

Reduction In Power And Light Rates Is Ordered

Water and Light Board Also Orders Elimination of Water Meter Rent and Reduction in Water Rates to Big Consumers.

Fulfilling a promise made several weeks ago when they ordered a reduction in the rate on domestic power, members of the City Water and Light Board last night authorized a general 10 per cent. reduction on rates for light and power in the city, ordered the elimination of water meter rents and gave big consumers of water a 10 per cent. reduction in rates.

The new rates will become effective in September, Mayor C. H. Barrier stated in discussing the action of the board, this meaning that the new rates will become effective with bills to be paid October first.

The reduction in rates on light and power will effect every individual and business concern in Concord using electric power. The reduced rates will apply to the manufacturing plant as well as to the home and will mean a big saving over a period of a year.

Elimination of the water meter rent also will apply to every person in Concord who uses city water. At present the meter rent is 50 cents a quarter, the decision of the board thus affording a saving of $2.00 a year for every person in the city who uses city water.

In addition to saving on the meter rent, consumers using 200,000 gallons of water a month, will enjoy a reduction of 10 per cent.

By eliminating the meter rent, Mayor Barrier pointed out, the board has really reduced the rate for all consumers, regardless of the amount of water used.

Since the new rates will not become effective until September, which is the last month in the third quarter, the meter rents will be collected as usual for this quarter.

Mayor Barrier stated that an audit of the water and light board shows the department to be in excellent financial shape.

It is estimated that the reduced rates and elimination of the meter rent will mean a saving of at least $20,000 to citizens of the city.

Members of the water and light board are Mayor Barrier, A. F. Goodman, J. O. Moore and A. R. Hoover.

THE FINANCIAL AND SOCIAL STATUS FOR BRIDE IS PUZZLING

Mrs. James A. Stillman, Sr., Puzzled Over Status of New Daughter, Wife of "Bud" Stillman.

BRIDE'S FAMILY HAS TO WORK

The Bride and Six of Her Sisters Have Been Living on Wages Received From Stillman Family.

New York, July 28.—(AP)—The New York Daily News in a dispatch from Grand Mere, Quebec, says Mrs. James A. Stillman, Sr., whose son "Bud" married Lena Wilson, her one-time servant, is puzzled over the financial and social status of her newly acquired kinsman.

Mrs. Stillman and Lena's six sisters have for years lived on the wages they received as Stillman's servants.

"Of course," said Mrs. Stillman, "I can't leave Lena's mother and sisters employed here as servants after Lena's marriage to my son. At the same time I refuse to permit Lena's family to even think they can profit financially as the result of the marriage of Bud and Lena. It was on that question that the Wilson family and I broke last week."

Mrs. Stillman, who said at the time of the dispute that she would turn them from the home she had provided and stop their charge accounts to her name in stores, indicated she would deal with them more leniently.

"These are my people, and I know them," she said, remarking that to natives of the region sums of $100 were beyond their understanding.

YOUTH WITH BROKEN VERTEBRAE REFUSES TO GIVE UP BATTLE

W. W. Register, 19, Is Still Fighting For Life Although Physicians Say He Has No Chance.

LIFE HANGING IN THE BALANCE

Several Times He Has Been Given Up as Dead But Each Time He Rallied to Fight On.

Florence, S. C., July 28.—(AP)—Given up several times as dead by attendants at his bedside, W. W. Register, 19, who broke one of the vertebrae in his neck when he fell head foremost into a swimming pool near here July 2, is making a fight for life that physicians say is most remarkable.

After he had lain prostrate in a hospital here several days following his fall, physicians decided July 18 to attempt a last resort operation and removed several pieces of fractured bone to relieve pressure on the spinal cord.

On the day following the operation the hope of the youth's recovery was abandoned, and it was not thought he could live through the night. He remained in an unconscious state until two days ago when he suddenly regained consciousness and raised his right arm to his head.

"Register may last for several days," said Dr. F. H. McLeod, chief surgeon of the Florence Infirmary early this morning, "but there is no earthly chance for his recovery. There is no use to talk about his possible condition in the event that he should continue to cling to life for in his condition he cannot live" said the surgeon.

For 48 hours Register was kept alive by artificial respiration. During that time his temperature mounted to 107 degrees, and remained at that burning height for 15 hours. Despite this critical condition, he staged a rally that caused his physicians to wonder.

"Please read me," Register asked his faithful nurse the night he emerged from his delirium. "I am tired," he said, "and Oh, my, how I am tired."

The vitality shown by the 19 year old boy has been remarkable. Several times he has been given up as dead.

