WINECOFF.

The Senior Class of Winecoff High School elected class officers Friday afternoon. They are as follows: President, Charles Phillips; vice-president, J. Mack Bradford; secretary, Annie Graham; treasurer, Hazel Goodman.

A number of friends of S. W. Winecoff, gathered at his home Tuesday night, to help him celebrate his 14th birthday anniversary. He received many useful gifts. Games were played and enjoyed by all. Refreshments consisting of ice cream and cake were served. The guests left wishing him many more happy birthdays.

Mr. John Fisher, of Rock Hill, S. C., spent Sunday with Mrs. A. E. L. Baker and family.

Mr. and Mrs. George Shinn spent Sunday with Mrs. A. W. Winecoff. The Winecoff High School Committee has added another room to the grammar grades. Miss Janie Glynn, of Monroe, is the new teacher.

The Parent-Teacher Association held a called meeting Monday night. Discussions covering the fair were made at this meeting.

School is progressing nicely with about seventy-five pupils in high school.

Mr. Dan Caldwell is spending the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Caldwell. He is a student in Davidson College.

Mr. Shakespeare Harris, who has been sick for some time is slowly improving.

The Y. P. M. S. of Mt. Olivet Methodist Church met at the home of Miss Janet Strand last Wednesday night. After a very interesting program, a social hour was enjoyed by all. Delicious fruits were served.

The Women's Missionary Society of Mt. Olivet met with Mesdames A. W. and C. W. Winecoff last Thursday afternoon. After a very interesting mission study lesson, a salad course was enjoyed by all.

A STRANGE STORY.

Boyce Funderburk Reaches Home Early and Tells of Remarkable Events.

Wadesboro Messenger.

Late last Friday night Mr. Boyce Funderburk arrived at his home in Polkton after an automobile trip in a state of physical collapse and unable to talk. When he became able to talk he told a story of being drugged, assaulted and robbed of $100 by two men. He said that he had $110 in another pocket which the men did not take; that he shot at them several times, and shot one of them through the hand. When he reached home his pistol was fully loaded and there were empty shells in the bottom of his car.

This happened somewhere near Concord, or at least he felt in with the men near Concord, and it was his impression that they went to several towns. He thought he was drugged with a hypodermic needle stuck into his leg. He is now recovering.

Sheriff J. F. Martin went up to get Mr. Funderburk's account of the matter Saturday, but the ill man could not talk at that time. Deputy Sheriff J. F. Tice went up to see him Sunday. Mr. Funderburk told him of the matter. The officers have taken no action, and it is understood Mr. Funderburk told them he did not desire any legal action taken; that he would deal with the men himself.

KIWANIS MEETING

Club Endorses Movement to Have Driveways and Sidewalks Made More Attractive in This City.

Members of the Concord Kiwanis Club held their regular weekly luncheon Friday noon in the civic club dining room of Hotel Concord.

The meeting was in charge of Noel Reed and R. E. Ridenhour, Sr., who had as their guests G. W. Fant, of the State College Extension Department, Raleigh, and R. D. Goodman, Cabarrus county agent.

Mr. Goodman spoke briefly on the good work being done in the agricultural sections of Cabarrus and then introduced Mr. Fant.

The grain expert of State Agricultural Department made an interesting talk on the improvement of crop conditions in the Piedmont section through the use of a new copper-carbonate dry treatment which, if properly applied at the right time, will eliminate the smut that has damaged the crops so harmfully during the past few years. Mr. Fant told of the demonstration of this treatment in the county during the week for the benefit of the farmers of this county.

Mr. Carlyle Powell, African Missionary, guest of Herman Trueblood, made a short talk on his work and experiences in the land of the Congo.

The club went on record as endorsing a movement started some time ago to ask the people of the city to improve the appearance of their driveways, sidewalks and other barren spaces by planting crepe myrtle and other shrubbery.

