LOCUST.

Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Turner were Sunday visitors in Concord.

The storm on Tuesday of last week was very severe, although no great damage was done in this section.

Mrs. E. B. Smith and children, of Albemarle, are spending the week here.

A. I. Barbee returned a few days ago from a Charlotte hospital, where he had been undergoing treatment for some time. He received injuries on his head in a saw mill accident some months ago and has never recovered therefrom.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Miller and father, J. F. Dry, of Albemarle, were Sunday visitors here.

Rev. and Mrs. D. S. Jones were honored last Sunday with an elegant birthday dinner which a host of friends served at their home. When all had gathered around the heavily loaded table P. E. Tucker returned thanks and offered a very impressive prayer for all present. After dinner as many as could get in the living room joined in singing old-time gospel songs. Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Little were also honored Sunday by a dinner but we have had no report from them.

Farmers rejoice in seeing the sun out again, for the grass was getting a wonderful start in the fields.

CONCORD ROUTE ONE.

We are having plenty of rain at this writing.

Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Burris and family spent Friday night with E. M. Moore, of Concord Route 1.

M. C. Gray spent Saturday night with his home folks.

SWEETHEART.

Owing to rain but little field work has been done the past few weeks.

Crops look well, but many of the fields are grassy. The wheat and oats crops have been harvested. Smut and rust did much damage this year, and the yield will be below an average.

The condition of J. C. Horton, who has been sick for two weeks, is unchanged.

Members of the family of D. M. Clay are convalescing after having mumps.

Connections and a few of his neighbors gave C. P. Linker a surprise birthday dinner last Thursday. When Mr. Linker came from the field at noon he found a 20-foot table filled with good eats had been erected in the shade in the yard honoring his fiftieth birthday anniversary.

A truck loaded with 4,500 feet of lumber was seen moving over the splendid sandelay roads here, which remind us of the improvement in transportation facilities as compared with conditions and facilities a score or more years ago. Then the late Paul Eudy did the heavy hauling for the neighborhood farmers on his five-horse wagon. When it was known that Mr. Eudy was going to haul a load of cotton, which was five bales, to market for some farmer the boys, and sometimes men too, would congregate along the roadway and at Flowe's Store to see the big load pass. A truck now can carry thirty bales or two mules can draw a wagon on which are six or seven bales with greater ease than did Mr. Eudy's five big horses with five bales.

Worth H. Green, who has been a student in pharmacy at Emory College, Atlanta, Ga., for several years, delivered an address before the Bethel congregation last Sunday from the text: "As a man thinketh so is he." Mr. Green's address was well delivered and his outline of the different faiths and religions indicated that he had given his subject much thought.

Children's day exercises will be held at Bethel next Sunday. A splendid program has been arranged and a good day is anticipated.

Rev. R. D. Ballard has for the past ten days been at Duke, where he is taking a short summer course.

Mrs. M. I. Eury and little son, Junior, of Concord, who have been visiting relatives here have returned home.

Most of the young people who attended college and high school last year are spending their vacation at home. The people are justly proud of their young bright lights. William Bost is a student at the University of North Carolina, the Misses Eudy are students at Greensboro College and the Misses Barrett are recent graduates of Queens College, Charlotte; Miss Lilah Bost graduated at the Concord High School; Miss Victoria Morrison and Miss Lenna Baker are graduates of the Albemarle Normal, and perhaps there are others of the township who were in school of the township who were in school last year whose names we don't recall. All the above named young people have fine talent and the writer anticipates for each of them a brilliant career. Clyde Hartsell, sixth grade student in the Bethel primary school, informs us that he won the prize given the one receiving the most headmarks in his class. Mr. Alexander, from Harrisburg, preaches for us while Mr. Spence is away. We enjoy having him with us very much. James Morrison, from Pioneer Mills, was taken to Charlotte last week where he underwent an operation. He is getting along very well. A marriage of much interest was solemnized in Concord Saturday afternoon at 8:30 o'clock when Miss Willie Russell became the bride of Heber Talbert. They left immediately after the ceremony for a motor trip for Asheville and other points. Mrs. Talbert is a girl of high standing by all who knew her and has been a teacher in this county a number of years. Mr. Talbert is a boy of high culture and holds a responsible position with the Ritchie Caldwell Company of Concord. We wish them much joy. Miss Rose Spears is visiting Mrs. J. N. Talbert in Salisbury for a week or ten days.