The parents of young Register never leave him. Despite the lack of encouragement given them by physicians they hope still that their boy may live.

Staten Island Navigator, Aged 7, Tries An Ocean Voyage With Inner Tube

(By International News Service.)
Richmond, Staten Island, N. Y., July 28.—Leo Brudowski, aged seven, has taught the old salts of New York Harbor something new in voyaging.

Leo went to the seashore with his parents and struck up an acquaintance with two boys who possessed an inflated inner-tube of an automobile tire which they were using to float about on the water with. Although the work and Leo's clothes he joined in the sport and the three lads paddled about clinging to the tube. An incoming tide carried them beyond their depth. Two of the boys "abandoned ship," and paddled ashore. Not so with Leo. He decided to navigate the inner tube ashore, but he failed. Little by little he was swept away from the shore until he was too far out to cry for aid. Then Leo merely clung to the tube and drifted. He tried to attract the attention of passing boats but to no avail. After five and half hours of drifting Leo was picked up by a motor-boat seven miles from the seaside resort where he had had his first adventure with the inner tube. Leo merely smiled at the attention of the men on the motor-boat but his tiny fingers still clung to the tube and at the hospital it was announced he would recover.

BIRNBAUM MAKES LAST EFFORT TO ESCAPE CO. 'S SENTENCE

Condemned Gang Leader Talked in Open Court Today in Effort to Escape Hangman's Noose.

SAYS HE NEVER WAS GANG CHIEF

Had No Desire to Kill Anybody, He Said, and He Sought to Lay Blame on His Lieutenant.

Benton, Ill., July 28.—(AP)—Charles Birger, condemned gang leader, has made his last effort to avoid the hangman in the county where he was convicted and sentenced to death for the murder of Mayor Joe Adams of West City, Illinois.

After hearing himself described by circuit judge Miller as a man "who became intoxicated with the idea that you were more powerful than all the laws of this state and community," Birger in his last effort to maintain his innocence talked for the first time in open court, flinging accusations at Art Newman, his former lieutenant.

The court had finished a lecture to the condemned man after formally sentencing him to be hanged October 15.

Listening attentively while the court addressed him, Birger began with "I'd like to say a few words." He denied he was the leader of the band of gangsters which had carried on unremitting warfare with the rival Shelton gang.

"I don't want to go down in history as chief," he said. "It was never in my heart to kill anybody."

He pointed to a St. Louis reporter and said, "There's a man that came to my house. Him and Newman conspired and condemned me to hang."

NEEDLEMAN CASE MAY BE TRIED IN RALEIGH

Asks $100,000 Damages From 32 Defendants.

Raleigh, July 28.—Raleigh is all agog over the possibility of having the latest court sensation, the suit of Joseph A. Needleman, asking $100,000 against 32 defendants, whom he alleges participated in his mutilation, being tried in Federal court here, though the suit was instituted in Washington, N. C. Interest in the case today was almost as great as it was two years ago, when 28 men were convicted or pleaded guilty of participating in the attack on the Martin county jail, taking Needleman from it to a lonely woods, and there performing the horrible operation.

The Needleman case attracted no attention in 1925, when it came to trial, and the conviction of the 28 men involved in it marked what is generally considered the beginning of the "lynch law" in North Carolina. Judge N. A. Sinclair presided at the trial, and the sentences he meted out were commented on far and wide. Don Gilliam, of Martin county, was the young prosecutor, who brought Needleman's attackers to justice.

It was while Needleman was in jail charged with an attack on a white girl, that he was taken from jail by a mob, and the mutilation operation performed. The whole state and nation was stirred, and the vigor with which Gilliam and Judge Sinclair prosecuted the entire matter won universal praise. Now the public is interested to note how well Needleman will succeed in his civil suit for $100,000 damages against his attackers.

Of the 28 who were convicted, only three still remain in State's prison. They are Dennis Griffin, serving a 30 years sentence, who is alleged to have performed the operation, and F. W. Sparrow, Jr., who is said to have been the chief assistant in the operation, and his father, F. W. Sparrow, Sr., the latter two serving terms of from 6 to 10 years.

Griffin fought his conviction through the Supreme Court, and still maintains that he is not the man who performed the revolting operation, and insists that the man who really did it—a man named Lilly—committed suicide before the trial. He also claims that Lilly left a written confession, but that his wife destroyed it.

THE STATE PRINTING.

Providence and the Printing Commission Only Know When It Will Be Straightened Out.