The meeting next week will be in charge of the committee on business standards composed of C. W. Swink, Fred Shepard and A. B. Palmer.

PERSONALS.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Youngblood and children have moved into their recently purchased home on Franklin Avenue. The house formerly belonged to the Hoover estate.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Stringfellow, of Blowing Rock and Aniston, Ala., are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. Archie Cannon.

Friend of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Goodman will regret to learn that Mr. Goodman had a very bad night last night, reports from the home stated this morning.

Rev. C. A. Brown, of China Grove, will enter Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, soon for a slight operation on an eye.

Mrs. James Cook, of Concord Route 3, is improving after being sick for several weeks.

Mrs. J. W. Corzine returned Thursday from the Presbyterian Hospital, Charlotte, where she underwent an operation several weeks ago. She is getting along nicely.

A. R. Howard, Dr. W. H. Wadsworth and W. W. F. How are among the Concord fans at Chapel Hill today for the Carolina-Tennessee football game.

Some improvement is reported today in the condition of J. H. Brown, who is ill at his home near the Hart-sell Mill.

Miss Ida Mae Widenhouse, of Kannapolis, was a week-end guest of her cousins, Misses Inez and Laura Mae Shinn, at their home in Georgeville.

Mrs. T. S. Rhinehardt and son (Clay) of No. 3 township; Claude Rhinehardt, of Mooresville, and R. S. Kinley have returned from Rocky Mount, where they attended the funeral of A. M. Toplin, who died in the Richmond Hospital, after undergoing an operation there. Mrs. Toplin is the daughter of Mrs. T. S. Rhinehardt.

Miss Mary Marcho, of the Sacred Heart Academy, Belmont, is spending the week-end with her mother, Mrs. Ruth Fryling Marcho.

Miss Lucy Crowell is spending the week-end in Charlotte with friends at Queens College.

Fisher Miller has gone to Goldsboro, where he has accepted a position at the Charles Store.

Miss Inez Coggins, of the Albemarle Normal, is spending the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Coggins.

J. L. Throver, of Clayton, is visiting in the city during the week-end.

Friends of Mrs. C. I. Miller, of Albemarle, will regret to learn that she is a patient at Dr. Long's Sanatorium, Stateville, having undergone an operation there Friday. Mrs. Miller was formerly Miss Lannie Miller, of this city.

Misses Ada and Fannie Caven, of Kannapolis, were the guests of Mrs. H. B. Bollinger during the week-end.

Miss Margie Benson and Miss Clara McDowell, of Charlotte, are visiting Mrs. R. T. Misenerheimer during the week-end.

Wendell Ezell left Thursday night for Atlanta, where he will attend school at the Atlanta Dental College.

Miss Marguerite Hall, of Albemarle, is the guest of Miss Elizabeth Hahn.

Robert Sappenfeld, Jr., has returned to his home at the Jackson Training School after having his tonsils removed at Dr. Rankin's office Friday.

Charlotte Observer: Mrs. Martin L. Cannon and Mrs. W. B. Sullivan are spending ten days or longer at Grove Park Inn, at Asheville. Mrs. E. N. Sullivan of Savannah, joined them there the first of the week.

Stanley News-Herald: Mr. C. H. Perks of Concord, is visiting his daughter here. Mrs. Arthur Furr.

Mrs. A. Jones York arrived home this morning from New York and Canada, where she spent several weeks touring with Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Royal of Goldsboro. Mr. York, who was with the party, arrived in Concord Thursday.

STATE EXPERT HOLDS MEET FOR COUNTY GRAIN PRODUCERS

G. W. Fant Gives Cabarrus Farmers Valuable Demonstrations on Removing Smut From Wheat.

G. W. Fant, of the State College extension division, has just completed a week's instruction course in the advantage of the latest methods of removing smut from wheat to the farmers of Cabarrus county.

