Miss Helen Dayvault, student at Queens College, Charlotte, is in Concord today, to attend the marriage of her sister, Miss Mary Dayvault, to T. L. Thomas, this evening.

Miss Cora Stockton Wedded With Franklin C. Downing at Asheville, Asheville, Nov. 9.—An event of interest to friends in Asheville and Greensboro and elsewhere in the state was the marriage this evening at 6 o'clock of Miss Cora Stockton, of Asheville and Greensboro, daughter of Mrs. Martha McLean Stockton of this city, and Franklin Comly Downing, of Philadelphia, Rev. W. P. Shambart, D. D., pastor of Christian Church, officiating.

The marriage of Miss Stockton and Mr. Downing was celebrated at the home of the bride's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. McDowell, in Biltmore Forest and was witnessed by about 50 members of the bride's family and intimate friends. Little Miss Jean Clements, niece of the bride, was flower girl and the only attendant.

The bride entered on the arm of her brother, A. L. Stockton, of Greensboro who gave her in marriage. The McDowell home was prettily decorated for the occasion with autumn leaves and chrysanthemums. The ceremony was performed before an improvised altar of palms and cut flowers. Immediately following the ceremony a buffet supper was served at which Mr. and Mrs. Downing left for an extended bridal tour to New Orleans and other southern points and will spend the remainder of the winter in Florida.

Miss Stockton was becomingly gowned in a costume of crepe Romain and carried an arm bouquet of pink roses and swansonia. Her going-away dress was of brown satin with coat and hat of harmonizing shades. The bride of this evening is a daughter of Mrs. Martha McLean Stockton and the late Alexander Huggins Stockton, of Asheville. She is a graduate of the North Carolina college at Greensboro and after graduating taught in the graded schools of Asheville. For the past eight years, however, she has been in the office of the superintendent of Danville Division of the Southern Railway at Danville, where by her cheerful disposition and close attention to her duties she has made many warm friends and admirers who will be interested in the announcement of her wedding.

Mr. Downing is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alan Downing, of Bristol, Pa., and is a descendant of one of the oldest Quaker families of Pennsylvania. For a number of years he has been connected with the Pennsylvania railroad in the accounting department with headquarters at Philadelphia, but has spent the winters in North Carolina and Florida.

Here attending the wedding from out of town were Mrs. and Mrs. Sam J. Ervin, of Concord; B. D. Stockton, of Winston-Salem; Mr. and Mrs. Harry S. Moore, of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Stockton, of Greensboro.

Martin J. Barry, 175-pound hockey star from Montreal, has been working out with the New York Americans in New York.

MOVING PICTURES TO ADD STUDENTS HERE

Historical Pictures Will Be Shown at Concord Theatre For the Next Fifteen Weeks. By MRS. MARY F. KIDD

It was long ago conceded that the motion picture, besides being an exceedingly popular medium of entertainment, is a great educational force as well. Directed along constructive lines it can lend valuable aid in child-training and character formation.

Because the motion picture camera can bring even the remotest geographical location before one's eyes, or visualize the characters of history, the pictures are an exceedingly valuable in teaching these subjects. With these facts in mind the grammar grades of Concord through the management of the Concord Theatre have arranged to have shown at the theater, for the next fifteen weeks, a series of historical films called "The Chronicles of America."

These photoplays will be presented each Friday during the period in addition to the program regularly offered at the theater. They will give the children an opportunity to see enacted such stirring events of American history as the settlement of Jamestown, the settlement of Massachusetts by the Puritans, the taking of Vincennes. They will learn to know that intrepid pioneer, Daniel Boone, and bluff old Peter Stuyvesant.

Other interesting plays will be "The Gateway to the West," "Wolfe and Montcalm," "The Era of the Revolution," and "The Declaration of Independence."

This series of plays is produced by the Yale University Press, and are said to be absolutely correct, historically, according to the best authorities. Too often historical accuracy is sacrificed to make a plot of a historical play dramatic. But the Yale University Press have found the true stories of America's early struggles sufficiently dramatic in themselves.

They are thus approved by the council's committee on publication of Yale University. "Nothing is too good for the children, and the best of the movies will make visual education of unlimited value in the schools, an aid to every study in the curriculum, making more vivid every subject, appealing to the imagination, satisfying our love for the beautiful and the true."

Although these movies have been brought to Concord, primarily for the benefit of the school children, they will be of value to everyone who is interested in American history. It is hoped that parents will allow their children to go each Friday, and that the public will take this opportunity of seeing these historical plays. Tickets are being sold, who will receive for their respective schools a commission on all tickets sold, the money thus obtained to be used in purchase of needed school equipment.

ARMISTICE SERVICE TO BE HELD SUNDAY NIGHT American Legion, Legion Auxiliary and War Mothers Sponsor Service to Be Held in Old Presbyterian Church.

The American Legion, the American Legion Auxiliary and the War Mothers will sponsor the special service held in the old First Presbyterian Church Sunday evening. Rev. L. A. Thomas will preach the sermon and Armistice Day Spirit will feature the entire service.

The citizens of Concord are invited to attend this service, and unite with these organizations in paying a fitting tribute to Armistice Day. Armistice Day is a day when every true American should rejoice in the celebration of the victory won in 1918. However, it should be more than a day of rejoicing. At the tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington, scolded across the marble arch raised to the American Soldiers and Sailor dead everywhere we find these immortal words of Lincoln spoken at Gettysburg: "I hereby resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain. It is fitting that on this day as we recall the victory won, we should remember the great sacrifice made by the men who fought so valiantly."

