ALBEMARLE DELEGATION VISITS LOCAL LIBRARY
 Wanted to See How Concord Library Was Operated, Managed and Supported.

A delegation of women from Albemarle, interested in securing a full time library for that city, were guests here Thursday of Mrs. Richmond Reed, local librarian.

The delegation came to Concord to ascertain how the local library is supported, operated and managed, and the women told Mrs. Reed they came to Concord because library experts told them of the excellent record of the Concord Library. They felt, Mrs. Reed was told, that conditions in Albemarle are very similar to conditions in Concord, and that in their opinion the needs could be measured by the needs of Concord.

ANOTHER LETTER FROM W. ROBERT BLACKWELDER

Restaurant Man Says Hollywood Is Dead—Miami a Beautiful City.

Mr. Editor:
 I will try to write a letter for your paper as a number of people in North Carolina asked me to write occasion-ally. I made a trip today down the Dixie Highway to Miami a distance of 65 miles. I don't think I went through as much as ten miles of country on the way there, that is not cleared off and surveyed out in lots for town sites. First going South, is Lakeworth. Then comes Lantanna, a new development with just a few buildings going up. Next is Boynton, a small village that is widely advertised as a town. Next is Delray, another small town and the only place I saw anything growing to eat and to Bosca Raton. This property was on the market when I came here last fall and was considered one of the leaders in lot sales. Today as you pass through you see a few streets 100 feet wide, paved and in perfect condition for a city but nothing more. And I hear but very little said about the sale of lots at this place.

We passed through several other villages between there and Ft. Lauderdale. This is an old town and is said to be in the midst of a farming section. We found good buildings here. Fine churches and school buildings, hotels and other business buildings of different kinds. A lot of new dwelling houses have been recently built and two large buildings under construction, but apparently nothing is being done there at this time.

Next we come to Hollywood by the Sea, the greatly advertised city. We took dinner there. The first eatery we entered had gone out of business. So we went to another and got service at a reasonable price. I had a talk with the proprietor. He said Hollywood is dead, and he was trying to get his money out of what he had there but could not find anyone who would buy. All I saw here for anyone to do was the $7,000,000 hotel which is going up there. Houses, tents and business places are advertised for sale, or rent. This place is one of beauty, but seems to be about finished.

Next place of importance was the city of Miami. This is a city in all of the beauty one could wish to behold. Just numbers of magnificent buildings towering toward the sky. The most beautiful of all is the McAlister Hotel. Here we found ships in port laden with all kinds of building material and other articles of merchandise. I also found the greatest congestion of traffic I ever saw. After driving through the city for some time we made our way back. Arriving here just after dark and counted it a day well spent. I found old North Carolina advertised all along the way. So I will close, with best wishes to you and all back in the grand Old State of N. C.

HIGHS ELIMINATED IN CHAMPIONSHIP SERIES

Charlotte Team Almost Trebled the Score of Locals in Game Played Here.

The Concord highs have been eliminated from the high school basketball championship series.

The Charlotte team defeated the locals here Thursday night, registering 37 points while the locals were securing 13, and by their victory the Charlotte lads moved another step nearer the championship.

The Concord team tallied first with one of their foul shots but this lead was brief for Captain Hurt of the visitors counted a two-timer from pass fed by Cribble.

The locals could never get started against the fine defense offered by the visitors and during the night were unable to register but two field goals. However, they were better at tossing fouls, registering no less than nine during the game.

A great crowd witnessed the game and the handsome gymnasium at the high school was kept in an uproar. The locals made the most noise when they were present in greater numbers.

Alexander was a fine defensive man for Charlotte, with Hutchinson, guard, scoring the most points. Cribble and Hurt also played well for Charlotte.

For Concord Jarratt was high scorer, securing nine of the thirteen points scored by his team.

Coach Monk Younger, of Davidson College, officiated during the game and handled the assignment in good fashion.

By defeating the local team Charlotte won the right to play the winner of the Belmont-Lowell game. The clash will come off next Monday night at Charlotte. Pos. Concord: Hurt (9) ..... f. ....