With the cooperation of R. D. Goodman, county agent, Mr. Fant held four large demonstrations to large numbers of prominent agricultural men of the county during the past week. The first meeting was held at the farm of L. Bowman Barrier, Mt. Pleasant, early in the week. Then the farmers of No. 7 township were invited to attend a meeting at A. C. Lentz's. Following those two demonstrations were held successively at the farm of H. M. Black, on the Beth-el road, and of H. B. Emerson, in No. 3 township. All of the meetings were well attended, several hundred grain growers receiving the valuable advice from the State expert.

A new copper-carbonate dry treatment has been found to be most beneficial in eliminating the smut that has destroyed so much grain in the Piedmont section of the state during the past few years. By using the treatment recommended by the agricultural department of the State, through Mr. Fant, when they are planting their oats, barley, etc., the smut can be kept from growing up clean as the proverbial white.

Mr. Fant also demonstrated the use of a certain formaldehyde treatment on the smaller grain products.

Grain crops in the Piedmont section have suffered no little damage this year from the dreaded smut and it is the hope of the State to reduce these damages by educating the rural populace in the methods of planting and protecting their crops, barley, etc.

The copper-carbonate treatment is the easiest that has yet been found to apply, as well as the most effective after application.

The enthusiastic reception accorded Mr. Fant at each of his demonstrations was ample proof of the appreciation Cabarrus farmers feel toward State College extension authorities for their work toward improvement of farm and crop conditions.

SALISBURY LICKS CONCORD 6-0 IN THE GRIDIRON OPENER

Successful Pass in the Final Quarter Gives the Rowan Team Margin of Victory in Contest Here Friday.

Fighting a valiant but losing battle, the football eleven representing the Concord High School went down in defeat before a larger and more experienced team from the Salisbury High School Friday afternoon at Webb Field in the local gridiron curtain-raiser of the year by a 6 to 0 score.

After playing on almost even terms through three quarters and a half of the fourth, Concord's hopes for a scoreless tie were sent skyward when young Kesler, who, by the way, was a twisted thorn in their sides all afternoon, heaved a beautifully executed 20 yard pass to Ayers behind the goal line for the only score of the game. Concord's forwards blocked the succeeding try for goal.

Weather Too Warm.

Neither team can be said to have been in the proverbial "pink." To add to their discomfort, the weather man pawed off one of his hottest afternoons. The chief wonder is that the men were able to last through the sixty minutes of play. They did, however, and comparatively few substitutions were made.

Numerous times—out from minor injuries and exhaustion caused already dull to lag even more, Referee Davis, who, in his local debut, showed a thorough knowledge of the fine points of the game, did all in his power to speed things along but, what, with the excessive humidity and all, it was impossible.

The local eleven has developed two things, if nothing more in the month of training it has undergone. First, there is a perceptible team spirit, than which there is nothing more valuable to any competitive sport aggregation. Then, it has a love for the game and a true will to win, even though it has not yet developed sufficient mechanical ability to satiate said will.

Team Ambitious and Hard-Fighting.

But an ambitious and hard-fighting squad can learn much through several reverses and, in the opinion of the writer, this Concord eleven that looked so badly in its first home start, will add several noteworthy chapters to the school football history before the season has closed. One or two more games, several added weeks of intensive training, a few good plays perfected, and they will show no quarter from any high school outfit in this section.

Getting back to the game yesterday, Concord's forward wall proved fully as strong as her opponents on defense—it was on offense that it showed lamentable lack in coordination and concentrated driving power. Few decent holes were opened in the tight Concord line wall of the Rowan county boys and when they were, the backs ran all over each other before proper interference could be formed. They piled under and over each other, always seeming to be just where they were not.

Bad Passing Man's Attack.

The passing from center was almost uniformly bad—particularly on the punt and pass formations. On several occasions Bob Kesler, whose educated toe did heavy spiral duty for the locals, received the ball so late or so out of position that he was unable to get it away before being tackled.