Many of them are still in the hospitals of America crippled and broken in body, mind and spirit, and the only limit Americans should know, is that of opportunity. At Oteen in our own State there are six hundred men still in the throes of a great battle—the battle for health, of this number 265 receive no compensation.

The Legion, the Auxiliary and the War Mothers are trying to meet this rehabilitation problem, but it is such a big one, and one in which all Americans are deeply interested, we feel it will be a special privilege for the citizens of Concord to join with us in bringing cheer to these sick men and women who so nobly made the sacrifice.

LOCALS

No marriage permits were issued yesterday from the office of the Register of Deeds.

The Oxford Orphanage Singing Class will hold a concert at the high school auditorium tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

The price of cotton on the local market today is quoted at 20 1/2 cents per pound. Cotton seed at 63 cents per bushel.

The Concord Library will not be open Friday, observing Armistice Day. Patrons are urged to procure books Thursday.

Between 250 and 300 colored people attended the showing Tuesday night of the health motion pictures at Logan (colored) school.

Four cases of diseases were brought to the attention of the Cabarrus health department Tuesday, including two cases of diphtheria and two cases of scarlet fever.

Scores of crepe myrtle trees have been sold in Concord within the past several weeks and city officials hope that many more will be planted within the next several weeks.

Miss Ophelia Barker, home demonstration agent, desires those exhibitors at the district fair, who have not yet received their articles, to please bring them to the county building as soon as possible.

The banks and library will be closed in Concord tomorrow for Armistice Day. Otherwise business houses of the city will be open as usual during the day. No special program has been arranged for the day.

Volley ball players are reminded that regular practice will be held at the Y. M. C. A. this evening. Basketball candidates held their semi-weekly workout Wednesday night at the "Y," going through a snappy scrimmage.

A number of football fans will journey to Monroe Friday afternoon to watch the Concord-Monroe high school struggle to determine the champions of group 3 in the race for the state high school championship in football.

In the better issue of the Guidebook of Current Homes in America, a photograph is shown of the living room in the 1927 model home in Cabarrus, and much praise is given for its attractiveness and the low cost of furnishing.

Temperatures again yesterday were high, following the rain of Tuesday and Tuesday night. The clouds broke up this morning and there was an almost immediate drop in temperatures. Fair weather is promised for the remainder of the week.

The public is invited to attend the Armistice Day services at the old First Presbyterian Church Sunday night. The services will begin at 7:30 with a sermon by Rev. L. A. Thomas, pastor of St. James Lutheran Church.

Concord will send a big delegation to Durham Friday for the State-Duke football game. More than a score of local fans have secured tickets already and others will take a chance of getting inside the ground after reaching the Tobacco City without purchasing ticket before hand.

Gibson's, Incorporated, will conduct a football matinee Friday and Saturday of this week. The Friday affair will give the quarter by quarter returns of the important Duke-N. C. State clash, while on Saturday the Carolina-Davidson scores will be posted at the end of each quarter.

A score or more of Concord people are planning to leave this city early tomorrow for Durham to take in the Duke-N. C. State clash, that will, in all probability, settle the state championship. Those with Saturday free plan to stay over for the Davidson-Carolina struggle at Chapel Hill.

Hardis McCrary, star University of Georgia fullback, is leading the Southern Conference scorers with 43 points. He is followed by Dodson, of Tennessee, with 43 points scored, and Wilcox, of Ole Miss, is third with 34. No North Carolina player ranks in the first fifteen individual performers.

Wrestling candidates held a strenuous workout at the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday night, and meet again at 8 o'clock Thursday night. The "ear-scrammers" are learning fundamentals of the art rapidly, and it will not be long until the wrestling team will be hurling a few challenges to colleges in the state.

What promises to be the hardest fought game in the State this year will be played at Durham tomorrow between the Duke Blue Devils and State College Wolves and a number of local fans plan to motor to Durham for the game. Victory in this game would give the State team the State championship for the year.

Bruce Caldwell, meteoric halfback of Yale University, has been declared ineligible for the rest of his football career because it was found that he had played several games as a member of the Brown freshman team in 1925. His playing at Yale after having played for another college violates an agreement made by the "Big Three" in 1923.

The University of Georgia, with 124 points scored against her rivals who have been able to score but three points is by far the leading offensive and defensive football outfit in the Southern Conference. Tennessee and Vanderbilt hold the second and third places, respectively. N. C. State, leading candidate for honors in Tarheelia, ranks eighth.

An audience of 400 persons saw the health motion pictures at Mt. Pleasant Wednesday night. These people left the show with a new outlook on the value of health and how each individual should be careful and protect himself. The pictures, being shown through the courtesy of the Cabarrus Health department and the State Board of Health, will be flashed on the screen at Rock Hill (colored) school this evening, and Friday night the pictures will be shown at Central High School, Kannapolis.

The Kings Daughters. An interesting meeting of the Stonewall Jackson Circle of The King's Daughters was held at the Hotel Concord Monday evening. Mrs. R. E. Ridenhour, Jr., conducted the devotional lesson using as her subject Character Building.
