day. They were arrested after a four-hour chase, by 300 men forming a sheriff's posse. Wilson was wounded after an exchange of shots.

Storm Moving North-Northwestward

Washington, Oct. 24.—The Atlantic coast storm has continued to move north-northwestward, and its center early today was over Pennsylvania, the weather bureau reported.

SEPARATISTS CARRY THEIR MOVEMENT TO CITY OF WEISBADEN

Colors of Republic of Rhineland Were Hoisted During the Night on Government Building in That City.

GREAT BRITAIN IS READY FOR ACTION

If Separatist Movement Extends to British Bridgehead at Cologne Will Keep Order.

Berlin, Oct. 23 (By the Associated Press).—The colors of the Rhineland republic were hoisted during the night on the German government building at Weisbaden by a band of the followers of Dr. Hans A. Dorten, leader of the previous Rhineland republic movement, whose home is in Weisbaden, a dispatch from that place states.

England Ready to Act. London, Oct. 23 (By the Associated Press).—If the German separatist movement extends to Cologne, which is the bridgehead of the British Rhineland army, Great Britain will preserve an attitude of reserve, but will take every measure to maintain order, prevent bloodshed and insure the continuance of the present local government, it was stated here today.

COTTON REPORT

To Be Issued November 1.—Mr. Parker Clears Up Some Misunderstandings.

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 24.—Following announcement from Washington that the Department of Agriculture will issue a November 1 cotton report covering the condition and forecast of production as of October 21, Frank Parker, agricultural statistician of the State-Federal Cooperative Crop Reporting Service, today issued a statement "to clear up some misunderstandings concerning the government report."

Mr. Parker said in issuing the statement, copies of which have been sent to his crop reporters in various sections of the state, that he did so without any intention of controversy.

His statement follows in full: "The secretary of agriculture, in a spirit of fairness and in order to make the crop estimates as useful and reliable as possible last winter called a meeting of America's foremost economists and agricultural leaders. These men were asked to investigate the crop reporting work and to make recommendations. The thing that they most strongly recommended was that a spring report should be secured on intentions of farmers' plantings prior to the actual date of plantings. This was done by the Department of Agriculture for all parts of the United States on all principal crops. The same committee decided after the report was secured, that it should by all means be published in order that the actual crop producers should be as fully and accurately informed as the trade or so-called speculators. From this it is seen that neither Secretary Wallace nor anyone in the Department of Agriculture was responsible for the action taken. Since then, it has been realized that this new move has proved quite advantageous to the farmers' interests. Of course, in the south the reaction was felt more with the cotton crop on account of its highly speculative nature. At least it is known that there was not as much cotton planted later as the farmers' first intentions had indicated."

"Contrary to the general impression, the so-called intentions to plant were not utilized in any of the later estimates. In fact, the final acreage of cotton, and for that matter, other crops, will not be determined until December 15. A preliminary estimate is made the first of July in order that a working basis may be provided, pending later findings."

"It has been suggested that the Department of Commerce be authorized to make a census of the actual acreages planted by the farmers each year. At first this sounds to be quite reasonable as the country gin reporters might secure this during the growing season. The experiences of the Department of Agriculture have convinced them that the United States decennial figures, like those made for 1920, are not without accuracy. Furthermore, North Carolina secures through the tax listers each year a census on crop acreages which is believed the most reliable thing of its kind anywhere in the south. Their experience convinces them that it will be an almost impossible and a very expensive undertaking for the Department of Commerce to secure such accurate information."

"The Department of Agriculture has consistently requested Congress for enough money to secure more reliable estimates on all crops. There are but two paid federal employees in the crop estimating work in each state covering all crops and livestock, while the Department of Commerce has one in each county for cotton alone."

"There are natural factors which make it impossible to forecast the final production of any crop until the actual harvest, and the Department of Agriculture forecasts only on the conditions existing at the time the report is made with the supposition that the conditions to follow will be favorable. A review of the cotton estimates by the Department of Agriculture for the past several years shows that they have been reasonably close to the final figures issued in the ginning reports the following spring."

"The Department of Agriculture could render the farmers some very reliable and useful information on crop and livestock production if they had nearly the equipment used by the census bureau. It certainly seems reasonable that the farm data should be handled by those interested in the farmers' welfare. After all, there is a distinction between production and marketing, as different principles and practices are involved. Those who are acquainted with the methods employed by the Crop Reporting Service are impressed with the reliability of their information, considering the limited means they have for conducting their work."

MAN IN JAIL TRIES TO TAKE OWN LIFE

Man Is Charged With Murder and Arson as Result of Fire in Brooklyn.