In returning punts and on end and off-tackle thrusts the backs seemed to forget the value of a well-formed interference, and more often than not were thrown with only orange-jaunty eyes near them.

Kesler Salisbury Star.

Salisbury was little better, though it must be admitted that heavy penalties for infractions of the rules prevented their scoring at least one more touchdown. Kesler, mentioned before, played his head off, and could always be seen in the thick of the argument. A tackle on defense and a back on offense, this sorrel-topped young man just about represented the difference in the play of the two teams.

The air attack of the Salisbury warriors was superior to that of the locals and their shift plays ran off more smoothly than anything Concord had to offer.

D. A. R. PAPER TO GET BIG PUBLICITY

5,000 Copies Will Be Sent To Editors And Other Prominent Citizens.

New Bern, Sept. 30.—North Carolina will receive even far wider publicity than had been anticipated from the special D. A. R. newspaper to be published here October 12 by the North Carolina Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

A public spirited citizen of the State, a good roads enthusiast, is planning to send 5,000 editors and prominent citizens all over the continent a double-page excerpt from the North Carolina section of the paper, consisting of a page of reading matter about the state and a page advertisement of the good roads in the state, their history, upkeep, values and attractions.

The entire newspaper is rapidly nearing completion, with Miss Gertrude S. Carraway, of New Bern, State D. A. R. Publicity chairman, as editor and business manager. Wonderful cooperation has been given by D. A. R. members and business men and practically every section of the state will be well represented in the reading and advertising columns. The paper will also contain much D. A. R. news as well as to numerous persons in North Carolina and outside the state, in the effort of the N. C. D. A. R. to give publicity to D. A. R. work and to North Carolina.

UNIVERSITY PRESENTED $28,000 BY MR. KENAN

This Sum Will Be Applied to Putting On Finishing Touches To New Stadium.

Chapel Hill, Sept. 29.—William Rand Kenan, Jr., native North Carolina and prominent engineer of New York, who donated a $275,000 gift to the construction of a stadium that has just been completed at the University of North Carolina, has made a supplementary gift of $28,000 to provide for the erection of field house for the coaches, officials and players, and for additional touches not covered by the original donation. Announcement of the supplementary gift was made Tuesday night by Charles T. Woolen, graduate manager.

The stadium proper, including the pouring of 21,000 seats, was completed on August 6, and the work of putting on the finishing touches has been in progress since then.

Mr. Kenan attended the Carolina-Wake Forest game last Saturday and made the additional gift at that time, which in the years to come may prove useful in buildings of safer and better structures.

LANDIS TRIMMED, 15-0 BY M. P. C. I. IN GAME FRIDAY

Wilson and Widenhouse Star For the Cadets in the Second Game of the 1927 Schedule.

Slashing end runs by Wilson and deadly thrusts through the line by Widenhouse enabled M. P. C. I. to administer a 15-0 defeat to the football team of the Landis high school in the second game of the season for the Cadets at Mt. Pleasant Friday afternoon.

Two touchdowns, one each by the above mentioned backs, one point after touchdown and a safety accounted for the winning total.

Presenting a raster and more a'ert offensive than was shown in the opening game against Concord a week ago, Coach Rhoads' warriors appeared to have improved fifty per cent.

The line plays worked with a snap and the sluggishness that has characterized earlier workouts were missing, despite excessive heat that forced many time-out periods for rest.

Landis displayed an overhead attack that, for a while, baffled the Cadets. The Rowan county boys were unable to make any appreciable headway through the heavier line they were up against, and they resorted to their passing offensive.

M. P. C. I. will journey to Weaverville for a game with Weaver College next Saturday.

State Supervisor to Visit Schools.

Miss Susan Fulghum, state supervisor of rural elementary schools, is expected in Concord today and Tuesday to visit the school's of this county. She is spending today inspecting the schools at Kannapolis, and Tuesday she will inspect the Brown-Norcott, Hartsell and other large elementary schools in the county.

