RAIN YESTERDAY KEPT CROWD DOWN

The Singing Contest Tomorrow and Auto Races Saturday Are Chief Features for Rest of Week.

Cabarus County Day at the Fair dawned bright and clear. An aura of sunshine, and freshness dispelled the rain and slush of yesterday, which checked the throngs of spectators...

Constant showers fell all day long yesterday and kept the attendance at the second day to the lowest mark it has seen in the whole five days.

Friday will be Rowan and Montgomery Day and will also feature the Inter-county Singing Contest, popular feature that made such a popular hit in its inaugural year ago.

Saturday will be the last, but by no means the least day. The feature events for this closing day will include the first automobile race that has ever been held at a Cabarus Fair.

Four races will be run today, beginning at 1:30 o'clock. The other races postponed for yesterday, will be put on Friday's card.

Restored from their forced holiday yesterday, the members of the free act companies will be at their best for Cabarus Day.

Visitors have been loud in their acclaim for the exhibits in the big halls. The variety and quality surprised those persons who visited the fair for the first time this week.