Raleigh, July 28.—The public printing of the state of North Carolina is in a heck of a shape, and Providence and the Printing Commission only know when it will be in any other.

This is the gist of what Frank D. Grist, Commissioner of Labor and Printing had to say today about the present status of the state printing, while laboring perspiringly in an attempt to work out a new form of contract in conformance with the recommendations of the advisory printing committee. This committee last week decided, after going over some 20 or 30 other state contracts, that the present North Carolina contract was the simplest, the easiest to understand, and most adequately arranged contract for this state that could be evolved.

With the exception of the single recommendation that it be so changed that bidders might bid on any classification in the contract, or the entire contract, as they may choose. Here, too, bidders were being required to bid on a proportionate share of the entire contract.

And in the meantime the state is getting what little printing it can get done in Charlotte, in Fayetteville, in New Bern, and in such other places where printers will agree to do it at the old contract prices, since the present state printers, with the one exception of the Observer Printing House in Charlotte, are still standing pat in their refusal to handle any of it at the old rates. The fact that only a very small portion of the work is being done in such places and only in one or two small job shops, means that the state at present is unable to get any of its more complicated printing done, and a number of large orders from various state departments are being held up indefinitely, because it is impossible at present to get a printing house with facilities to handle the work to do it at the old contract prices. And the out-of-town printers are making very little on the work because they must pay the freight on the paper stock to and from Raleigh.

But even if a new contract is prepared, and bids submitted and contracts let by September 1—and Grist hopes that all this can be done by that time—will the troubles of the printing commission be over, even then? Grist doubts it.

For the contract liberalized to permit bids on portions of classifications instead of a percentage of the entire contract as formerly, how will the commission determine how much of a certain kind of printing will get to such and such a firm, and how much to another? Indications also point to the likelihood of a large number of bids for the so-called "easy work"—simple job printing, while the more difficult work such as the printing and binding of books, will get begging, with few or no bidders, with the result that the state will have to pay the price of a few bidders, or go without.

Grist hopes to present the revised contract form to the printing commission at a meeting sometime next week, but it is considered doubtful that any action will be taken by the commission until the return of Governor A. W. McLean from his vacation. However, Grist hopes that the whole matter will be ready so that final bids may be called for by September.

Just what the outcome of the contest between these printers and the state printing commission will be; cannot now be foreseen, although for the time being the advantage seems to be with the printing houses. But before much more time printing is done, either by the state printers in Raleigh, or the printing commission, will have to give in somewhere and eat some humble pie.

WANTS GOVERNMENT TO REBUILD SCHOOLS

National Educational Association Wants Aid For Schools in Flood District.

Washington, July 28.—(AP)—The National Education Association today instituted a movement to urge Congress to grant Federal aid in the reconstruction of schools destroyed by the Mississippi flood.

In an appeal to secretaries of state associations affiliated with the national organization, J. W. Crabtree, national secretary, advocated that the representatives in Congress of the several states be asked to support the plan. In the letter Mr. Crabtree pointed out that in eight Missouri counties alone in the flood stricken area damage to school buildings totaled more than $1,000,000, and 24 schoolhouses had been totally demolished.

"It is necessary that support be provided for other than local and state sources," declared the Association, "in order that even a minimum program of education may be provided for children in the flood areas."

The appeal termed the situation an "educational emergency."

CAST FOR CAROLINA PLAY-MAKERS IS SELECTED

Will Present Two One-Act Plays on August 18 and 19.

Chapel Hill, N. C., July 27.—The casts for the summer productions of the Carolina Playmakers were announced today by Hubert Heffner, business manager and assistant director of the Playmakers.

The Playmakers will offer two one-act plays—"Scutcheon Outlaws," by William Norman Cox, and "In Dixon's Kitchen," by Wilbur Stout, to be presented August 18 and 19 under the direction of Mr. Heffner.

William Cox, of Rowland, will play the leading role in his production. The other members of the cast are Shepard Strudwick, of Hillsboro, Elizabeth Rose, of Henderson, Lina Flynn, of Pelham, G. J. P. H. McNatt, of Parkton, and Harris and Couch, of Chapel Hill.

The cast selected for "In Dixon's Kitchen" are Katherine Register, of Norlina, Shepard Strudwick, of Hillsboro, Mrs. Daniels, of Pelham, G. A. Porter, C. Mun, of Charlotte, and Howard Bailey, of Birmingham, Ala.

BRITISH LORD WEDS PLUMBER'S DAUGHTER

Lord Trevor, 64, and Miss Phyllis May Sims, 23, Were Married Yesterday.