New York, Oct. 24.—A few hours before he was to have been arraigned in court on charges of murder and arson growing out of the death of six persons in a Brooklyn fire last week, Wm. Ford, realtor, attempted to kill himself in his jail cell today by slashing his arms with safety razor blade. Prison attendants called physicians who stopped the flow of blood and who said Ford will recover.

SMALL REPORTED TOWN

RECORDED BLAZE NOW

Little Town of Morven, Fourteen Miles From Quitman, Gradually Being Destroyed.

Quitman, Ga., Oct. 24.—Fire of undetermined origin is reported to be destroying the little town of Morven, fourteen miles from here. Three stores and dwellings are already burned. The report of the fire following on the heels of a conflagration several days ago to burn the town out considered a coincidence here this morning. Parties are leaving for Morven to investigate the report.

Negroes Try To Rob Bank

Hickory, N. C., Oct. 24.—Two negroes giving their names as Johnnie Jones and William Wilson, of Middlebrook, Ohio, were placed in jail at Newton today on charges of attempting to hold the Peoples Bank of Catawba, N. C., early in the day. They were arrested after a four-hour chase, by 300 men forming a sheriff's posse. Wilson was wounded after an exchange of shots.

Storm Moving North-Northwestward

Washington, Oct. 24.—The Atlantic coast storm has continued to move north-northwestward, and its center early today was over Pennsylvania, the weather bureau reported.

Elevator Service for Your Convenience

Timely Offerings of Fall and Winters Newest Creations

of

Womens Ready-to-Wear & Millinery

$25,000 Purchase Last Week of Ready-to-Wear and Millinery

Our buyers, Mrs. Fisher and Mr. C. E. Parks are just back from northern markets and every express brings loads of the season's new into our store. It is hard to believe that such wonderful merchandise can be sold at such Low Prices we are offering it for and such marvelous styles.

It is interesting to visit our second floor this week and see this new merchandise.

Newest Ideas in Sweaters Here in Variety

They run from the simple jacket types to the clever and ingenious knitted effects that resemble blouses. These have all the dressiness of the prettiest blouses and form a perfect complement to the separate skirt and suit costume.

200 new Brushed Wool Sweaters in the tans, browns and all combinations for this week selling ----- $3.48, 04.98, $5.95

Pretty new Tweed Style and Slip-on Sweaters in all new shades ----- $2.98, $3.98

College Style Sweaters, roll collars, heavy twist yarn, woven in tan, red, navy, all wool ----- $4.98, $6.95

All Wool Knitted Scarfs and Scarf Sets, all colors. Priced ----- 98c to $3.98

GROUP NO. 1—POIRET TWILL DRESSES

Beautifully trimmed with the Military Braid, Floral Sleeves and Silk Panels; the new and prettiest buckles. The effect at side make these dresses especially attractive, and the values you will meet in these will greatly please you ----- $6.95 to $16.50

GROUP NO. 2—CREPE DRESSES

These are exquisitely modeled with plaited collars and cuffs. Front and Silk Panels. Others with silk embroidered sleeves, vestees and panels. Novel skirt closing plain and belt-back on smart details. Priced at $14.95 and $16.50.

GROUP NO. 4

Here's a group of Dresses we are extremely anxious for our customers to see. Not this season have we had the pleasure of showing you anything near this in Value, Style or Material approaching this for less than $25 and even $30. These beautiful Wool Crepes, Poiret Twills and Tricotines, Plain Tailored Coat Dresses; others more elaborately made up—the materials are beautiful. Just in for this sale ----- $19.95 and $22.50

SMARTDRESS SKIRTS

The beautiful lines of these Skirts combined with rich fabrics produce very attractive models. At this price you have choice of several popular versions of the mode.

The new Camels Hair Sport Skirts, all sizes, plaids in many shades to match the new sweaters ----- $7.95

Pretty line of Ladies' stripe all wool Sport Skirts in many new shades ----- $4.98

Navy and Black All Wool Separate Skirts, all sizes, beautiful materials for young and old. Priced $2.98 and $3.98.

Feather Hats Are One of the Shining Lights of the Millinery Mode

Here is a group of hats which is outstanding in a mode that is many sided, and interprets each phase delightfully different, from tiny turbans to the wide brimmed hats.

LOT NO. TWO

Feather Trim and Metal Trim Hats for the Dress Occasion in the new hues and styles made by New York's Foremost Milliners. Priced ----- $4.95, $5.95

LOT NO. ONE

Beautiful line of Ladies' Feather Trimmed Hats in black and all shades for Dress Wear. priced ----- 98c to $3.98

LOT NO. 3

Exquisite Are These New Hats, in every style and shade imaginable. Priced $6.95 to $9.95

PARKS - BELK CO.