This age of high standards
welcomes the Camel quality

MODERN smokers are the most exacting ever known, and they place Camel first among cigarettes.

For Camel was created to succeed in the hardest-to-please age ever known. It was made to satisfy those who demand the utmost, and modern smokers have given it such popularity as no other cigarette ever had.

If you're downright hard to please, just try Camels. Tobacco taste and fragrance will be revealed as never before, for Camels are rolled of the choicest Turkish and Domestic tobaccos, supremely blended. This modern cigarette exceeds all other standards but its own. To light one is to find taste fulfillment. "Have a Camel!"

ANNIVERSARY OF
BANK CELEBRATED AT BANQUET HERE.

D. B. Coltrane Honor Guest
at Banquet Held Tuesday Evening in Private Dining Room of Hotel.

Officers, directors, original stockholders and employees of the Concord National Bank and the directing heads of the Cabarrus County Building Loan and Savings Association enjoyed an elegantly prepared and served banquet in the private dining room of Hotel Concord Tuesday evening.
The banquet was held immediately after the annual meeting of the directors of the bank, the occasion being the 39th anniversary of the founding of the bank by its present President, D. B. Coltrane. All officers and directors of the bank were present at the meeting and the regular semi-annual dividend of 6 per cent. was ordered paid.
In addition the directors authorized that an additional $50,000 be added to the surplus fund, giving the bank, capitalized at $100,000, a surplus of $150,000 and an additional $50,000 in undivided profits.
Mr. Coltrane, who was the directing head at the organization of the bank 39 years ago, was honor guest at the banquet. During the evening he was presented with a handsome silver pitcher, on which was inscribed: "Presented to Daniel Branson Coltrane, President of the Concord National Bank, by its Board of Directors as a Token of 39 Years of Faithful and Efficient Service." June 28, 1927.

The presentation was made by W. R. Odell, one of the four original stockholders at the banquet. Of the five living original stockholders four were present, these being Mr. Odell, Mr. Coltrane, A. M. Brown and Shakespeare Harris. Rev. T. W. Smith, the fifth, is now a resident of Atlanta and could not be present.
T. H. Webb, Vice President of the bank, was toastmaster and the banquet opened with the invocation by A. F. Hartsell. Mr. Odell was asked to speak for the original stockholders and briefly he outlined the history of the institution, its usefulness to the city and its hopes for the future.
Mr. Coltrane, after graciously accepting the gift from his directors, gave a brief resume of his banking experiences in Concord, paying special attention to high lights in his career. The first, he said, came when soon after he reached Concord 39 years ago and started the organization of a bank local citizens here wanted to know more about his past. So they wired to friends in Missouri where he had lived for 22 years and in response were advised that "Mr. Coltrane has ample money to carry out any contract and will do what he says he will do."
Another unusual occurrence, he said, came when a period of depression struck Concord after a cotton mill failure. For several days depositors withdrew their cash from his bank, he said, and there was some fear of a failure in some quarters. It was then that he received a telegram from a prominent Richmond banker directing him to draw on the Richmond bank for any amount needed.
One of the happiest moments of his career as a banker, Mr. Coltrane said, came last year when the handsome home of his bank was opened to the public, a building made possible by the patronage of friendships created during his residence in Concord.
Mr. Coltrane pointed out that the banquet and gift had created another high light in his life and expressed appreciation for the courtesy shown him. He declared that the future policy of the bank would be one of progressiveness, looking to the development of a bigger and better Concord.
Miss Lela Bruton, efficient employee of the bank, was asked by Mr. Webb to speak for the women employees, adding that quite a change has come about in bank personnel in 39 years since a woman bank employee was unknown until a few years ago. Miss Bruton said it had been a pleasure to serve with the management of the Concord National Bank and assured her listeners that the women were anxious not only in making 6 per cent. interest for the bank but to make friends for the institution by giving personal interest to their needs and wants.
Gilbert H. Hendrix spoke as a representative of the building and loan association which has offices in the bank. His association, he said, has enjoyed fine co-operation from the bank officials, a co-operation that has made possible the association's valued contribution to Concord in the form of homes.

Mr. Coltrane, who was the directing head at the organization of the bank 39 years ago, was honor guest at the banquet. During the evening he was presented with a handsome silver pitcher, on which was inscribed: "Presented to Daniel Branson Coltrane, President of the Concord National Bank, by its Board of Directors as a Token of 39 Years of Faithful and Efficient Service." ONLY SHORT TIME
WAR INSURANCE

Policies Which Are Not Renewed Before Midnight of July Second Will Be Lost Forever.

Unless war risk insurance, provided by the government for its soldiers during the World War, is reinstated and converted on or before July 2nd, next, those who are eligible for this protection will have lost it forever. Veterans should lose no time in taking advantage of the opportunity offered. Converted insurance is offered in six convenient forms. Premiums are not high and may be paid by the month, quarter, half-year, or annually. It is impossible to lose on a government policy. Paid up insurance and cash surrender values are offered similar to those in policies issued by old line life insurance companies. The policyholders participate in the dividends. The net cost of the insurance will be cheaper than that in old line companies, and these old line insurance companies and their agents are anxious that veterans take advantage of the opportunity afforded. Veterans who have let their war risk insurance lapse, or who have not converted the term insurance which they are carrying, may obtain information and blank forms necessary for the change by writing J. S. Pittman, director regional Veterans Bureau, Charlotte, N. C., or by going direct to the local American Legion Post, or the nearest Red Cross unit. Time is short, only four days more remaining. Unless many veterans act quickly insurance valued at a hundred thousand or so dollars in Cabarrus county will lapse forever.

K. W. Pharr, negro farmer of the Harrisburg community, brought a cotton bloom to the office of The Tribune Tuesday afternoon. It was the second bloom to be brought into the office during the day, and indicates that cotton is beginning to bloom generally about the county.

Advertisement for AVERY CHAMPION MOWER. Features include: 'The PITMAN is Steel ~ One Piece! An AVERY PLUS Feature', 'You could count on one hand the times an Avery man has ever had cause to say, "I wonder why we didn't think of that." This is true because the Avery Ideal, begun 100 years ago, is based upon thinking first. That is the reason for Avery Plus Features. For example: In the average mower the Pitman is made of wood and of a number of parts. Among them are eight rivets and four steel straps. A lot of lost motion results. To improve the implement, Avery inventors created the one-piece Pitman of the Avery Champion Mower. It is made of drop-forged, heat-treated steel. The eight rivets and four steel straps are eliminated—so is the lost motion. This is an Avery Plus Feature—the result of the Avery system of thinking and building. It makes a better implement. Avery Plus Features Save You Time and Money. Any Avery implement costs what good quality is worth. These Avery Plus Features—created by Avery designers, inventors and craftsmen—are extra dividends which your money earns when you invest in the name Avery. They save both time and money. That is why an Avery Plus implement is the cheapest implement any man can own. See us for any information. Yorke & Wadsworth Co.