At the present time we have no standard elementary schools in the county and Professor Hawfield is very anxious to have some of the accredited list, and one of the objects of Miss Fulghum's visit is to determine just what these larger schools need in order to become accredited. It is hoped that Winecoff, Kannapolis, Hartsell, Brown-Norcott, Mt. Pleasant, Harrisburg and Beel will all be accredited before another year.

Little Weddington Girl Gives Party.

Dorothy Weddington, attractive little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Weddington, celebrated her twelfth birthday anniversary by inviting several friends in for Friday afternoon.

After playing many games, the hosts invited her guests into the dining room, where delicious ice cream, cream cake and nuts were served. The center of the dining room table was graced with the beautiful birthday cake, bearing twelve lighted candles. Around the base of the cake was arranged lavender ageratum.

Among the ten guests present were two little girls from Raleigh, Jane Kesler Bell and Helen Broughton.

Surprise Party Given Friday Evening.

REAL ESTATE DEAL RESULTS IN SUIT IN COUNTY COURT

D. C. Linn and W. C. Goodnight Seek to Recover $500 and Interest From John A. Sims.

A real estate deal, said to have been made in June and July of this year, has resulted in a law suit.

In a complaint filed with the clerk of Cabarrus Superior Court D. C. Linn, of Rowan county, and W. C. Goodnight, of Cabarrus county, allege that John A. Sims, of Cabarrus county, failed to pay them their commission on the sale of a tract of land in No. 4 township.

In June, 1927, the complaint says, the defendant advised the plaintiffs that he wanted to sell 87 acres of land in No. 4 township. The defendant, the complaint says further, agreed to pay the plaintiffs all over $7,000 they secured for the property, or 5 per cent, in case the total was not as much as $7,000.

They sold the land to Dave Winecoff for $7,500, the plaintiffs contend, but have never been able to collect their $500.

They ask for damages in this amount with interest from July 8, 1927.

YE OLDE TIME SCHOOLE PARTY WAS BIG SUCCESS

Mrs. Edward Sauvain Entertains P. T. A. Home Here.

By Mrs. PARIS KIDD

"Ye Olde Time School Party" at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Sauvain on North Union street, at which, on Friday evening, the parents of the Central grammar school P. T. A. honored the teachers, was a huge success, both numerically and in enjoyment.

After a brief appropriate address of welcome by the president, Mrs. M. E. Evans, in which she pointed out the four-fold ideal for which the association stands, the program for the evening was put into the capable hands of Miss Ruth Dry, vice president of the organization.

The program took the form of a comical imitation of a day in school. At chapel the "boys" and "girls" sang a number of funny songs set to popular tunes. After this farcical "entrance examinations" in geography, mathematics and history. At the burlesque spelling bee, the contestants were required to spell their words backwards, while non-contestants enjoyed their painstaking efforts. The reading lesson consisted of jaw-breaking, tongue-twisting sentences to be read at high speed.

"Spirited debates on the question 'Resolved: That an old maid is of more benefit to a community than an old bachelor,' and 'Resolved: That pie is better than cake,' formed perhaps the most laughable feature of the program, since the speakers on both affirmative and negative made extemporaneous speeches at the same time! Another weighty problem to be solved was "How does the squirrel know how to find his nuts?" For solving this difficult problem a lady was commended for her "nuttiness."

As an experiment in science, contestants were required to extricate themselves, after being tied together and given no clue as to how to get unstuffed. Their efforts to free themselves were exceedingly laughable.

After an hour or two of fun and frolic, in which parental and pedagogical dignity was for the time laid aside and forgotten, a delicious salad course was served, and the guests mingled sociably for the purpose of getting better acquainted.

Calanus, a philosopher of stoicism in the train of Alexander the Great, was never ill until he was seized with a severe stomach ache at the age of seventy-three. Believing that he had lost his health he ordered a funeral pyre and with composed countenance expired in the flames.
