afternoon they will take the field again. It was announced that Hickory would afford the morning opposition and Concord in the afternoon. But since Concord is only a stone's throw from the towel metropolis, which means the outpouring of the neighboring fans, the locals made arrangements for the Weavers to come here for both occasions. The Sardine Brothers have been requested to come here to pack the fans inside the fence or else send down a consignment of their devices to do the work. As previously announced a mammoth celebration will be staged here on Independence Day through the support of E. J. Sharpe, "Y" vicor, and the merchants of Kannapolis. Athletic events of all kinds, parades, fireworks, speeches and thelike are on the program.

NOW THIS HAT LADY IS A KNOW-OUT!

Hoir to Big Estate Killed in Crash.

Pottsville, Pa., June 24.—James Theodore Walker, of St. Louis, heir to a $5,000,000 estate, was killed and his cousin, G. L. Lambert, son of the owner of the Lambert Pharmaceutical Company, St. Louis, was injured in an airplane crash here today.

Both were graduated from Princeton University this week and were on their way home when the accident occurred.

Coming across the mountainous region of the anthracite coal fields, the motor of the plane began to give trouble and Lambert, owner and pilot of the machine, decided to land. He had been flying low. As he banked the plane preparatory to landing the motor failed to respond and the ship went into a tail spin. It fell about 200 feet, according to witnesses, plowed a grain field for about 40 feet and drove its nose nearly four feet into the ground.

A phone call to the Pottsville hospital, ten miles away, brought an ambulance and a physician. Walker still was unconscious when the doctor reached him but was pronounced dead when the ambulance reached here. He suffered a fractured skull and one arm was virtually torn from its socket.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

That if rightly used, advertising is the power that is the real factor in making better business. That it costs a whole lot of money to lose old customers and it costs more money to get new customers. Why not keep the old ones and get the new ones by quality, service and truthful advertising? That good advertising catches the eye. That it commands attention. That it is read in every home. That it brings the customers to the stores. That modern business methods build a business. That modern business methods meet competition. That modern business methods embrace truthful advertising. That modern business methods keep an old as well as attract new business to a store. Truthful advertising is not bait; it tells you of articles of real value for your money. Girl of 14 Victim of Heart Attack. Asheville, June 26.—Alice Myers, 14, of Wilmington, N. C., died of a heart attack while standing in shallow water at the girl reserve encampment of the national Y. W. C. A. near Brevard this morning. The girl had not been swimming but was standing with several others taking shallow water exercises. Investigation is said to have shown that the child's head was at no time submerged. Three hours work by experts and physicians failed to restore heart action, although respiration was set up. Accompanied by members of the encampment the girl's body was moved to Asheville today and will be taken to the home of her parents in Wilmington. Father—"Wh' came here to see you last night?" Daughter—"Only my girl friend from the office."