London, July 28.—(AP)—Lord Trevor, 64, was married yesterday in London to Miss Phyllis May Sims, 23, daughter of a plumber of Kirton, Lincolnshire.

Miss Sims as a hospital nurse attended Lord Trevor's sister, the Hon. Laila Hill Trevor. The patient when she recovered invited the girl to stay at Brynkinalt, where she lived with her brother. A friendship arose between the peer and Miss Sims and the engagement followed.

About forty guests attended the wedding, including several titled persons, but the bride's parents were not present. The ceremony was held at the residence of the bride's father, a plumber of Kirton, Lincolnshire.

Lord Trevor acted as an ambulance driver during the war, being barred from military service because he was beyond the age limit.

MOTHER AND SON IN HUGE GRAVE

Last Rites Held For Victims of Double Tragedy in Salisbury.

Salisbury, July 27.—A grave, large enough for two coffins, tonight holds the remains of Mrs. Roxie Smith and her son, Paul L. Smith, Jr., victims of a double tragedy here yesterday when the youth killed his mother and then slew himself.

The grave is in the cemetery at Gold Hill, girlhood home of Mrs. Smith. Interment today followed a funeral service at the Gold Hill Methodist church which service was attended by probably the largest number who ever gathered in that section for a funeral.

Relatives and friends are yet unable to determine what caused the young man to kill his mother and then commit suicide.

They were said to be devoted to each other. Neither was in good health. Several days ago while Mrs. Smith was on a visit to her old home she is quoted as having said, "If Paul should die, I don't care to live minutes longer."

The son is quoted as having said that he could never get well and that he could not stand to leave his mother.

SPIDER HAS BABY FACE.

When "Slim" Lindbergh Crossed the Atlantic in his "Spirit of St. Louis," He Proved that the Improbable Was Possible. Then Do Not Be Surprised With the Story of a Spider that Has a Face Like a Real Honest-to-goodness Baby.

When "Slim" Lindbergh crossed the Atlantic in his "Spirit of St. Louis," he proved that the improbable was possible. Then do not be surprised with the story of a spider that has a face like a real honest-to-goodness baby. Mrs. Ray Gray, 182 Cedar street, telephoned to the Tribune office early this afternoon that she had found a spider with a face like a baby on the flowers in her yard. Mrs. Gray says she will be glad to show it to visitors.

YOUTHS ARE HELD ON THEFT CHARGE

Violation of Traffic Law in Charlotte Proves Downfall of Pair.

Charlotte, N. C., July 27.—Charged with the theft of an automobile at Greensboro, Benny Moore, 15, years old, and Nathan Moore, 15, of Raleigh, were being held here today for the arrival of officers from Greensboro.

The boys, who are cousins, told M. M. Gray, superintendent of the welfare, that they left their homes in Raleigh to travel around the State for a lark.

Their arrest was caused last night by their making a left turn at Independence Square in violation of traffic laws.

A terrapin with "H. E. C. 1873" carved on the shell was found on a farm near Salem, Virginia. H. E. Caldwell of Roanoke says he remembers carving his initials on the back of a full-grown terrapin in April, 1873.

WANTS PLAY BY PLAY REPORT FROM "CUBS"

Owner William Wrigley Puts in Private Wire So He Can Get Game Reports For Next Three Weeks.

Avonlea, Santa Catalina Island, California, July 28.—(AP)—A direct wire from Wrigley Field in Chicago has been installed at the home of Wm. Wrigley here, that he may obtain a play by play report of the Cubs for the next three weeks.

The millionaire owner of the Cubs explained he wished to keep a "long distance finger" on the flighty pulse of the National League leadership battle. It was used for the first time yesterday in reporting the game between the Cubs and New York Giants.

DRY AGENT CHIEF IS SHOT FROM AMBUSH

R. Stotter Fatally Shot But Companion Escaped Assassins' Bullets.

Hagerstown, Md., July 27.—(AP)—Ambushed by moonshiners last night, R. Stotter, 32, of Keyser, W. Va., head of the dry agents in Washington, Allegheny and Garrett counties, Maryland, was shot to death. His companion, R. E. Walters, of Hagerstown, another dry investigator, escaped and notified authorities here.

A posse is hunting for the murderers who fired from a densely wooded section near Boonsboro, where the agents were passing. The agents had gone there to look for a still.

Stotter was shot in the chest, and died in the hospital.

The jury returned its verdict of guilty at 12:35 o'clock after deliberating 55 minutes. As the verdict was read out the court room crowd broke into applause.
